CANNING FRESH

STRAWBERRIES

O. A. C. Extension Service Bulletin Contains Some Valuable Points on Methods.

Can fresh strawberries the same day picked. Hull and place in strainer; pour water over to cleanse; pack in jar without crushing. Pour over berries a hot syrup made with 1 1-2 quarts sugar to one quart water boiled until the syrup is thick enough to roll or pile up over the edge of the spoon when you try to pour it out. Pour this hot syrup over the berries and put rubber and cap in position, not tight. Sterilize in a hot water bath eight minutes; remove jar; tighten cover; invert to cool and test for leaks.

Second method for canning strawberries: Use only fresh, ripe and firm berries. Prepare berries as in the first method. Add eight ounces of sugar and 2 tablespoons of water to each quart of berries. Boil slowly for 15 minutes in an acid proof vessel; cover with a well fitted cover while boiling. Allow berries to cool and remain over night in the covered vessel. Pack cold berries in a glass jar, put rubber and cap in position but not tight. Sterilize in a hot water bath 10 minutes. Tighten cover and invert to cool and test for leaks.

Sun preserved strawberries: Use the fresh sound berries the same day picked. Hull and prepare for canning the same as other berries; place in a shallow platter; sprinkle with sugar. Make a syrup of 2 1-2 pounds sugar and 3 quarts water boiled until it is so thick that it will not pour easily from container, but not crystallized. Pour this syrup over the berries; cover to protect them from insects but do not cover so closely with glass that it retains all the moisture. Allow to cook in the hot sun 8 to 12 hours; pack in glass jars or cups; tie paper over the top or cover with paraffin paper. Strawberries, raspberries, ripe gooseberries and cherries make good sun preserves. —Sarah L. Lewis, assistant professor in Domestic Science at O. A. C.

Do You Wear Shoes? Read This

Don't say: "Oh my! Shoes are so high here that I think I will send away for my next pair." Forget it. You will find in the largest shoe stock in Bandon, shoes that were bought before the high prices of today were put into effect. Boys', Girls', and Baby Shoes, and lots of them, at the same prices they were two years ago.

Ladies' and Misses' Shoes, $2, $4 and $5 sellers, from sizes two and one-half to four and one-half, at almost your own price. Ladies' low shoes in all sizes $1.00 and up. Don't cry about the high price of shoes until you look at these bargains. Now is the time and BREUER'S is the place.

INSTANT ACTION SURPRISES MANY PEOPLE HERE

This grocer's story surprises local people: "I had bad stomach trouble. All food seemed to sour and form gas. Was always constipated. Nothing helped until I tried buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-4-ka. ONE SPOONFUL astonished me with its INSTANT action." Because Adler-4-ka flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Atty. L. A. Liljeqvist of Marshfield was in the city this week in the interests of the Oregon avenue case in which he is to render an opinion.

AS IT WAS IN 1863

Some Interesting Comparisons Regarding the Draft of Civil War and that of Today.

In many ways the selective draft of today differs from the draft of 1863 by which Lincoln raised the armies that checked the rising tide of rebellion and saved the union. That earlier draft was a relatively simple affair, though the draft riots in New York, in which a thousand men were killed, and some of the local scandals that grew up around the draft were anything but simple.

"All able-bodied men between the ages of twenty and forty-five" were subject to the draft—in theory. Every town and city within each loyal state was called upon to furnish a number of men, determined according to its population. If enough men in a community came forward as volunteers to fill the quota of that particular municipal unit, no draft was held there. If the quota had not been filled by volunteers, the names of the male residents between 20 and 45 were put in a hat or box and the required number were drawn out. But the men thus drawn for service had avenues of escape not open in this year of grace. There was a chance to hire a substitute, for example—an indefensible discrimination in favor of men of means. The cost of substitutes varied from a hundred dollars to a thousand or more. It may readily be accepted that the substitutes were not the best material for soldiers and that many men who hired them lived to regret that they had not gone to the front themselves, especially if they ventured into politics. This did not, however, prevent Grover Cleveland's election to the presidency.

