FIRST STREET AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT

COL. ROSA FAVORS CITY DOING IMPROVEMENT WORK BY DAY LABOR.

Many Property Owners Attend the Council Meeting to Hear First Street Question Explained—Special Meeting Tuesday Night—New Bond Ordinances Prepared.

The city council met in regular session last evening with all officers and councilmen present. The first proceeding of the evening following the reading of the minutes, was the appointment of members of the library board by Mayor Topping.

Sewer Assessments Heard

Early in the evening the council adjourned to meet as a board of equalization and heard the assessment roll for the new Wall-Second street sewer improvements, amounting to $4,896.01. Two remonstrances were filed and read; that of Col. R. H. Rosa and the Gallier estate. They were similar in provisions, both alleging the sewer was placed on too low a grade. Mr. Rosa's also related to the size of assessments on his holdings. The latter question was explained by Engineer Sawyer, who said the assessments, according to the city charter provisions, were made by area method, and not the frontage method; and Col. Rosa's property had a larger area than property with the same sized frontage.

Favors City Doing Work

"Figures on the Garfield avenue sewer improvements show that by doing the work with day labor the city can save about 33 per cent; and in times like this I favor the city doing improvement work by day labor," said the Colonel, who was present.

It was also stated that a bid was once made on a sewer for the same district which was about $1000 less than the present cost. It was explained that this bid was on a district smaller than the present district and that under the enlarged district the same company making the low bid, wanted about $200 more than the bid accepted. Mr. Webb's contract contains a clause allowing a 10 per cent discount on each of the assessments paid in cash.

First Street Question

The viewers' report on the assessments of benefits and damages on the opening of First street East was up for discussion, but it was voted to return the same to them for correction as to technical points and further consideration. The matter will probably come up and be thrashed out at the special session Tuesday night.

It appears that at the time First street East was opened up what was known as old Railroad street on the east end of the same was already a dedicated street. The board of viewers were appointed and they assessed benefits and damages on the new extension, but overlooked the already dedicated section. Later when the proceeding were about half through the council found that E. N. Smith was the owner of a lot lying partly in the Railroad street, which had been overlooked by the viewers. The improvement was carried to completion; but Mr. Smith still owns his property lying in the street. The report of the viewers was referred back to them with a view of the purchase of this property for street purposes and last evening their report was tendered the council. It is said the Smith property is valued at $300.

Tuesday night the adjourned meeting will be held at which time the council will consider the new ordinances covering the city bonds, in which the rate is now placed at 6 per cent, it being impossible to obtain a bid on the bonds at 5 per cent. The intention is to rush the matter through as rapidly as possible in order to take up the outstanding general fund warrants.

A heavy blast at the government quarry which was necessary in order to loosen the face of the cliff, shook the city Friday noon. Several windows were damaged by the concussion and the derrick at the quarry broken by a 17 ton boulder. The workmen are said to have placed the powder about 16 or 17 feet back in the rock wall at the bottom of the quarry.

The East Is Prosperous

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Webb returned Thursday from a month and a half vacation trip spent in the east and in traveling through the western states.

From Bandon they went by land to San Francisco, spending a few days at the Exposition, which by the way Mr. Webb states is one of the greatest of its kind ever built. From there they traveled half way across the continent to central Illinois, for a visit at Mr. Webb's former home and with his parents who still reside there. Returning they came by way of the Northern Pacific to Seattle, to Portland and Roseburg.

Mr. Webb talked with numerous business men in the places visited and obtained a comprehensive idea as to conditions. He found that although times were being called hard in many places, that on the whole business conditions were improving and that everywhere a more optimistic view is being taken. The Illinois farmers raised large crops the past year and are prosperous. Financial conditions are growing better everywhere. They enjoyed their vacation much but were glad to get back to Bandon.

Exposition is Wonderful

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Nielson returned on the Elizabeth from a short vacation spent at the Exposition and visiting California friends. They were much pleased with the big fair and Mr. Nielson says his only regret is he could not spare the time for a longer stay. They found the Oregon building up to the expectations and descriptions of previous Bandon visitors and that the other state and country exhibits were of equal worth. Mr. Nielson was particularly impressed by the hardware lines exhibits, among which might be mentioned the big exhibit arranged by the Simmons people.

