

Do Not Neglect Your Teeth

It is dangerous. Scientists have proven that bad teeth and gums cause a great many diseases of which the following are the most common: Neuralgia, dyspepsia, ulcers of the stomach, rheumatism, endocarditis (inflammation of the heart lining), appendicitis, insanity, and a great many other ailments. "A stitch in time saves nine." If you have pyorrhea I can positively cure it. If you haven't it yet, don't wait till you get it, for with the proper care and a visit to my office once or twice a year you can remain free from that dreaded disease at an extremely low cost. It is easier to prevent than to cure, and that is my constant aim. I teach you how to take care of your teeth thereby preventing disease, and decay, and reducing your dental bills to at least one half.

Fear keeps most people away from the dentist, that is not the case with my patients, for I can do your work with so little pain that it takes away that dread and fear. In most all work the prick of the needle is all that you feel.

I have an excellent equipment and a large stock of supplies which enables me to give you the best of service promptly at all times. I stand back of all my work, if at any time you are not satisfied I will be only too glad to make it right. I want all my patients to be my friends and cooperate with me in spreading the gospel of mouth hygiene, and my fees are no higher than you would pay elsewhere.

Don't procrastinate, come in and let me advise you what you are in need of and give you estimates of cost.

DEW VALLEY

J. J. Morris has just purchased a registered Berkshire sow of the Steinway piano type. She is perhaps the best bred sow ever brought into this section and costs Mr. Morris something over a hundred dollars delivered at Bandon. When I told the boys that Jap had bought this aristocratic beast one of them yelled: "The poor mutt, ain't he got no sense at all?"

"He surely hain't," said Fayette. "Payin' a hundred dollars for a hawg."

"I'm by that," he went on, "a good deal like a feller name o' Dud Wedders back home wuz about mules. Mules got up to be worth four 'r five hundred dollars a pair an' Dud had a pair o' ol' mules—pretty good ol' mules they wuz too, an' he sold 'em for four hundred dollars. I'll git me a pair o' plug mules 'e says, 'Jist a pair o' plug mules, cause it's like this: One o' them four 'r five hundred dollar mules kin lay down an' die jist as easy as a plug mule an' if he does you're out y'r money 'e sez."

The weak point in Dud's philosophy as applied to hogs lies in the difference in returns from the two types of hogs.

When George Henry squandered over seven hundred dollars for some spotted cattle from California, the prophets from Michigan pulled their whiskers and sighed: "Poor George, he's done for now." But George told me this week that he had a four year old Holstein heifer, fresh six days, that was giving fifty pounds of milk a day. The calf weighed over a hundred pounds at birth. Likewise George Laird told me Monday that he had a couple of calves for which he would take seventy five and a hundred twenty-five dollars respectively. And although George P. is a modest man, he didn't blush when he mentioned these outrageous prices.

When Van Leuven first began to get some good Jerseys, some of his considerate Bear Creek neighbors suggested getting one of these phenological sharps to feel of Hank's head. But since that time some of these same doubting Thomases have emptied their wallets in order to own a calf from the Cedar Hill farm.

A good many of us, however, are for various economic and financial reasons, still of the opinion of Dud Wedders: "We'll git us some plug mules—jist some common, plug mules."

Bert Peterson is getting tired of new potatoes already.

There is a noticeable increase in the amount of milk received at the cheese factory since a number of farmers began cutting green feed for their cows.

M. W. Treadgold and Cash Doyle returned Saturday from the Hammond ranch on upper Sixes where they purchased a number of high grade and thoroughbred "White face" cattle. Mr. Hammond had a silo full of feed last winter and his cattle came through in fine condition. Mr. Treadgold has come to the conclusion that in stocking his range, he'd better run from any critter that looks like it was even remotely related to a beast that looked like a Jersey.

As soon as the range men can supply enough of the beef bred cattle for local demands the plutocratic butchers will refuse to buy our culls and canners and pass them over the block as "prime steer beef." This fourth-rate stuff will sell at half the price it formerly brought. Then the dairymen will have to make his cow pay her way at the pail and not depend on the salvage he gets out of her carcass to make up the loss she incurred as a milker.

Corn planters are busy these days. There will be something over thirty acres of corn planted in Dew Valley this season—quite an increase over previous years. Gradually we are cutting down the list of things that "can't be grown" here. Wilbur Hoover even had the temerity to plant some goobers this spring.

W. A. Hoover and John Felter have been clearing land on the Felter tract. They now have about two acres of bottom land under plow with a part of it already seeded.

The Davis ditcher is just finishing about two hundred rods of ditch between the Chris Richert and Hess farms.