Then there was the chance to bribe the medical examiner—and the traditions make it obvious that the standards of honor among examining surgeons has risen much in half a century. The bounty system was also subject to gross abuses. The states and towns offered bounties, often as high as $500 or more, to men who would volunteer in order that the local quota might be filled. To these bounties were sometimes added others from privately subscribed funds. How often it happened that a man who found himself drafted or ranked with the town official in charge of the draft to have him go on record as a volunteer of a day or two earlier. Thus he got the bounty, which he shared with the corrupt official. And there were thousands of "bounty jumpers"—men he enlisted after getting the bounty, deserted from the service and then went to some distant town and repeated the same performance under another name. If things got too hot for the bounty jumper he found refuge in Canada.

All these practices and the others, equally shady or worse, that might be cited do not detract from the valor and sacrifices of the boys in blue who kept the stars in the flag. Their recital is, however, a page of Civil War history that we gain nothing by ignoring, and they give us faith to believe that the country is doing business on a higher level than it did half a century ago.

One of the most enjoyable informal affairs held for many a day took place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Leep on Friday evening when a party of friends enjoyed a few hours at Bridge in honor of Miss Anna Hughes, Mrs. Leep's sister, who has been visiting her. The naturally artistic home became even more so by the profusion of flowers grouped in every available nook. At a late hour refreshments were served to the guests, after which music was the rule for a while. At Bridge, Miss Hughes and Dr. Voeg captured the high scores. Among the invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Frowbridge, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Whitsett, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Best, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dippel, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McNair, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Felsheim, Mr. and Mrs. Lentner Gallier, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Voeg, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garfield, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Miller, Miss Anna Hughes and Howard Fox of Portland.

Rev. L. D. Heminger will speak at the Presbyterian church on Sunday, July 1st, at eleven o'clock a. m. In the evening at eight o'clock he will lecture on West Africa, from which section he recently returned to this country. His lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon views and pictures. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Maxfield and little granddaughter who have been visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. H. E. Hornung, for several weeks, leave Friday for their home at Seattle. Mrs. Hornung and little daughter, Peggie, will accompany them for a visit.

To Install Officers Monday At the regular meeting of the K. of P. lodge this week it was decided to install the recently elected officers the coming Monday evening. All members are requested to be present on that evening.

The Golden Rule

Aided the School Election

There was a larger attendance at the school meeting in Port Orford than there has been in many years, this being due to the fact that it followed immediately after the Red Cross speaking by L. J. Simpson. A three mill tax was levied and J. H. Zumwalt and H. T. Stewart were elected clerk and director, respectively.—Port Orford Tribune.

The Coos Bay stevedores announced this week a raise in the scale of wages for longshoreing. The former scale was 55c per hour for straight time and 75c per hour for overtime. The new scale calls for 60c per hour for straight time and 90 cents per hour for overtime.

Sam Malehorn has bought another jitney and now has two on the run between here and Port Orford. Business is good.

Geo. Colebrook, the Frankport stockman, returned Saturday from Langlois with a pure blood Durham bull which he had purchased from E. B. Thrift. The bull is a half brother to one of the roan Durham's recently shipped from Portland to the Macleay farm at Wedderburn, and is said to be one of the best animals ever brought into this country. Mr. Colebrook has sold 26 head of cattle this spring, and has 25 more to turn off. He also runs several hundred head of sheep.—Port Orford Tribune.

Sales Manager Here Wednesday Monte J. Wax, of the Wax Special Sales service, Portland, was in Bandon yesterday on his way to Port Orford to conduct closing out sale of C. W. Zumwalt & Son, who are quitting business. Mr. Wax was the representative of his company whom it will be remembered conducted the Bandon Dry Goods Co. sale.
