"Christmas Lights"

Little lights, glowing "to light the Christ Child on his way," shine from the windows of the home of Carter H. Harrison of Chicago on Christmas eve.

The wife of Chicago's former mayor has observed the ancient custom every Christmas eve within the reaches of her memory.

"There would be something missing from Christmas eve if the little lights were forgotten," Mrs. Harrison said. "It would be like a Christmas without a tree."

Joseph Murray, attorney, is another prominent Chicagoan who never has let Christmas eve pass without helping to keep this pretty Christmas custom alive.

Mrs. William A. Amberg of the Christ Child society regards the revival of the custom as "a pretty tribute to the ideals of Christmas."

A tight-fisted old man, says the Washington Post, who was feeling very ill, asked a friend to recommend a physician. The friend named a certain specialist noted no less for his professional skill than for his wit. "Is he very expensive?" asked the sick man. "Well, not so very," was the answer, "He'll charge you $4 for the first visit and $2 for each one after that." The old fellow soon afterwards walked into the office of the physician named by his friend, and, upon being admitted to the consulting room, laid down $2, remarking, "Well, doctor, here I am again." The physician calmly picked up the money and put it into a drawer, which he locked securely. The sick man looked on, expectantly awaiting the next move. "Well, I'm ready to be examined," he said at length. "I don't think it's necessary," replied the shrewd specialist. "There's no need to do it again. Keep right on taking the same medicine."

It costs $128 per year to board a culture by 1000 farmers representing widely separated sections in 14 states. The averages derived from these estimates are embodied in Department Bulletin 410, recently published, entitled "Value to Farm Families of Food, Fuel and Use of House." It was found that the total annual cost per person of board for hired help varied from $104 in Vermont and Pennsylvania to $162 in New Jersey, and that the percentage of this cost paid out in cash varied from 15 per cent in North Carolina to 49 per cent in California. This percentage is about one-third in the eastern section studied, about one-fourth in the corn-belt states, and still less in the Southern states.

Light has an actual mechanical pressure and this can be measured in the laboratory. It has been found that the sun's light in itself presses against the earth with a force of approximately 70,000 tons. As the surface of a sphere varies as the square of the radius, and as the volume of mass varies as the cube of the radius, and as the mechanical pressure of light on the whole surface varies as that surface, and as the force of gravity varies as the mass, if a sphere is made smaller and smaller it is easily seen that the pressure of light does not decrease so fast as the force of gravity, so bodies beyond a certain minuteness could not reach the sun, but would be repelled by the mechanical force of the sun's light.

No other farm product brings as good returns for the money invested as does chickens. If each hen raised but one chick and furnished but two dozen eggs, think what a large per cent of her value she pays. It is important to keep books if very many chickens are kept, and figure up the amount they bring in. This gives a sound basis on which to figure whether it is wise to invest more capital in hovers, runs, or extra labor and feed, and will apply whether the original investment be large or small.

Major General Leonard Wood said in a preparedness argument at a dinner in New York: "The man who opposes preparedness expects his brother to do his fighting for him. This man is as shameless as the chap who said: 'Well I'm going to get married next week.' 'What are you going to live on—love?' asked a candid friend. 'No,' was the reply. 'We'll live on love's father.'"
