

President Wilson Emphatically Indorses Go to Church Movement. Go to Church.

PRESIDENT WILSON emphatically indorses the GO TO CHURCH campaign in a letter he sent to the Massillon (O.) chamber of commerce. He declared that the habit of church-going LAY AT THE FOUNDATION OF STEADFAST CHARACTER and the MAINTENANCE OF THE STANDARDS OF LIFE. Herewith is produced a facsimile of President Wilson's letter:

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

I need not tell you that your effort to quicken the church-going habit among our people meets with my warmest sympathy. It has always seemed to me that the habit of church-going somehow lay at the foundation of steadfast character and the maintenance of the standards of life.

Woodrow Wilson

W. D. Carpenter and sister, from Bandon, arrived in Port Orford Saturday enroute to spend the winter in San Luis Obispo county, Cal., where Mrs. Carpenter is now conducting a hotel. Mr. Carpenter, who owns the Racket store at Bandon was driving a Ford and experiencing engine trouble at this place his sister returned to Coos to make the trip by water. After repairs were made in the local garage, Mr. Carpenter continued his trip alone Monday.

CURRY COUNTY

(Fred Lockley, in Oregon Journal)

The wildest, least explored, least inhabited, most inaccessible, most rugged and one of the most picturesque of counties in the entire United States is located in Oregon. Curry county, in the extreme southwestern corner of the state, like Wallawa county in the extreme northeast corner, is mountainous and picturesque. For every square mile cultivated there are 249 of virgin wilderness. In fact, with the exception of a fringe of farm land along the coast near Langlois, Denmark, Flores creek, Port Orford, Gold Beach, Brookings, Cheteo and near Agness, there is practically no cultivated land.

When you hear old settlers, packers and prospectors talk about Stone butte, Summit mountain, Old Round-top, Grouselouse mountain, Watches butte, Edison butte, Madden butte, Eight Mile Prairie mountain, Elephant Rock mountain, Mount Avery, Mount Butler, Lost Mule mountain, Copper mountain, Bald mountain, Panther mountain, Sawtooth mountain, Cedar Point, Humbug, Soldier camp, Potato, Illabe mountain, Seven Mile peak and a score of other well known landmarks, you begin to get an idea of the mountainous character of the district. It is not a district of amateur mountains either, for you will find along the Rogue as well as along the Illinois river, canyons so deep that the river far below looks like a bit of silk floss. In places you can look down from the precipitous sides of the bluffs for from 1500 to 3500 feet to the foaming water in the bottom of the rock-walled canyon.

In going to Curry county from Portland you go by rail to Coquille and from there to Bandon by boat on the Coquille river. From Bandon you go by auto or team down the coast to your destination in Curry county; for Curry county's solitudes have not as yet echoed to the whistle of the iron horse.

Shortly after crossing Bethel creek in Coos county you cross the county line and enter Curry county. Two miles south of the county line you come to Langlois, which is 16 miles from Bandon. Just below Langlois, Flores creek is crossed. In early days Fred Flore, a packer from Lieutenant Stoneman's exploring party fell into this creek and gave his name to Flores creek and Flores lake. Two and a half miles below Langlois lies Denmark, in Willow creek, 12 miles north of Port Orford. A cheese factory at Denmark furnishes a market to the settlers for their milk. Five miles beyond Denmark, Silver creek is crossed and a mile further south the celebrated Sixes river. Some very rich placer claims are located on Sixes river. Just opposite the mouth of Sixes river lies Castle rock, and to the north lies Tower rock, where looking southward you see Gull rock, and south of Gull rock you see the light-house on Cape Blanco, the most western point of land in the United States.

Crossing Indian creek, Garrison lagoon, you come to Port Orford. Port Orford dwells in one's memory like a painting by an old master. It is one of the most beautifully situated places on the whole Pacific coast. Battle rock lies in the foreground, where a group of white men in the early fifties were besieged by the Indians. They had on the rock an old smooth bore cannon, and having plenty of powder but no balls, they loaded the cannon with nails and met the charging Indians with a broadside of spikes and nails at close range which did terrible execution to the thickly crowded mass of Indians coming along the narrow trail to the summit of the rock.

Looking from "The Heads" at Port Orford toward Redfish rocks and Island rock, one has a singularly beautiful view of the ocean with the foam encircled rocks.

The road around Humbug mountain, just beyond Port Orford, is one of the most picturesque stretches along the coast. Euchre creek is crossed a few miles south of Corbin and 10 miles farther on lies Wedderburn, where Roderick Macleay has a salmon cannery and about 17,000 acres of land along the Rogue.

Just across the Rogue river is Gold Beach, the county seat of Curry county and its largest city. It has a population of 250. Brookings and Cheteo are not far from the California line.

More deer, bears cougars and bobcats are to be found in Curry county than in any other county in the west. Here you will see great tracts of Port Orford cedar as well as spruce, fir, hemlock, myrtle, oak and madrona. The county has over ten billion feet of standing, merchantable timber, besides gold, coal, copper, chrome iron, cobalt, cinnabar and platinum. Curry county is one of the treasure chests of the west.

