The First National Bank of Bandon

County News

The bank to be opened by E. J. Loney at Powers will be in operation by next pay day. The building has already been completed.

Because he knew the steam steering gear of the Santa Clara was defective before he left Portland on the fatal trip, Capt. Gus. Lofstedt had had his license revoked by the inspectors.

Roy Shields, sent to the penitentiary from Coos county several months ago, is recommended to Gov. Withycombe for a conditional pardon. Shields is a native of California and is not related to any of the families of that name in Coos county.

The log drive of Lawhorne and Aason Bros. down Middle creek, a tributary of the North Fork of the Coquille, is said to have been the biggest drive ever sent down the North Fork. Between 14,000 and 20,000 logs were caught at the Cedar Point boom just below Coquille for the Smith mill.

The Myrtle Point city council has made a 1 1/2 mill levy—10 mills for general purposes and three and a half mills for paying old warrants and sinking fund purposes. This raise of a half mill over the proposed levy is deemed necessary because of the fact that the assessed valuations for the city are lower than last year.

Two hundred and fifty pupils have enrolled in the new school at Powers. A week ago the big building was completed and school started with a faculty of six teachers, according to J. E. Montgomery, superintendent of the Coos & Curry Telephone company, who returned from there this week.

A telegram received at Marshfield from Portland states that probably the Alliance would be secured to come from Seattle and leave Portland, December 9th, to bring the Coos Bay freight. If this falls through the Portland chamber of commerce will charter the Elmore or some other ship and send the freight. The Portland chamber of commerce will finance the matter.

Sheriff Alf Johnson has all taxes unpaid for the year of 1909 listed and will in a few days place the same in the hands of Prosecuting Attorney Liljeqvist for collection under the provisions of the 1913 delinquent tax law. The list was printed for the first time two years ago when it required 13 newspaper pages. The summons this year will be much smaller in size. It is planned to take up the delinquent taxes each year separately and push the collection as far as can be done under the law.

With a poll of 793 votes, and the election of R. A. Copple for mayor by a majority of 144 votes over his opponent, Carl W. Everston, the Marshfield city campaign was brought to a close Tuesday night after one of the timest campaigns in years in the Bay city politics. Up until last Saturday night there was little or no interest manifest in the election, the work done by the candidates and their friends being on the quiet. Monday the fray warmed up considerably and both sides did some hard work with the result that more than 200 voters who had neglected to register, were sworn in at the election booths.

The jury list for the December term is as follows: H. H. Sanford, S. S. Reed, Christian Moller, Myrtle Point; W. Ingersoll, C. W. Calef, Lakeside; Clark Hull, Riverton; E. A. Wimer, Geo. F. Robinson, Arago; Chas. Heller, McKinley; J. C. Oster, W. J. Sabin, O. W. Thompson, S. Mundy, J. H. Gould, N. Anderson, F. M. Hufford, Bandon; W. J. Cosme, V. F. Ebbecke, Z. T. Siglin, J. D. Ross, J. J. McDonald, James D. Culver, J. T. Harrigan, Marshfield; Steve Minard, Dora; Geo. Divelbiss, Templeton; Thomas Lawhorn, Alleghany; Matt Stora, North Bend; H. J. Russell, W. B. Farrin, Sumner; C. O. King, Gravel Ford; J. E. Norton, Coquille.

The Bar docket for the December term of the circuit court, which will begin at Coquille on the 13th, is just out. It contains no criminal cases and the number of such cases bids fair to be less than at any recent term of court. Of civil cases there are 218, which is 19 more than there were on the September term. There are still 23 divorce cases, notwithstanding Judge Coke disposed of six such cases in a couple of hours one day lately. Among cases of general interest are the Arthur Coach suit, appealed from the county court, to be discharged from guardianship, the two libel suits against the Marshfield Record, the First street paving case of Coquille, the Farris-Bledsoe libel case, and the Savage-Cates case.

Much Wood Floated by Tides

The high tides of the past few days have floated hundreds of logs scattered along the banks of the river, especially the large bunch lying near the new jetty work, which were cast there by the tide last year. These logs have drifted about in the eddies near the waterfront at various stages of the tides and quite a number of people have been busy laying in a supply of wood, several capturing the better logs with row boats and towing them to places near the shore.

The American Farmer and the War

The following shows how one year of war in Europe has affected the American farmer. All crops increased 7 per cent over the year previous. Exports of agricultural products increased 32 per cent. Stimulus of increased exports resulted in a 3.4 per cent increase in acreage. Grain exports particularly high; cotton exports particularly low. In excess of the amount required at home, America could spare for export: 375,000,000 bushels of wheat; 250,000,000 bushels of corn; 7,000,000 bales of cotton; 200,000,000 bushels of oats; $330,000,000 worth of meat and dairy products.

The popular belief that Limburger cheese gets its convincing odor from the dead and musty past of the countries where it is made, is now proven otherwise. Up in the fresh, pure air of Wisconsin they are manufacturing Limburger cheese with an odor that would drive an auto if it could be exploded against a piston. They also make a cheese with more, larger and more symmetrical holes than the Swiss product. This year one county alone—Green—in Wisconsin, manufactured 11,328,995 pounds of Limburger, Swiss and other cheeses.

The rental value of the farmhouse to the average American family is estimated at about $125 per year.

Harrisburg recently held an annual chrysanthemum show, similar to the Bandon Sweet Pea show. It was a big success.
