County News

Marshfield business men and good roads advocates, says the Times, will unite in asking the Coos county court to appoint F. A. Haines, of Marshfield, county roadmaster, to succeed P. M. Hall-Lewis, who retires from office. It is expected that the vacancy will be filled soon by the county court. Salem, Nov. 15.—Exclusive of the valuation of public service corporations, the State Tax Commission announced today that the valuation for assessment purposes of Coos county was reduced this year from $21,293,169 to $20,578,677. The reduction for the entire state is over ten millions.

D. D. D. In Hospitals; Standard Skin Cure

How many hospital patients, suffering the frightful itch, the raw scorching pain of skin disease, have been soothed to sleep by a soothing fluid washed in by the nurse's hands?

That fluid is the famous D. D. D. prescription for eczema.

THE SUPERVISING NURSE of one of our prominent Catholic institutions (name of nurse and institute on application), writes regarding a patient: "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become disfigured. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing, her nose and face have assumed their natural expression."

How many eczema sufferers are paying their doctors for regular treatment and are being treated with this same soothing, healing fluid?

DR. GEO. T. RICHARDSON frankly writes "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Soft and soothing, yet a powerful agent."

To do the work, D. D. D. Prescription must be applied according to directions given in the pamphlet around every bottle. Follow these directions—and see!

And it certainly takes away the itch at once—the moment the fluid is applied. The skin is soothed—calmed—so thoroughly refreshed—delightfully cooled.

All druggists of standing have the famous specific as well as the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap.

But we are so confident of the merits of this prescription that we will refund the purchase price of the first full size bottle if it fails to reach your case. You alone are to judge.

Marshfield, was indicted by the U. S. grand jury on a charge of white slavery. The prisoner is charged with transporting Mae Conklin and another woman from Coos Bay to California for immoral purposes. Mr. Shook's trial will come up at the present term of court.

The steamer Breakwater will be ready for sea in about a week. She is now at San Francisco, where oil burners are being installed to take the place of coal. The speed of the ship will be increased about two knots. Capt. T. J. Macgenn will be continued as master. It is reported the Breakwater was sold for $100,000.

J. M. Wright is in from Powers for a short stay to recuperate from an attack of illness. He has about completed the new school house and has started work on the building for E. J. Loney of Port Orford, who will move his bank from Port Orford to Powers early in December. Mr. Wright has been doing much fine work at Powers, the bank building marking the fifth structure he has erected there this season.—Marshfield Times.

Mrs. Julia Allen of North Bend has filed a libel suit against the Marshfield Record and its owner, A. R. O'Brien. She alleges that on September 18th, the Record published an article in relation to her, making statements willfully, maliciously and falsely, with intent to bring obloquy upon the plaintiff, injure her good name, lower her business and social standing and diminish the esteem in which she is held by her family. She asks for $15,000.

Secretary Smith of the North Bend Chamber of Commerce has received word from the second assistant postmaster general that an inspector will visit Coos Bay with the object of investigating the proposed ocean mail route between that city and Eureka, which has been petitioned for by the citizens of both places. It is proposed to make North Bend a distributing point for the mail matter to be sent by boat to the southern city. The Eureka club took up the matter first and then petitioned the club at the Coos Bay town to put in a petition also, which was done.

That the Simon Brothers Wrecking company, which is reported to have purchased the wreck of the Santa Clara, has full power to proceed against those guilty of destroying the ship, and that sensational developments may occur later is the opinion of those who have the confidence of the North Pacific Steamship company. Joseph Simon, who has charge of the company's business in Portland, arrived at Coos Bay Thursday and was followed by his brother from San Francisco. The two gentlemen in company with Post Office Inspector Neal and the Underwriters' representative, have made an investigation.

The farmers of this vicinity have nearly finished gathering their crops and to say they are pleased is putting it mildly. Many people came to this locality with the idea that they could grow only a limited variety of produce, but the first crop has proven a surprise, both in the way of yield and the variety of vegetables, fruit, and grain that will ripen here. Andrew Decker has produced some very fine specimens of beets and other vegetables. J. B. Saubert raised some potatoes that were over 12 inches long, while a number of farmers have had ripe watermelons, cantaloupes and peanuts, and W. F. Smith has succeeded in raising some fine sweet potatoes. Why not have a fair next year and show what Curry county can do?—Gold Beach Globe.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

(By R. V. Holland, in the Oregon Farmer.)

If you have children to educate, if you are interested in local conditions or religious affairs, if you own, or expect to own your own home, or other property in your community, a few minutes' thought will convince you that it is decidedly to your best interest to patronize your local stores at all times, provided investigation proves that you can do so to as good advantage as elsewhere.

I realize that there is a certain class of merchants—and they are still represented in many towns and cities—who will not handle standard products and who expect buyers to pay exorbitant prices for goods of unknown quality and origin—merchandise on which they can demand wide margins of profit.

This class of "storekeeper" however, represents a comparatively small minority and is fast going the way of the prehistoric dinosaur and the nearly extinct mossback farmer who "don't have to read nothing about farming."

Villages, towns and communities develop in accordance with the amount and quality of effort put forth by their citizenship, and progressive, right-living people who have long since learned that it is neither profitable nor pleasant to live in non-progressive communities. In nearly every locality are fathers and mothers whose sons and daughters have been forced to leave home in order to secure profitable employment that should have been afforded locally.

If you live on a farm you want good roads, schools, churches, telephone service, mail delivery and a convenient market in which to dispose of your products and from which to supply your wants.

If you live in town you want, in addition to the above, good streets and sidewalks, wholesome amusements—things that go to make a community worth living in.

These advantages are the natural outcome of, and are limited to the growth and condition of your locality, which is in turn dependent upon the extent of local trade activities. Did you ever see a really good town that did not have good stores? The two go hand in hand.

I personally know of an instance, within the past year, where a very wealthy man refused to locate and establish a modern store in a town of some three thousand population for the reason that an investigation developed the fact that the better class of residents adhered to a long-standing policy or habit of doing practically all of their buying in the stores of a nearby town, or by mail.

On the face of it, this town had merely failed to secure a new store. On the other hand, think for a minute what this rich, aggressive man, with the up-to-date store he would have put in, embodying his ideas and methods, would have meant to the community. It would have afforded employment for a number of men and women, and would have helped to develop new lines of trade. The owner's personal and business taxes would have meant much within themselves.

Bear in mind that home trading is a most vital element in community welfare and progress. Consider carefully the fact that a portion of every dollar spent in local stores finds its way to some essential function for the support and development of prosperity of which you must necessarily share in.

Increased local business means the possibility for securing additional modern public conveniences and luxuries, additional trading, educational, religious and social advantages, consequently, increased individual wealth and opportunity.

Your local merchants are entitled to your patronage, provided they offer you the right kind of merchandise at the right price, and you owe it to yourself and your community to extend it to them.
