EDITORIAL COMMENT

The fact that the Democratic campaign managers have booked Secretary Daniels for a speech in Maine seems to indicate that they have abandoned all hope of carrying the State and simply don't care what happens to the ticket in the September election.

Senator J. Ham Lewis, a spokesman for the administration, in attempting to apologize for the President's mollycoddle expression that we are "too proud to fight," explains that it is an old Latin quotation. But the people already know that it is out of date and the expression of a decadent nation.

"We don't want to maintain a political almshouse," remarked Mr. Hughes to the North Dakota farmers, and a nation applauds him. Americans are beginning to see a possibility in the near future of regaining their self-respect.

The administration seems to have sold everything it could, from the nation's honor down to the smallest rural postmastership.

Secretary Daniels says this is no time for politics. And it's no time for Secretary Daniels, either.

Senator Lewis, defending the President on his "too proud to fight" expression, intimates that it was due solely to the ignorance of his audience that the popular interpretation that has been put upon it was evolved, and that anyway it didn't mean what it appeared to mean. The latter statement can be taken with some degree of confidence, as it is quite a well-known fact that most of the things the President says do not mean what they are supposed to mean.

Secretary Redfield has presented another of those living illustrations of the old adage that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread," with one important modification. The difference in the Secretary's case is that he walked right in and turned around and was kicked right out again.

The Democratic contingent in the Senate is all worked up over the fact that the terms of the treaty for the purchase of the Danish West Indies "leaked out." "Pitiful publicity," you understand, has been consigned to the scrap heap with a large assortment of various other Democratic policies and promises.

Of Mr. Wilson it may be said he meant well, but he now finds himself buried under the evidence of inefficiency that Mr. Hughes has brought forth.

Mr. Wilson has made no reply to the charges of Mr. Hughes. Is he still too proud to fight?

POLITICAL JOTTINGS

At that, however, from beginning to end this has been more of a "you kick me and I'll kiss you" administration.

Vance McCormick says the Progressives are stampeding to Wilson, and it's a ten to one bet he wishes he could believe it.

The Democrats are finding out that pork comes home to root out their standing.

The men and women who prefer a man who does things to a man who writes notes about them will vote for Hughes. Government by correspondence takes too long to get anywhere, but government by deeds is always on the job.

Those who are concerned to know what Mr. Hughes would have done had he been in Mr. Wilson's place may rest assured he would not have done as Mr. Wilson has. And that is answer enough.

Mr. Hughes is not only going direct to the public, but the public is going direct to him. A genuine American fifty-fifty!

President Wilson's alarm clock is ringing at 5 o'clock these mornings. He can reach out of bed and turn it off the morning of March 5.

Postmaster General Burleson is too foxy a politician to adopt for his department the McAdoo rule forbidding Treasury department employees participating in politics. Mr. Burleson realizes that postmasters are entitled to some exercise for the money.

There are no strings or mental reservations to the public pledges of administrative reform given by Charles E. Hughes. His record as governor of New York guarantees the fulfillment of every promise.

Democrats are now convinced that Charles Evans Hughes is a warm proposition.

It is gratifying, indeed, to find that Mr. Wilson still stands on the suffrage question where he stood at the beginning of his administration. He has changed on about everything else.—Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

It strikes one that instead of wildly hustling for the State of Maine, Vance McCormick might do better work by taking his wrecking crew to the West to repair the Democratic bridges that are being dynamited by Justice Hughes.

According to the week's latest work of fiction, the Democratic Campaign Book, the wage-earners of the country received during the Wilson Administration $3,000,000,000 more than they received under Taft. And all it cost them to keep something in the dinner pail was $6,000,000,000 more.

At the annual meeting of postmasters in Washington recently, the first assistant postmaster-general lauded the postal savings system. That must have been a bitter pill for Postmaster-General Burleson, who sat on the same platform with his assistant. When the postal savings bill was passed, Mr. Burleson, then a Congressman from Texas, voted against it. Every vote cast against it was cast by a Democrat. Not one Democratic Congressman voted for it. Yet President Wilson says the Republican party has not had a new idea in thirty years. Whose idea was it?

It was the instinct of a lawyer for Hughes to support his damning charges against Wilson, by calling Wilson's own secretary of state as a witness to prove them.

