NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

- FOR PRESIDENT - GROVER CLEVELAND, of New York. FOR VICE-PRESIDENT - THOMAS A. HENDRICKS, of Indiana.

THE ELECTION TO-DAY.

This day, marking as it does a pivotal or turning point in our national existence, is of supremest import to the American people.

You are to-day to array yourselves beneath the banner of one of two leaders. One of these leaders is a man who stands self-confident of one of the basest of political crimes—the abuse of political power for his own pecuniary advantage.

A man who begged the privilege of "casting an anchor to the windward" in the behalf of a representative of organized capital.

A man whose campaign managers are land grabbers, star route thieves and navy contractors. A man who is drawing his material support from Robson, Keifer, Clayton, Dorsey, Elkins, Flower, Delano, Williams, Dolph, Huntington, Astor, Crocker, Stanford, Gould, Mills, Sage, Feld and the entire list of treasury plunderers and devouring millionaires.

A man who upholds and advocates a policy which has driven our merchant marine from the high seas; which has destroyed the foreign market for our surplus grain; which has created millicaires and a monied aristocracy; which foster capital at the expense of labor.

A man who has not an open and avowed supporter in the ranks of the representative leaders of his party. Arrayed against him you find a man who has ingendered the intense hatred of every millionaire monopolist, railroad king and political plunderer in the land.

A man who says, "Good and pure Government lies at the foundation of the progress and prosperity of every community."

A man who says, "All statutes should recognize the care of the State for honest toil."

A man who says, "Corporations are created by law for certain defined purposes. Within their legitimate sphere they should be protected; but when by combination or the exercise of unwarranted power they oppress the people, the same authority which created should restrain them, and protect the rights of the citizens."

A man who believes a public office a public trust.

ing upon you. Take a review of the workings of the Republican party during the past ten years into consideration before dropping your ballot which is a power for perhaps the last time, as the drift of the policies of that party are and have been surely and steadily tending toward centralization, and centralization leads on to where? Need we ask? The direct offspring of the Federal party has not forgotten its traditions, nor is it likely to forget them.

After an uninterrupted reign of twenty-four years, the Republican party cannot to-day point to one single measure, National in effect, which really and in fact has promoted the welfare—or we will go farther, which has not retarded the advancement—of the laborer and producer.

Class legislation is not the American idea of government. Dwelling on the industrial depression in the United States to-day consequent upon too much protection, the Portland Telegram says: "The tide has been turned in Wall street, and Gould and Vanderbilt suffer, according to the confession of the latter, 'in proportion to their wealth,'"
