The Coquille city tax rate is said to be 18 mills.

Marshfield may vote on the proposition of building a $35,000 city hall at the general election in December.

North Bend is to have a house-numbering ordinance drawn up for passage at the next council meeting.

An inventory and appraisal of the late A. M. Simpson properties places the value of the same at $1,650,983.

Rev. Marvin Law of Seattle, arrived at Coquille last week and has taken up his duties as pastor of the M. E. church.

There is some talk at the Bay of asking the government bureau of fisheries to experiment with lobster culture in the waters of that section.

The Coos County bankers have extended an invitation to the Oregon State Bankers' association to hold their June meeting at Coos Bay.

District Attorney L. A. Liljeqvist is moving his office from Coquille to Marshfield, where he will be located in the Coke building.

Marshfield may decide to nominate city candidates for office by petition only. The proposition is to be voted on at the next general election.

The grand jury was discharged last week and there will be no further meetings of that body before the December term. But few indictments were returned.

The Port Orford schools open for the winter term on next Monday, October 4th. Prof. A. S. Johnson is to be the principal and Mrs. Mary Keefe assistant.

Rogue river fishermen according to the Coos Bay News are being paid 15c for silversides. The seiners are paid only 5c for silversides and 25c for chinooks.

Marshfield has received the last check from the Carnegie library fund making $12,500 in all. The library is now out of debt and has a fine equipment.

The dredge Oregon, formerly on the Coquille river and at Coos Bay, has been taken to Tillamook, where it will have a run of approximately 1,000,000 yards of dredgings.

The Marshfield chamber of commerce has forwarded to the government officials at San Francisco a deed for the site proposed to be used for a U. S. wireless station.

The schools at Bunker Hill (near Marshfield) were closed for an indefinite period on account of a diphtheria scare. Two children are reported to have taken down with the disease.

The north Bend Tide says: Much complaint is being heard of the inefficiency of the lights of the city and it is expected that a material reduction in the lighting bills for the coming year can be effected.

The 560 acre tract at Tarheel logging camp on South Slough has been logged off and the camp will be discontinued. Operations have been resumed by the Simpson Lumber company, in its new camp near Sumner.

The Methodist conference at Roseburg has announced the following Coos county appointments: T. H. Downs, Coquille; C. M. Knight, Bandon; Joseph Knotts, Marshfield and E. S. Moore, Myrtle Point.

E. J. Loney, the Port Orford banker and the man who is planning to open a bank at Powers, states that he will have the institution in running order within three or four weeks.

The old Northwest was towed to sea by the Rustler a few days ago and burned. Chauncey Carpenter of Bandon was one of the crew taking part in the burning of Coos Bay's derelict.

Two marriage licenses were issued a few days ago in immediate succession, in both of which the lady bore the name of Frost. And yet neither of these Frosts had ever heard of the other.—Coquille Sentinel.

The name of the Rowland Prairie station on the Smith-Powers line has been changed to Gayland. The reason for the change is because there is another station on the S. P. lines which is known as Roland Prairie.

Mrs. George Noah, whose husband was recently killed in a logging accident near Coos Bay, has been allowed a pension of $30 per month and $6 for each child per month, by the state industrial accident commission.

A report from Marshfield states that sixteen bicycles have been stolen there within the past month. Suspensions center on a young fellow of that place and an arrest may be made. The wheels are said to have been dismantled and the various parts used on other bicycles.

About to die and having spent his last cent for a ticket to his old home in Springfield, Mass., to see his daughter, Isaac Forsman of Marshfield raced across the continent. He beat death in the race and had two days with his daughter, whom he had not seen in years, before he died.

Senator Chamberlain has wired the Bridge Carnival committee of North Bend that the government will not send a submarine flotilla to Coos Bay during the celebration, as was contemplated. Reason given by the navy department was lack of sufficient harbor depth.

Fannie O'Donnell, who was arrested last spring on charges of illegal liquor selling and sentenced to 3 months in the county jail and a fine of $250, started this week serving her sentence. She had been in San Francisco, arriving in Bandon a few days ago on her way to Coquille.

James Madison Dyer, a Coos county pioneer and well known to the old settlers of the county, died at Grizzly Flat near Redding, California a few days ago of bronchitis. He was 71 years of age and was a brother of the late Judge George Dyer. He was a mining engineer by profession.

The work of slashing the Russ willow lands near Coquille the past summer, according to the Sentinel, contributed considerably to the business done there during the dull season. One of the five grocery stores reports sales to the slashers to the amount of $1,000. And the amount paid the workmen by Mr. Kitsner during the season totalled about $15,000.