Mr. Hughes says there should be firm dealing in Mexican affairs. Maybe so; but we have had enough of the firm of Wilson, Carranza & Co.

The impression is growing at the White House that Mr. Hughes is deliberately unfriendly. Look out for notes.

If those Democratic notifiers put off their notifying much longer they may find Mr. Wilson in no mood to accept.

POINTS FROM HUGHES' SPEECHES

Reckless extravagance of the Democrats is an insult to the American people.

Deserving Democrats! Deserving in heaven's name of what?

We have a splendid system of government, on paper, but we want that system vitalized.

The pork barrel bill brings a blush of shame to the cheeks of every American.

I am here because I have a vision of what America needs. An idle American will always feel uncomfortable.

America will not hold her own by high sounding phrases.

Are we not a nation great enough to have sufficient foresight to protect our borders in a sensible fashion by means of sensible preparedness?

Road Survey Cost to Be Held Down

Roadmaster Murdock Places Cost at Less Than Two Per Cent—Work Being Rushed.

R. B. Murdock, county road master, according to the North Bend Harbor states that there was some alarm caused by misleading reports concerning the preliminary costs of making surveys for the big road bond issue to be expended next year. Mr. Murdock says that the truth is the cost will be cheaper than most anyone expects, and that it will be held down to less than two per cent on a basis of the whole amount to be expended.

In Multnomah county the preliminary work for surveys cost four per cent and the work under construction three per cent additional. Mr. Murdock is certain that the total cost for all surveys will be materially lower than the cost to Multnomah county.

At present a crew of a dozen men under assistant roadmaster Elliott are stationed at Peterson's landing on Haynes slough. They are running out lines for part of the general road plan, which started at Glasco point, opposite Old Town. This work will require four weeks to complete.

Mr. Murdock says that much of the work planned can be done during the winter but prefers to have all surveys made ready for letting contracts early next spring. He insists on having all work done right and in a permanent manner. In this he has the solid backing of the county court therefore the people may rest assured that it will be right.

Man Drowned in Coos
The body of Dan Bennett, the Coos River rancher, who disappeared last week, was found Monday by Andrew Kerdell near his landing on North Coos River. The body had been washed up stream a considerable distance by the tide.

Paroled From Penitentiary
Neva Hatcher and Carl Ensele of Coquille who were some time ago convicted and sent to the state penitentiary on account of being implicated in contributing to the delinquency of a Bandon girl, have been paroled by the pardon board and returned to their homes Saturday.

High Prices for Fish
A Gold Beach report says: The fall run of fish in the Rogue river is the best in years. Twenty-one hundred fish were caught in a day and a half last week. Ninety cents and $1.15 are being paid for the fish. If the present run keeps up it will beat all records for fall runs. Twenty-five cents is being paid for silversides.

To Develop Coal Mine
The Beaver Hill mine development work will be resumed and carried out to the fullest extent, according to Wm. Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific, who was in the county on an official visit last week. "The Beaver Hill work was discontinued a few years ago when money was scarce and hard to obtain," said Mr. Sproule. "Not only was money scarce but there was no immediate market for the coal even had we been able to produce it. Until the railroad was completed, there was no opportunity to handle the output. Now we have the rail service and we are going to develop the mine."

A Bad Summer for Children
There has been an unusual amount of sickness among children everywhere this summer. Extra precautions should be taken to keep the bowels open and liver active. Foley Cathartic Tablets are a fine and wholesome physic; cause no pain, nausea or griping. Relieve indigestion, sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach, bad breath.—ORANGE PHARMACY.

DEW VALLEY
Vast areas of slashings are being burned this week. The acreage slashed and burned on the hill overlooking this valley is gradually increasing each year.

Peterson and Perkins will take week about hauling the milk from now on.

The Dew Valley cheese factory will manufacture cheese all winter reports Mr. Strong, the manager.

There is a good auto road up the valley. Bandon merchants are cordially invited to come out and see this beautiful and fertile spot that so many of them have not seen.

Hank Van Leuven of Bear creek, Bert Peterson of Dew Valley and Brandt Taylor of Four Mile have recently purchased foundation stock of registered Berkshires from J. J. Morris.