Women Have Their Troubles
Not only middle-aged women, but younger ones, too, suffer from back-ache, pains in side, swollen ankles, sore muscles, rheumatic pains and kindred ailments without knowing that these are most often the result of deranged or overworked kidneys. FOUR MILE

By CLEM

Elmer Miller and Roy Jones left Monday to work at the sawmill north of Bullards.

S. J. Wilson spent Sunday at the home ranch.

Harry DeLong who is attending high school at Bandon, spent Saturday and Sunday at the paternal home.

The two ladies, Mrs. Mecum and Mrs. Smith, are visiting at Bullards for a few days.

Chas. Fox has just finished hauling a fine lot of hay which he purchased from up river parties.

A few more days will see the road makers at south Two Mile. This will be about the largest job on the whole contract and will probably take most of the winter.

Sylvester Summers was a caller at the Miller ranch Tuesday.

B. R. Taylor and uncle, Walt Laird, left Sunday morning for Los Angeles in the former's car. They will stop at Eureka and visit relatives enroute. Brant has been failing in health for some time and it was thought advisable to change to a warmer and dryer climate for a while. It is only hoped by his many friends that the change will be of benefit to him. He may rest assured that our very best regards will follow him where he goes; and furthermore we sincerely hope that we can have him again with us in his usual good health and hearty smile. Mrs. Taylor's brother, Harry Laird, will assume the duties of the ranch, which inclusive is a fine dairy herd. Harry has been with them all thru the season and is thoroughly competent to handle the proposition.

C. C. Carter of Myrtle Point is endeavoring to pick up a car load of beef cattle in this vicinity at the present writing.

The women and children for miles around are flocking to the Nordstrom cranberry marsh for the annual picking which commenced last Monday. It will probably take two weeks to harvest the crop.

SELECTING THE BOAR.

Dams Should Be Considered When Choosing Head of the Herd.

The time is at hand when all breeders and farmers will make their selection of a herd boar to use in their herd for their coming crop of spring pigs, writes a correspondent of the White Breeders' Gazette. Very careful consideration should be exercised in making this selection, as the herd boar is half the foundation of the herd.

Choose a boar that, to your judgment, will cross best with the dams which you have to breed. The large medium type has the preference among most breeders. The boar should be strong in points of breeding, have a masculine appearance with broad head and short jaw; strong, arched back, broad between legs and with good feet. The last point mentioned should be watched very carefully.

There will be a number of sales held this fall where the very best boars will be sold at public auction, and every breeder and farmer will have an opportunity to visit these sales and make his selection.

The price paid for a good herd boar should never be compared with the market price of hogs, but should be governed by the quality of the individual, and a hundred dollars or even more paid for a good boar will be every dollar well spent.

WHEN I SAW SWEET NELLIE HOME.

In the sky the bright stars glittered,
On the grass the moonlight fell;
Hushed the sound of daylight's bustle,
Closed the "pink eyed pimper-nell."
As down the mossgrown wood path,
Where the cattle love to roam,
From Aunt Patty's quilting party
I was seeing Nellie home.

When the autumn tinged the greenwood,
Turning all its leaves to gold;
In the lane by alders shaded,
I my love to Nellie told.
As we stood together gazing
On the star bespangled dome,
How I blessed the August evening
When I saw sweet Nellie home.

White hairs mingle with her tresses,
Furrows steal upon my brow,
But a love smile cheers and blossoms
Life's declining moments now;
Matron in thy snowy kerchief
Closer to my bosom come;
Tell me, dost thou still remember
When I saw sweet Nellie home?

WANTS THE BRIDGE BUILT

Coquille Sentinel Urges Citizens to Provide Necessary Site.

The Coquille Sentinel is urging the people of that place to provide a bridge site. It says: "When the County Court makes up its budget this year the three members of the court are pledged to appropriate $10,000 for 1918 with similar appropriations for the two years following, to build a bridge across the river at Coquille—providing a site for the landing on this side is furnished. This has not been done."

The Sentinel argues: "We have not the county court's word for it, but it is reasonable to suppose that if the council as a body appeared before the court and pledged to furnish a site when the county is prepared to begin construction, there would be no hesitation on the court's part in fulfilling their end of the agreement as regards the $10,000 appropriation. Another court might not feel themselves bound by their predecessor's promises."

Spurgeon's Orphanage.

Spurgeon's orphanage owes its origin to a letter received by Mr. Spurgeon in 1806 from Mrs. Hillyard offering him £20,000 to found a home for destitute orphan boys. Mr. Spurgeon was too amazed to believe this clergyman's widow's offer and called on her "to confer about the £200 she wished to place in his hands." But securities for £20,000 were soon handed over, and the orphanage came into being. The noble benefactor, Mrs. Hillyard, died in 1880. Her last words were, "My boys, my boys!"—London Telegraph.
