Urges Universal Military Service in United States as a Duty

Major-General Scott Informs the House Committee That in Event of War This Country Would Need an Army of 2,000,000 Men—Continental Plan.

Universal military service in some form in the United States—possibly the requirement that all men between 18 and 21 be given at least six months' training as a substitute for the volunteer system—was recently discussed before the House committee on military affairs by Major-General Scott, chief of staff of the army. General Scott told the committee that the United States would need an army of nearly 2,000,000 men in the event of war. It developed during the hearing that there are more than 1,000,000 men in the country between the ages of 18 and 21, and that 700,000 reached the age of 18 annually. Short of a universal military requirement, General Scott was of the opinion the continental army plan offered the most workable solution of the Nation's military problems. If the plan as now supported by the administration fails, he said, there is no escape from compulsory service.

With military service imposed on men between 18 and 21 as a patriotic duty, with nominal pay, he thought it would cost the Nation no more for an adequate force than to maintain its present establishment.

General Scott's statement that the country would need an army of nearly 2,000,000 in the event of war was questioned, with the supposition it would be impossible for any power to land 500,000 men in the United States in a period short of sixty days. Citing a table prepared by the war college division of the general staff, under date of August, 1914, General Scott said Austria-Hungary had ships and men to send a force of 72,000 in a first expedition and 108,000 in a second within sixty days. What would become of the 72,000, was asked.

The general said that if they were well established with adequate big guns, they would be hard to dislodge before reinforcements arrived. France, he said, could send 160,000 men in the first expedition and Germany 387,000. General Scott disclosed that the war department had perfected estimates for six big mobile coast defense guns of a caliber probably greater than twelve inches, to be fired from railroad cars or hauled on their own carriages by motor trucks. He said he understood that many contracts held by American firms for ammunition and arms to be exported were now a year old with the deliveries because of the time required to equip plants. For this reason he favored constructing in advance all necessary gauges and tools to convert commercial plants to the needs of the American army in time of war.

Out for Representative

Atty. John C. Kendall of Marshfield was in Bandon Friday and Saturday calling on some of the leading Republicans in regard to his candidacy for the office of Representative for Coos county. To date he is the only one to announce himself for that office on the Republican ticket. He says he has entire interests of the county at heart and is especially cognizant of the importance of the various ports of the community.

A resolution to authorize President Wilson to negotiate with Mexico for the purchase of Lower California, was presented to the House by Representative Randall of California, recently. Such a purchase, the resolution recites, would protect irrigation work in the Imperial valley. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign affairs. Various proposals for the sale of Lower California always have been repudiated by Gen. Carranza.

The House military committee Saturday voted for a regular standing army of 137,000 men with two per cent allowance for recruiting, bringing the number up to 140,000, which is slightly more than the war department asked. Republicans and three Democrats carried the vote.

LAND GRANT INFORMATION FROM ROSEBURG OFFICIALS

Roseburg, Oregon, Feb. 21—The U. S. land office here is daily in receipt of a number of inquiries relative to the Oregon and California railroad grant lands, asking for information as to status of these lands, their location, character, when they may be entered or purchased, etc., and this letter is intended to reply to these inquiries and to give out such information relative to these lands as may now be stated.

A list of these lands by township and range has been prepared for each of the counties within the Roseburg land district, containing these lands. These lists are intended to give merely an approximate area of such lands in each township, based on the list of lands given in the decree of the federal court. This list for any county or counties will be sent upon request.

This office is not in a position to give advice as to the character of the land in any locality, and we can not attempt to advise any one in this regard. As to the disposition of these lands, nothing can be determined until Congress shall act in the matter. It is probable that such action will be taken some time within the next six months, and until such action is had no information can be given by this office. We would suggest to parties interested to watch the daily papers, as whatever action Congress may take will be given therein before this office has official information thereon to give out.

Based on the lists of lands given in the decree of the court, the approximate acreage of unsold railroad lands in the several counties of this district, at the time the suit was instituted, was as follows:

Lincoln, 1040; Benton, 27,716; Linn, 14,620; Lane, 300,110; Douglas, 607,360; Coos, 100,620; Curry, 8400; Josephine, 17,460; Jackson, 444,560; Klamath, 13,440; total, 1,690,326.

In addition to the lands there are other railroad lands in several of the counties named, that at the time the suit was started were unsurveyed, and hence not included in the list given in the suit, but coming under the decree. The approximate area of such lands are as follows:

Coos, 15,000; Douglas, 65,000; Josephine, 17,000; Curry, 15,000; Jackson, 20,000.

There is still a certain amount of unsurveyed railroad lands in several of the counties, namely: Curry, Douglas and Josephine. These lands, when surveyed, will come under whatever plan of disposition Congress may provide.

HARM SEEN IN MILITARY PLAN

EDUCATORS OPPOSE TO COMPULSORY TRAINING IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Boy Scout Movement Given a Big Boost; Better Than Militiamen—Committee Authorized to Make an Investigation in Interest of the American Youth.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 28—The department of superintendence of the National Education association at its closing session here Saturday, went on record as opposed to compulsory military training in the public schools of the United States. It was said that although there were many advocates of a strong national system of preparedness, as well as many opponents of such an organization, the most generally accepted view was to keep militarism out of the grade and high schools. Most of the delegates it was said, favored the special military school plan.

A resolution opposing scholastic military training, which was adopted, carried a clause that a committee of nine be appointed to study and report on the proper place for acceptance of military education of American youth and the department to finance the necessary expenses of the committee.

James E. West, of New York, the chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, speaking at the final session, declared America will be more Prussianized than Germany ever was if the bills before Congress advocating a system of military training should become law. "The junior militia bill," continued Mr. West, "strikes deep at our educational standards which aim to keep the child's mind free from prejudice and narrowing preconceptions. Germany never has given military training to youths under 18. If America was actually preparing for war, I would rather face the issue with a million approved scouts who can handle themselves efficiently in every predicament than with a million men of the old militia type."

"This is because the scout program teaches efficiency in the field in bad weather amid hardships and in a crisis. We know how more of our boys in the Spanish American war died of disease than from bullet wounds. This was largely because they were not trained to keep themselves fit under hardships. With a large standing army, taxpayers have a heavy burden to carry, and idle men are a social menace everywhere. With independent boy scouts, each man is self-supporting, taught the principle of service and unselfishness. He knows how to help himself and others. If the school system is asked to take up preparatory courses, anticipating warfare, let it be the boy scout program and not a 'tin soldier' program."

W. H. Wilson of Columbia college, New York City, addressed the supervisors on the "value of rural life surveys." He said "the failure of rural education in America is measured by inability of institutions, established for that purpose, to train rural teachers and keep them in rural schools."
