J. E. WALSTROM AGENT BANDON

HAPPENINGS OF CURRY COUNTY

(From Port Orford Tribune)
Ed. Henry of Bandon, drove the auto truck between Port Orford and his town several days last week, while Contractor Davidson was enjoying the Agate Carnival.

Miss Ena McKenzie, matron of the Emergency hospital at Bandon, was visiting her parents at the Sea View Creamery last week and also attending the Agate Carnival.

Last Saturday an attendant from Salem passed up the coast with Jas. G. Walker of Gold Beach, who was being taken to the state home for the feeble minded, poor health for the past several years having undermined his reason. Mr. Walker was one of the substantial citizens of southern Curry, and some 12 years ago served as county sheriff. He was a man of unquestioned integrity and courage, and the affliction that he has now met with claims the sympathy of a host of friends.

At two o'clock last Wednesday afternoon Delmar Wright and Miss Ethel Richard, in the presence of the relatives of the two families, were united in marriage by Justice M. T. Wright father of the groom. This estimable young couple have grown from infancy to manhood and womanhood at Port Orford, and are among the most popular of our younger set.

(From Gold Beach Reporter)
Mrs. A. H. Gauntlett and daughters, Lottie and Estelle, left this week for Bandon, on a visit to friends, and will remain over to attend the big Railroad Jubilee that will occupy the people of Coos next week.

Now that experienced miners are investigating the mines in the Lobster creek country, we believe that a thorough examination of that section will prove that paying mines will be discovered and developed. Where nuggets weighing from one dollar to three ounces are picked up, there must be more of the yellow stuff.

One J. M. Johnson wrote to the Oregonian asking: "Can a person in Oregon get both two quarts of whiskey and 24 quarts of beer the same month," and was answered that he could not. Down in Curry it would depend upon to which jitney driver the application is made.

When coming in from his home-stand on Hunters creek Sunday, John Melville came upon a big panther asleep under a tree. Not having a gun the howl that John gave was nearly as effective in ridding the community of the varmit, for while it did not kill the panther, it sent him off badly scared. This is no doubt the animal that has of late been destroying so many sheep on the Turner and Smith ranges.

WRIST WATCH A HOODOO

Why the Governor Didn't Visit Gold Beach While in Curry.

We have just learned why the governor did not extend his recent visit to the agate carnival as far as Gold Beach, says the Reporter of that place. A native of Port Orford noticing that His Excellency wore a wrist-watch, called him aside and whispered:
"I say Gov. don't go to Rogue river with that watch on your wrist, because there might be trouble. There is a big fight on about whose watch shows correct standard time, and the fishermen, not knowing you, might throw you in the river."

"Then I'll not go," the Governor replied, and he whistled for his auto and returned to Coos Bay.

New Brookings Hotel

The Chetco Inn, a new modern hotel being erected at Brookings at a cost of $50,000, will be completed and formally opened at the Chetco Cove Carnival, September 2, 3, and 4. Jeremiah W. Lynch of California has been engaged as manager.

Fine Samples of Gold and Chrome

J. R. Smith, who last year created a great deal of excitement by his gold discoveries in Curry county, is here again with larger and better samples of gold than ever. He is not saying much but has his pockets full of the real yellow metal which speaks for itself. He claims he has chrome of the most valuable grade of ore ever yet found. He is on his way to San Francisco where he expects to interest capital in his mines.—North Bend Harbor.

Two Mile School Question

About thirty years ago this present site was adopted by the original settlers, the school house was built by the private means of four of them; it must be admitted they were actuated by a spirit of fair play and justice that is conspicuously absent in the present majority, for they picked geographical center or thereabouts, to accommodate the extremes of the district, and not their own convenience.

This school house was used rent free long after the children of those who built it were grown men and women. A few years ago this site was acquired by the district, a new school house was built, also several out-buildings, the acre cleared and well fenced, walks built, a good well and pump, in fact the present improvements stood the taxpayers about $700, all obtained by special taxes and bond. The bond is not paid yet.