Purchases Two Mile Sawmill

A deal was closed a few days ago whereby J. C. Shields becomes the owner of the Warren & Kay sawmill on Two Mile. Mr. Shields will ship the mill to Myrtle Creek above Myrtle Point where he will place it in operation. He will saw lumber for the ranchers of that section and for himself and in addition will manufacture a large amount of myrtle wood lumber from the extensive groves of that section.

TO THE FARMERS OF COOS AND CURRY COUNTIES

In the interest of my business and in the interest of the livestock industry of this section of the country, I wish to announce that I have recently bought one of the best Berkshire sows in the West, Aldora Duchess 3rd. She carries a litter of Laurel Champion pigs. Laurel Champion is considered by many breeders to be the greatest Berkshire sire in the world and is easily the greatest on the Pacific coast.

This sow from F. R. Stul of Grants Pass, and the one I purchased of Mr. Hodson of Tangent places the best blood procurable within reach of the farmers of Coos and Curry counties.

I realize that most of the farmers and dairymen in here keep hogs as a side line only, but if you can afford a hog you can afford a good one. The first cost is the only additional cost; after that every cost is less than with the scrub hog.

I have paid every dollar it takes to get the best, without going in for fancy show stock, and I will maintain this standard.

Yours truly,

J. J. MORRIS.

LANGLOIS AND COMMUNITY

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Malehorn left Langlois for Bandon Monday evening May 29th. They will live in Bandon through the summer at least.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kent arrived in Langlois Sunday evening. They have rented the Mathers' bungalow just vacated by S. A. Malehorn and will spend the summer with us, as Mr. Kent will teach a three months' summer term in the Sipher district on Flore's creek. We are glad to have them with us again as they are an agreeable social asset.

Dr. Mann of Bandon was called to Langlois last Monday on account of the sudden and serious sickness of Mrs. Muir, who lives a short distance south of town.

All hands are preparing for the Fourth of July celebration. It is now an assured fact. We expect a full town and a good time. Come one, come all. There is room for you.

Dr. Mann passed through town last Tuesday, having been called professionally to Sixes river.

Mrs. Thom and Mrs. Godfrey of Bandon were calling on friends in Langlois last Sunday.

Mrs. Nel Fitzhugh of Sixes river has been spending a few days with friends in Langlois.

We have one pretty sure indication of increased business activity. L. W. Hale, who hauls freight between here and Bandon, says the amount of freight handled at present is very much larger than at a corresponding time last year, both north and south. He finds it difficult to keep up with the demand which is increasing all the time.

MEDALS AWARDED AT ORATORICAL CONTEST

Belle Chathburn Wins High School Medal; Clara Carpenter and Lois Smith Win in Grades.

The oratorical contest between the various grades and between high school students held at the High school auditorium Monday evening proved a very interesting and successful event. Although the attendance was not equal to the occasion, those present were well pleased with the effort made by the participants.

The program was opened with a splendid piano solo by Miss Lone Thompson.

The first contest was between pupils of the 5th and 6th grades. The contestants and their topics were: Blanche Webb, "Our Folks"; Carol Joy, "Small Beginnings"; Lewis Tee-Garden, "The African Chief"; Lois Smith, "The Fisherman's Story". Miss Smith was awarded the medal.

The second contest was between the 7th and 8th grades. The contestants and topics were: Clara Carpenter, "Guilty, or Not Guilty"; Hjordis Lee, "Signing the Declaration of Independence"; Katherine Stoltz, "Policy of the Nation"; LeRoy Parker, "On War to Coerce America." The medal was awarded to Miss Carpenter, while LeRoy Parker was a close second in the scoring.

The third was between High school students, the participants being: Harold Johnson, "Patrick Henry's Speech"; Belle Chathburn, "Belshazzar"; Mildred Langley, "Painter of Seville." The scoring on these was very close. Miss Chathburn was awarded the medal.

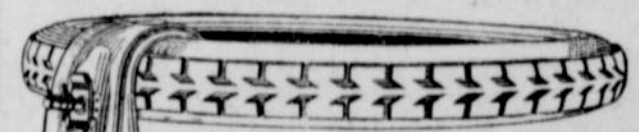

The program was concluded with a song by the Teachers' Quartet, which was much appreciated and called forth hearty applause. The judges for the occasion were: Miss Blanche Radley, J. W. Mast and L. D. Felsheim.

School Election Coming

A school election for the purpose of electing two directors and a clerk will be held at the High school auditorium Monday evening, June 19th. The outgoing members are Dr. L. P. Sorensen, Mrs. E. B. Kausrud and Clerk C. M. Knight.
