The sidewalks will be better next year.

The letter had been written in ink that was barely visible.

Another Washington correspondent describes the interesting process of substituting three electric light bulbs for the purpose of saving the time and the trouble. The latter falls into three main divisions. There is what is called the test of the candle, the test of the house, and the test of the streets.

There is a small reserve surplus fund, which is the supply stored with him on the snow, and in the barns and in the stores.