LUMBER TRADE IS FIRM

Portland and Tacoma Dispatches Say Sharp Revival Expected.

A more firm tone has developed in the northwest lumber market during the past week or so and lumbermen throughout the coast section expect a rapid revival.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 1.—So

marked a turn for the better in demand and prices has been noted during the last two months that the members of the West Coast Lumber Manufacturers' Association, meeting here today, decided to recommend advancing the price of slash grain flooring and drop siding $1, and all kinds of boards $1.50, effective October 10. One-by-six drop siding has been notably short for weeks. This will put slash grain flooring at $16 and siding up to $15 while 8x10 boards will be at $8.50, and 12-inch boards at $9. A motion to advance 16-foot boards 50 cents failed. It was voted to ask the suggestion of all manufacturers on the matter of putting into effect November 1 all the prices on the differential lists of the association, which have not been lived up to since made, manufacturers selling at whatever figure they could get.

Assessment rates were fixed by which loggers and non-operating timber owners may be allowed association membership, the rate being one-half cent per 1000 feet for the loggers, and one-half per cent per acre for the owners.

To Have Special Officer

The Bank Hall management announce that owing to the disorder occurring near the hall last Saturday night arrangements are being made with the city to have a special police officer appointed who will see that strict order is maintained. The officer will be paid by the Bank Hall people.

Miss Lulu Shields is visiting at the Merchant Bros. ranch above Whiskey Run.

Mayor Topping left for North Bend this morning to attend the good roads meeting. A number of Bandon people accompanied him.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Pape went to North Bend today to take in the big Bridge Carnival. Mr. Pape will incidentally do a little boosting for good roads.

Pollock Grocery Changes Hands

Local People Purchase the Stock and Will Move Same to Red Crain Drug Store Location.

The Model Cash Grocery is the name under which the Pollock & Pollock store will hereafter be known. This week a deal was completed whereby Chas Pollock disposed of his interests to local parties and has left for eastern Oregon, where he will make his home on his ranch.

Harry Honung is manager of the new firm. Mr. Hornug states that the coming week they will move the stock from the present location to the building formerly occupied by the Red Crain Drug store, near the Bank of Bandon on First street west.

To Increase the Stock

The Model Cash Grocery will endeavor to be all that the name signifies and more. The stock will be increased considerably and the manager states it will be their aim to carry a complete line of groceries and that everything about the store will be as neat and clean as it is possible to keep it. The firm will do a strictly cash business and consequently Mr. Hornug states, will sell everything on a close margin of profit.

To Put on a Big Sale

They are arranging the stock this week preparatory to making the change in location. They then intend to put on a bargain sale at which the line of tinware, glassware, granite ware, crockery, china and dry goods will be disposed of.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pollock, the former owners, started the grocery store some two years or more ago. The business increased rapidly in size and the concern enjoys a large patronage. They own a homestead in eastern Oregon which required his attention and so they decided to sell their interests in Bandon and move to that section.

Manager Harry Hornung of the new company came to Bandon about a year and one-half ago from Seattle, Washington. He has been employed as assistant in the city recorder's office and with Contractor W. H. Webb.

Popular Young People Married

Lentner Gallier and Miss Gladys Strader Fall Before Dan Cupid's Unerring Aim.

Monday the passenger list of the S. S. Kilburn, Marshfield, contained the name: "Mr. and Mrs. Lentner Gallier." The rumor was dispelled.

On Tuesday, September 28th, at the home of Mr and Mrs. M. E. Decker, 218 Wallan Street, San Francisco, relatives of the bride, occurred the marriage of Miss Gladys Strader to Lentner E. Gallier, both prominent young people of this city. A few weeks ago Miss Strader in company with her aunt, Mrs. O. A. Trowbridge, left for a visit to the Exposition. Later Mr. Gallier was sent to San Francisco on business for the Bank of Bandon—and took a short vacation, stoutly denying to Bandon friends with him that his intention were in the matrimonial line. Later a report reached here of the marriage.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Trowbridge of Bandon, and her parents reside in San Francisco. She has been a resident of Bandon for a number of years during which time she has made a host of friends.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gallier of this city. He is a graduate of the Bandon High school in which institution he won honors in the class room and on the athletic field, being one of Bandon's heavy weights in that feature during his Senior year. He has been an employ of the Bank of Bandon since leaving school.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallier have taken up housekeeping in the Prof. H. L. Hopkins bungalow in West Bandon, where they will be at home to their host of friends after October 20th.

