GETS SOLDIER-LOGGERS DAY POWER NOT TO BE DISCONTINUED

APPLICATION BANDON POWER COMPANY DENIED BUT RATES INCREASED

Public Service Commission Considers Detrimental Effect Discontinuance Would Have On Town and Believes It Unreasonable-Raise in Rates Amount to About 25 %

The Public Service Commission of Oregon, a representative of which recently conducted a hearing in Bandon on the application of the Bandon Power Co. to discontinue service during the daylight hours, has issued an order denying the application. crease in rates sufficient to meet operating expenses. while not affecting certain classes of amounts to practically a 25 per cent advance. The minimum charge for commercial or residence lighting which has been $1.00, is now $1.25 The new rates are already in effect, eginning with July 1.

Referring to the Company's appliation for the elimination of day service the Commission says:

'The power company has asked to e relieved from the necessity of giving service during the daylight hours and in support of the application the record shows that from an average expenditure for fuel and abor of roughly $400.00 per month, chargeable entirely to the service, an average monthly revenue of $175.00 is obtained. This operation results in a loss of $2,700.00 per year as the future secure employment in nearly as the amount can be directly computed without involved consideration of theoretical detail. The exact nonetary result of an adjustment of service to cover only the hours from dusk to dawn is uncertain.

'In considering such a reduction f service we have before us the fact hat the arrangement under normal conditions can be only a temporary ne inasmuch as there is now a demand for power service which should grow, at least gradually, and which we think, if the company is able to through men leaving their service. | will practically confiscate a consider-"However, should a company de-jable amount of equipment now inof both power and lighting services n addition such action would materally retard whatever potential posibility there may be for the development of a more extensive market and destroy the value of work already done in the development of existing power and appliance business. The Commission believes this highly undesirable in view of its probable detrimental effect upon the own and its citizens through certain infavorable reflection upon the comnercial and industrial activities and possibilites of the community. It has, therefore, been found unreasonable for the present at least to discontinue service during daylight hours and a emporary general increase and reisjon of rates has been decided upon. It is our opinion that such an increase applied temporarily will not mpose unjustly upon the customers and will arrest the mounting deficit of the utility and allow it to proceed ipon the plan already outlined."

Considering the material advance of all commodities and service broughout the country, and the deided advance in the cost of fuel here a raise of 25 per cent in the lighting and power service is considered nominal and should be met by all users with the same spirit that other advances in price are met.
