EMIGRATION FROM CANADA.

Three Years of Bad Business Discourage the People

There is a general alarm in Canada about the large increased emigration this spring from the Dominion to the United States. Three years of bad business and poor crops have completely discouraged a large element of the Canadian population.

Meanwhile news comes of increased wages and increased business in the states, which agents of the American and Canadian railway companies are using to the bag and baggage, for the United States. The number of deserted farms are something sports and bottles.

They are offering $25 for 3-year-old steers, $15 for cows and from $8 to $12 for yearlings. All the stock men of that region have formed a pool and stand out for higher prices. Pendleton buyers higher prices. Pendleton buyers have recently been in that neigh-borhood and have paid as high as $28 for ordinary weight cows. Recent rains have put a different com-plexion on the live stock proposi-tion and owners are feeling greatly encouraged.

name is the Port Townsend gentleman who is promoting the proposed sale of Portland's entire electric railway to an English syndicate. Despite the era of depression through which the country is struggling, and in the face of a pro-nounced timidity on the part of foreign capital when confronted by American bids for investment, this active Washingtonian has almost completed the details of a deal which shall transfer about $3,000,-000 of British money to American hands. To do that in the best of times would be something of a feat, but to do it while the value of all kinds of American securities is threatened with impariment by the silver craze is a remarkable achievement. Mr. Lively says that the English capitalists with whom he is negotiating have long had an eye on the Pacific Northwest and are anxious to find safe investments here, and that the Portland street railway deal is the largest of several projects for the outlay of Oregon industries of a total of $5,000,-000. He expects to return from the east in a few weeks with a couple of the men whose money he is seeking, and it is hoped that when they arrive here the silvermaniacs and other brakes upon the local wheel of progress will muzzle them-selves until the transfer is complet-ed. Athena liquor men are on the qui vive, and the reasons for it comes about through the actions of a prominent saloon keeper of this city. Alex McKay who runs the popular resort on Main and 3rd streets petitioned the city council, at their regular meeting Monday night, to protect him in his business from parties selling liquor in less quantities than one quart, without a license from the city council giving them the right to do

The council instructed the city marshal to investigate, and thus the matter now stands. No names were mentioned in the petition but it is alleged that a person who wishes to imbibe of spirits furmenti, in less quantities than a barrel, gallon or even a quart can do the same at more than one place in town, without going over muddy cross-walks to the saloon on the Parties who claim to know are of the opinion that McKay will get the worst of it from those who are interested in the liquor question, if he follows the matter up. The prevailing opinion seems to be on the side of McKay, who pays a license quarterly to the city for the privilege of selling liquor, runs an orderly house and merely asks the city council for the protection that is justly due him.