Last Saturday Leo. J. Cary and family moved down to the new bungalow he has been building this summer in the neighborhood of the Conlogue camp near Lampa. This bungalow is up-to-date in every respect, with hot and cold water and all the modern conveniences, except electric lights which will probably come later. The family do not expect to move back to town until winter sets in.—Coquille Sentinel.

Thursday, September 23, the Marshfield Record celebrated its fourth birthday. During that time the newspaper has made a wonderful growth, both in size of plant and service to its subscribers. Although Editor O'Brien is running both a "coming and a going" head and one doesn't know until he looks at the ads whether the front is the back or the back is the front, it is judged by the past that his dictionary doesn't contain such a word as retrogression.

We hear rumors of court house removal now and then which will not down. There are those who believe the seat of government should be on the Bay side of the county, and we presume the rumor emanates from those who have selfish motives at stake. This paper has been through a fight similar to that one might expect should this become an issue, and we sincerely hope that we shall not be forced to participate in another.—North Bend Harbor.

Will White passed down the coast

the first of the week with a band of sheep purchased in northern Curry and being driven to Eureka for Isham Walker, the veteran stockman. The band will be increased as it goes south until it will number over 2,000, when it crosses into California. It is understood that $1000 was offered for a steamer to stop at Port Orford and take the sheep to Eureka by water, but the offer was not accepted.—Port Orford Tribune.

The Coquille Sentinel finds that the principal places one would see in going around the earth in the latitude of Coquille would be Toronto, Canada; Portland, Maine; Cape Sable, Nova Scotia; Marseilles, France; Leghorn, Italy; Nish, Serbia; and Vladivostok, Siberia. And the information may be added, that some of the places visited would be much warmer or at least as warm as Coquille but that others, and the greater number, would be much colder, with snow several feet deep during the winter months.

With three councilmen in favor of the issue of providing the sum of $90.09 to the Coos Bay Concert band, and three others opposing the motion, Mayor Allen of Marshfield this week cast the deciding vote in favor of the motion ordering the recorder to pay the money over to the band master. The amount was made as above given in order to evade provisions of the Marshfield charter that would have made it impossible to appropriate a larger amount unless more councilmen favored the proposition.

J. A. Ward, in charge of the Coos and Curry exhibit at the Exposition has written asking that the towns and Elks get together and make preparations for having the moving pictures shown on the fair grounds at the Oregon building. Mr. Ward states that many of the counties of the state are already employing this method of advertising their sections of the state and that it has been found to be one of the greatest advertising features introduced at the fair. Mr. Wesleder, local man who has been taking the pictures, has now secured all of the negatives and is planning on rushing the job to early completion.

The Coquille Sentinel says: One of our county officials gives the following reasons why he favors a bond issue for road improvement in Coos county: 1st. The change in the road district law which cuts out the city districts that contain nearly a third of the taxable wealth of the county, and so materially reduces the amount of money available for work on country roads. 2nd. The fact that we have over 600 miles of roads in this county, almost every mile of which is in poor condition and in urgent need of improvement. 3rd. The fact that better roads always increase property values and enhance the prosperity of the sections through which they are built. In support of the latter reason it is stated that the opening of a new road almost always results in the sale of some property rendered accessible by it.

Big Fire at North Bend
A $6,000 fire occurred at North Bend the latter part of the week. It started near the Joy theatre and was discovered by one of the patrons of that place. One entire block was threatened, but quick work on the part of North Bend and Marshfield's fire departments soon had the flames under control. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective light wire.

NOTICE OF SALE OF IMPROVEMENT BONDS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN: That sealed bids will be received by the Common Council of the City of Bandon, Coos County, Oregon, at the office of the City Recorder of said City until half past seven o'clock p. m. Wednesday the 3rd day of November, 1915, for the purchase of street improvement bonds to the amount of $8,102.18, denominations to suit purchaser, not less than $25 nor more than $500.00. Why Post Toasties?

A question that's fully answered by your first package of the New Post Toasties.

These Superior Corn Flakes are delightfully crisp to start with, and they have a body and firmness that stay crisp, even after cream is added.

New Post Toasties have the real corn flavour. Eat them dry direct from the package and they please amazingly, but serve these tender, crisp bits of corn with milk or cream and at once you realize that the day of ordinary "corn flakes" is past.

All grocers have been supplied with the New Post Toasties, fresh from the ovens. An order to your grocer will bring a package quickly—