The Greek cabinet has resigned.

Wasley-Laird Nuptials Solemnized Sept. 29

Big Receptions Given at San Jose, California and at Bandon for the Newlyweds.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Trinity church, San Jose, California, on September 29th, when Miss May Wasley became the bride of George P. Laird.

Only immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom were present. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the large San Jose hotel where an elaborate wedding supper was much enjoyed. The following day Mr. and Mrs. Laird left for San Francisco, where they spent a day at the fair; leaving on the Great Northern on a honeymoon trip to Portland. The journey north took just 26 hours, and during that time a 68 mile gale was encountered, but the size of the boat enabled her to weather the storm easily. The ship is a genuine floating palace and Mr. and Mrs. Laird thoroughly enjoyed their time on board. From Portland they returned to Bandon overland via Roseburg.

Last evening a big reception was given at the Gallier hotel in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Laird and Mr. and Mrs. Lentner Gallier at which about 75 guests were present. A sumptuous banquet was served and the latter part of the evening spent by the gentlemen in listening to witty speeches and toasts. Appropriate presents were presented the grooms.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. Harry Pierce of this city and has resided in Bandon the past two years, during which time she has made a host of friends. She has a sister, Mrs. Byron, and other relatives at San Jose, California which city was her former home.

The groom needs no introduction. He has made Bandon his home for a number of years and was manager of the Bandon Water company from the time of its organization up until the purchase of the company by the city. He has numerous property interests here and is also the owner of a large ranch at Lampa, which he is having extensively improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Laird have taken up housekeeping in the J. L. Kronenberg house on Harlan avenue.

Veterans March in Big Parade

Scene of 50 Years Ago Called to Mind as Old Soldiers Form Ranks and March.

As a number of local members of the Grand Army of the Republic took part in the grand review at Washington in 1865, at the close of the Civil war, and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Zeek were delegated by the Oregon branch of the organization as representatives at the convention this year, it is presumed a few words regarding the same is of interest locally.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Standing on the same spot where, 50 years ago, President Andrew Johnson reviewed the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, home from the war of the rebellion, President Wilson today reviewed the feeble remnant of that army, called by historians the most efficient fighting force the world had known.

Fifty years ago the grand army on parade in the nation's capital numbered 200,000 strong. Today the aged and enfeebled veterans numbered about 20,000. Many of these marched with the aid of crutches and canes, but still filled with the patriotic fervor which signalized their sacrifices on many battlefields half a century ago. In the ranks of the veterans, however, were not a few who marched with heads erect and shoulders thrown well back as they whistled and sang the old-time marching songs.

When the Grand Army came home from the war in '65 two entire days were required for its passing in review before President Johnson. Today four only were required for the veterans to pass before President Wilson, the first southern-born president since the Civil war.

Another View on Roads

Elbert Dyer arrived in Bandon the first of the week from Ashland, Oregon. He will attend to business matters here and then return to Ashland, where the family will spend the winter.

Mr. Dyer and family have spent the summer motoring through southern and central Oregon. They found no section of the state equal to this, though.

"No section of Oregon offers the opportunities found in Coos county," said Mr. Dyer to a World reporter, "some sections may be booming in a quiet way, but I have failed to find a section with more undeveloped resources. When one travels about a little he begins to realize more and more the opportunities we really do have here.

"What this county needs is good roads, and then we will see development on a scale undreamed of now. In fact the only reason we are going to spend the winter in Ashland is because the roads of that section are improved and one can travel in a car all the year 'round.

"If the people will pull together and make a determined effort to secure good roads, they will get them. Then the outsiders will come here and the country will develop rapidly. No one man or dozen men can work this change alone. All must work together. Bandon is exceptionally well favored for in addition to the other resources in abundance, it has the best beach on the coast."