It must be admitted, the dimensions of this district are such as to make it impossible to build a school house at present that will not work an injustice to some. Further it must be admitted that districts of this size set at naught the compulsory school law. The minority are willing to help remedy matters, and have been willing to do so at all times.

There is but one way that this can be done and do justice to all parties. Cut a half mile off the south end, adding it to Four Mile where it belongs; also cut some off the north end, adding it to Bandon, where it belongs; letting the body of the old district remain the same; build the school house on the old site, and no injustice will be done any party.

We will make an attempt to analyze that particular part of school law bearing on the majority required to abandon previously used school site. When one reads this particular section of law applicable to this question it seems rather hazy, yet when one reasons out the seeming intent of the law makers, only one conclusion is permissible: They were undoubtedly trying to provide protection for a minority from the encroachments of a majority. If one goes further and tries to arrive at some conclusion as to what else they might have been contemplating at that time, he finds himself up a stump, for no other reason can be given for their providing that a two-thirds majority is necessary.

This two-thirds they have not, even by voting anyone they saw fit; the largest vote they have polled is 38. The minority can and will vote 23 legal votes.

Let this be decided by vote, with competent, disinterested judges, and the vote will stand about as follows, 33 to 23.

The minority have grown weary of elections. These elections have been forced by the majority every time. The minority are only protecting themselves. We refused to take part in last election for it was entirely illegal, and to have taken part would have been futile.

Says She Was Fine

Miss Lelia Miller, a young lady from Myrtle Point, sang at the Grand Monday night. One of her admirers declares that "she was one of the most charming singers to appear before a Bandon audience for some time, and although but eighteen she has besides her beautiful voice, a rare stage presence. By continued applause Bandon people showed their appreciation for classical music, and it is hoped," says this admirer, "that local people will have the pleasure of listening to Miss Miller's high bird-like tones soon again." It

JUST PASS IT ON

If you have a smile today,
Pass it on;
You will find that it will pay,
Pass it on;
scatter it all along the road,
It will lessen some one's load
Where despair takes its abode,
Pass it on.
If you have a kind word on your lips,
Pass it on;
Make it travel many trips,
Pass it on;
It will soothe some weary heart
Where sadness left its dart,
You will have nobly done your part,
Pass it on.

Smooths Out the Wrinkles

Worry causes more wrinkles on young faces than is traced thereon by the fingers of Old Father Time. And all household duties are sources of worry, either in the doing or in having them done.

The old rhyme "man works from sun to sun—woman's work is never done," always will be thus until women decide to banish worry by taking advantage of the many truly labor saving and trouble abolishing household devices, which they can now obtain and use at trifling cost.

The G-E Electric Flatiron

is one of these. It does a week's ironing at a cost of about fifteen cents for electricity. It smooths out all ironing day troubles, also, the crumpled feet and wrinkles, which "worry" paints on faces young and fair. Come in and try one. We handle all the latest types and sizes of G-E Irons.

THE UNITED STATES CREAM SEPARATOR MOST SANITARY

The MECHANICAL WASHER and STERILIZER for quick and complete bowl-cleaning is pushing the old style, slow "hand-washing" methods to the back-ground.

The UNITED STATES is the only separator adapted to mechanical washing.

SOLID NICKEL SILVER used only in the skimming device of U. S. Cream Separators, is a metal that rust cannot touch. We guarantee it. With a surface always so smooth, and with the U. S. skimmer so free from obstructing corners and angles, Nickel Silver is remarkably easy to clean and, therefore, ideally sanitary.

The U. S. skimming device is composed of smooth, curved blades or plates open from center to circumference, through which the washing water is forced in tremendous current.

SOLID NICKEL SILVER is easy to clean anyway, but with the Mechanical Washer is cleaned in less than half the time of other skimming devices.

The SANITARY LINER is easily removed from the bowl chamber and washed with other parts. No milk comes in contact with the iron bowl chamber.

Let us show you these superior qualities.
