C. B. Zeek must be an ideal precinct committeeman, at least he is in great demand for that office. Being an old faithful Republican Mr. Zeek has acted in that capacity for precinct No. 44 for several years. Of course Mr. Zeek has sent in an explanation to the county clerk that it wouldn't look good for a Republican to represent the Democrats in the precinct. Besides he has also been elected Republican committeeman for precinct 47, where his name was written in without his knowledge.

Last year Mr. Marsh had a jitney in the family and he says that he found a car so convenient in ranch life that he doesn't feel as though he could get along without one any more, and for two reasons his neighbors are glad to see him the owner of a good automobile: One is that "Al" has a sociable turn and likes to take his friends out for little joy rides, and the other is, that he is road supervisor, and a good one too, and whenever the supervisor is the owner of an automobile the public can look out for good roads.—Port Orford Tribune.

After giving the class yell—for everybody concerned—all dispersed to their homes in the wee small hours of Sunday morning, voting the affair one of the most pleasant evenings of the year. Marks of Albany, Oregon, and Walter G. Gleeson of Baker, Ore., K. of R. and S., who will visit Bandon on that date. Mrs. Roberts, Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters of Oregon will be in the county at the same time and it is probable she will visit Bandon on the same date, in which event the affair will probably be a joint meeting of the two organizations. The state officials come to the county primarily to attend the district convention of the Coos county branches of the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters which will be held at North Bend June 12th; but while here they will make visits to the various lodge temples and local Knights are planning to make their visit here one that will be remembered with pleasure.

The cover shows two actual photographic scenes in color. The inside color plate is of Portland. The illustrations, of which there are over a hundred, are tastefully arranged in combinations of three with a light yellow border. The text is well written and covers the outdoor attractions of Oregon, from the Columbia river to southern Curry, and from the Pacific ocean to Eastern Oregon. Every loyal Oregonian is urged to secure a copy of this book and send it to a friend in the East. Copies can be secured from any Southern Pacific agent, or by addressing John M. Scott, general passenger agent, Portland, Oregon.