PREPARING ANSWER

Port Attorney Treadgold Is Gathering Data for the Case.

Port Attorney G. T. Treadgold is busily engaged this week preparing an answer in the tax suit against the Port of Bandon in which five separate parties are desirous of having their port taxes cancelled, alleging the property involved is not within the watershed of the Coquille river. It is said the case may finally be taken into the Supreme court for a decision, but the attorney is confident the Port of Bandon will win out.

The land involved is in the northwest section of the port and consists of holding of the Merchant estate, the Southern Oregon company, Simpson Lumber company and Dennis McCarthy.

Bring Back the Jerky

Messrs. S. C. Endicott, R. V. Leep and A. Garfield returned this week from a hunting trip to the Rogue river section. They went in Mr. Garfield's Studebaker as far as the road extended and then packed their outfit some forty miles to what is known as Cedar camp. Deer were plentiful and each of the hunters secured the limit. Dr. Endicott is said to have seen 14 deer on the way out.

Proving Up on Homestead

R. H. Hunt was in the city today on business with U. S. Land Commissioner M. E. Treadgold relative to proving up on his New Lake homestead. Mr. Hunt has 49 acres of fine land, about ten of which is improved. He is enthusiastic about the possibilities of his section of the country, and like many others in this vicinity believes the time is not far distant when all of the land between Bandon and Port Orford will be thickly populated.

Mrs. G. Boak and Mrs. Carl Garoutte will entertain the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid at the latter's home on Bandon avenue next Wednesday.

cheers and tears. Cheers for the valiant men who offered their lives in the hours of their country's greatest need, and tears for the white-haired heroes who will soon have answered the last roll call. Old inhabitants of Washington who have witnessed many parades, asserted tonight that they never saw such an enthusiastic ovation as that accorded the "Boys of '65." Cheer after cheer greeted the veterans as the parade moved slowly and with faltering footsteps along historic Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the White House, over the same route taken by the troops of Grants' remarkable army 50 years ago. Touched by the old war songs, sung by the veterans as they marched, thousands of people along the way wiped the tears from their eyes even as they cheered.

RECITAL WAS A MUSICAL TREAT

WAS NOT A FINANCIAL SUCCESS BUT MANY FAVORABLE COMMENTS ARE HEARD.

Dreamland Pavilion Tastefully Decorated for the Occasion—New Composition Beautiful—Upper Grade Students Do Exceptionally Well—Dance Enjoyed.

"Music is the essence of the soul." Not more strongly was the force of the old saying brought to mind than at the recital given Monday evening by the pupils of Prof. A. Richards, at Dreamland pavilion. The hall was specially decorated for the occasion in tastefully arranged red streamers and flowers; backed by one of the artistic pieces of scenery from the Grand theatre.

But beautiful decorations alone cannot win favorable comments on a recital; a display of ability and talent must be forthcoming—and in neither respects were the crowd which gathered at Monday evening's event disappointed. To say that in proportion to the amount of training received, any one of the pupils taking part was more successful than the rest would be unfair; for, the amount of training each student has received considered, but few students' recitals have received more universal favorable comment.

The upper grade pupils who rendered difficult selections were especially successful. Among these were the selections by Miss Alta Hansen. All solos were memorized and required conscientious work.

Liebestraum, by Listz, rendered by Hubert Robbins made a hit with the audience as did also Mr. Robbins own composition, "My Deepest Thoughts," said by local musicians to be a composition which will receive recognition if published. The words and monologue by Pro. Richards were a treat and the audience insisted on an encore.

"Silver Threads Among the Gold" with ornamental treatment by Prof. Richards. But few Bandon people have had the pleasure of hearing the professor at the piano and these have been mostly his intimate friends. These insisted that he should play a selection at one of his recitals and the above number was chosen. The simple old melody was rendered with an expression which "brought the house down with applause."

Hungarian Rhapsody played by Mr. Robbins was a fitting climax. But few realize the amount of time and difficulties that must be overcome before a musician can successfully play this selection. It covers some thirty odd pages of music and in places the player must strike as high as ten keys at once.
