

WILL KILL HORSES

H. A. BARRETT WILL LOOK AFTER MANGEY EQUINES.

Has Authority From State Domestic Animal Commission to Look After Horses Here.

Dr. J. Christie, deputy state veterinary surgeon and member of the state domestic animal commission, was in the city Tuesday, and while here, vested in H. A. Barrett the power to act for the state in cases where mangey horses are reported to him.

Owners of horses afflicted with this disease will, when it is possible, be notified to dip them, the cost of which will be paid by the state. If owners cannot be found, or do not dip the animals as required by the commission, then they are to be killed. These stringent measures are found necessary, inasmuch as range stock and Indian cayuses, in all stages of the disease, are permitted to run at large, and, coming in contact with valuable horses, transmit the affliction. The disease has grown to such proportions as to become an epidemic in some sections of Eastern Oregon, and the state is forced to take action in the matter.

Mr. Barrett yesterday disposed of three stray horses in the Geer Spring neighborhood that were afflicted with mange, and which had been running at large all winter.

BANK SETTLES

Compromises Suits Brought Against It By Depositors.

On the basis of 50 cents on the dollar, says the Tribune, the suits of Antone Vey and Joseph Vey against the First National Bank of Pendleton, have been settled out of court, also the case of Joseph Mack against the bank on the same basis, and Susie Marine against the bank, in full. The other cases will probably be settled out of court, although it is not known at present whether the claimants will accept the compromise offered by the bank. Up to last night the other cases had not been settled.

The plaintiffs were depositors of the First National bank who lost money through the failure of C. B. Wade, deposited cash. As was published in the morning paper a month or more ago the bank has been willing to compromise these suits. It has always been inclined to pay the depositors some per cent of the amounts lost, but the terms of settlement were not agreed upon until this week. The bank, individually, is a heavy loser on account of the dealings of Wade, but is willing that the depositors who were fleeced by Wade, during his term as cashier of the institution, should not lose the entire amounts. One of the attorneys stated just the other day that L. V. Ankeny was loser to the extent of $200,000.

FOR RACE MEET

To Be in Walla Walla May 25, 26, 27 and 28.

Five harness events are a certainty at the spring meet of the Walla Walla County Fair association May 25, 26, 27 and 28, and if the attendance justifies there will be one or two more. The program has been arranged and is as follows:

Free for all, pace or trot, purse, $200.
Three-year-old, trot; purse, $150.
2:30 pace or trot; purse $200.
Three-year-old, pace; purse, $150.
2:15 trot; purse, $200.

The races will be in half mile heats the best three out of five. Entries for the harness events will close May 10.

In addition to the trots and paces, three running matches will occur each day, the purses amounting to $2,000 in the aggregate. Entries for the run will close each evening preceding the race.

DEMOCRATS MASS MEETING

Large Turnout of Representative Members of the Party in Pendleton.

Pendleton, April 6.—The democratic mass meeting at the court house which was called for last evening, was attended by over a hundred representatives of the party who had gathered to help make preparations for the primaries in Pendleton.

Colonel Raley, in the absence of the chairman of the central committee, called the meeting to order and stated its object to be the selection of a number of nominees who should be put before the primaries on Thursday as possible delegates to the county convention. It was decided by the meeting that the residents of the different precincts divide into groups for the nomination of precinct tickets.

Each precinct then caucused and went to work on their representation, and in a short time came in with their reports, which were presented to the meeting as a whole, and sanctioned. In all of the precincts with the exception of south Pendleton, more nominees were named than delegates required, in order that the voters at the primaries could have some choice. The democratic leaders did not think that it would be conducive to harmony and satisfaction in the party that they put out an iron-bound slate, which the voter must put in the box or leave alone. The action of the meeting was therefore made as open as possible, so that there could be no dissatisfaction.

ONTARIO'S FISH HATCHERY

With Annual Product of 25,000,000 Chinook Salmon.

The state of Oregon owns and operates the largest fish hatchery in the world. It is located at Ontario, Malheur county, on the Snake river, and is now turning out its first batch of young salmon.

About 25,000,000 young Royal Chinook salmon, or sixteen times as many as are annually caught in the Columbia river, will be turned loose at Ontario this spring. The fish are now scarcely more than an inch long and they will go down the Snake and Columbia rivers and out into the Pacific ocean, where they will grow to maturity. Four or five years hence many of them will return, weighing on an average thirty pounds each, and worth to the fisherman five cents a pound. If only one of every twenty returns, the hatchery will more than keep up the supply of salmon.

Sheep in Hudson Bay.

W. S. Goodman, an extensive sheep-raiser and stockman of the Hudson Bay country, has just finished lambing with his herd of 3,000 head, and says he had good success. Next month he will begin shearing and expects to gather wool from 3,000 head. Mr. Goodman reports that his sheep fared exceptionally well during the winter, notwithstanding the fact that his band was permitted to run loose on the range the greater portion of the time.
