NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT—GROVER CLEVELAND, of New York.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT—THOMAS A. HENDRICKS, of Indiana.
FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS—W. D. FENTON, of Yamhill. L. B. ISON, of Baker. A. C. JONES, of Douglas.

"Public Office, a Public Trust."

GHOULS AND DEMAGOGUES.

Senator Dolph, in an "interview," said that, on the tariff question, the Democrats had repudiated their old-time idol, Andrew Jackson. Let us see about this. In his Farewell Address "Old Hickory" voiced the same sort of anti-protection doctrine now held by the great Democratic party. Let ghouls and demagogues read the following and stand rebuked. President Jackson said:

"There is, perhaps, no one of the powers conferred on the General Government so liable to abuse as the taxing power. The productive and convenient sources of revenue were necessary to it that it might be able to perform the important duties imposed upon it; and the taxes which it lays upon commerce, being concealed from the real payer in the price of the article, they do not so readily attract the attention of the people as smaller sums demanded from them directly by the tax gatherer.

"But the tax imposed upon goods enhances by so much the price of the commodity to the consumer. And as many of those duties are imposed on articles of necessity which are daily used by the great body of the people, the money raised by these imposts is drawn from their pockets.

"Congress has no right under the Constitution to take money from the people unless it is required to execute some one of the specific powers entrusted to the Government; and if they raise more than is necessary it is an abuse of the power of taxation, and unjust and oppressive.

"It may indeed happen that the revenue will sometimes exceed the amount anticipated when the taxes were laid; and in such case it is unquestionably the duty of the Government to reduce them, for no circumstance can justify it in assuming a power not given to it by the Constitution, or in taking away the money of the people when it is not needed for the legitimate wants of the Government."

Dr. J. W. Watts, the great "Temperance Alliance" mogul of Oregon, who is traveling about the State at a salary of $100 a month and perquisites, teaching the people that their only salvation from the curse of rum selling lies in united, separate political action, is putting in his best licks for Blaine, the candidate of a convention which ignored all temperance suggestions in its platform, although it was besought to give recognition to demands of the reformers. Mr. Watts's position involves treachery and recreancy so rank and inexcusable as to call aloud for expulsion from the high place he has occupied in the ranks of the agitators for separate political action in the promotion of the temperance reform. Though the reformers have an unexceptionable ticket in the field for President, said ticket is betrayed and sold out by the very head center of the movement in this State. This demonstrates the important fact that Dr. J. W. Watts aforesaid agitates for pay and position under false pretenses. He makes merchandise of the "cause" with contributions of the rank and file jingling in his pockets. Judas Iscariot was respectable by the side of Mr. Watts, for, after he had betrayed his Master for thirty pieces of silver, his conscience smote him and he went off and died.

The Portland, Maine, Argus, speaking of Mr. Blaine's slander suit against the Indianapolis Sentinel, says: "This is a very old trick with Mr. Blaine. He tried it on us more than twenty-five years ago, to the tune of $20,000 if we remember correctly. We paid only for the writ in the civil suit. A year and a half after, he had us indicted in another county and we promptly demanded trial, but we did not succeed in getting it, and at the next term of court a notles pros was entered without our knowledge at the opening of the term and official notice given us thereof. The whole thing was mere bluff. Western editors will not be greatly disturbed by attempts in the same line now. If Mr. Blaine proposes to be a witness, as seems to be intimated, there will be great interest to hear Mr. Blaine's version of the affair. As a matter of fact, however, he will do nothing of the sort. After the election he will get out of court the easiest way he can."

The Blaine campaign managers having subsidized Patrick Ford by ordering 300,000 copies of the Irish World for the campaign, try to reason from this fact that the Irish must vote the Republican ticket. But a few months since, the same Patrick Ford was wont to abuse Blaine in very round style for general recreancy in his shabby treatment of McSweeney in a British dungeon. It may be that the price of 300,000 campaign copies of the Dynamite World wrought Patrick's change of heart toward the Blaine crowd. But the Dynamite World was not a Democratic paper any way.

The average Republican is just now easing his troubled mind over Cleaveland's glowing prospects with a firm belief in the statements of Blaine organs to the effect that Curtis and the "Hessian" cut but a sorry figure in a presidential contest anyway. Sage reflection, but in the light of the unstinted praise accorded Harper's Weekly in former campaigns it brings into painful prominence that bit of "other ox" philosophy.

The telegraph is the most efficient and untiring advocate the Blaine faction have. It magnifies every movement in favor of its client and belittles every circumstance in any way likely to benefit Cleveland. But we will have a different order of things some day, under a system of Postal Telegraphy.

McMasters, in the Freeman's Journal, the leading Irish American paper in this country, says there were always Irish Republicans, and that there is no indication at the East that any greater number of Irish Americans will support Blaine this year than usually vote the Republican ticket.

Just as Riddleberger is to the Mahone machine, so Buttler has become to the Blaine machine. Both have kicked out of the traces, as it were, and have broken the "treaties." Both chiefs are crying aloud for aid to enable him to turn the elephant loose.

The flood light of publicity has been turned on another batch of Mulligan letters. Fisher has turned them over to the N. Y. press.

McSweeney of British Dungeon fame writes a letter for publication endorsing Cleveland, and denouncing Blaine.

During the time that Blaine was in Congress that body gave to the railroad companies $226,000,000 and 290,000,000 acres of public land, and Blaine voted for every one of these measures that he did not dodge. The Congressional Record will be searched in vain for a single vote of Blaine's against any of these steals. And during that time Blaine accumulated the snug little sum of $20,000,000 by "judicious investments."—Humboldt (Cal.) Standard.

Extracts from a letter book recently discovered: J. G. B. to B. F. B.: "I see various channels in which you can be useful."

B. F. B. to J. G. B.: "I do not feel that I shall prove a deadhead in the enterprise."—Lancaster Post.
