IT'S THE MILWAUKEE

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE AT CHICAGO.

Puget Sound Extension Adopted and a Double North Bank Track to Portland.

The secret of the Wallula Pacific railroad's intentions are made public in an announcement which comes from Chicago.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company the board formally authorized the building of the St. Paul extension to the Pacific Coast from Everts, S. D., to Seattle and Tacoma. It is specified in the official announcement that the work of construction is to begin forthwith.
It is estimated that the cost will be about $50,000,000.

It was announced at the close of the meeting that as yet no plans had been determined on for financing the project.
This matter, in all probability, will be decided upon at a meeting of the executive committee. It is understood that an issue of convertible bonds has been under consideration, but that there is no likelihood of an increase in the road's capital stock, about $25,000,000 of which is still un-issued.

Preparations already have been made for the incorporation of a new railroad company from Everts, which, however, will be entirely financed by the St. Paul.

While all the details of the route have not been decided on, the line will run toward the Rocky mountains through Lolo pass and ultimately connecting at Wallula, Wash., the terminus of the recently incorporated Pacific railroad, which runs to that point from Seattle.

The Oregonian says: "It has been stated on this seems to be authentic information that the Northern Pacific will construct a double track down the north bank of the Columbia river from Wallula, Wash., into Portland.
Over this line trains of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul will run under a trackage agreement. This plan fills in the last link in the chain of the projected Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul extensions, as announced from New York yesterday, which outlined in a general way the course of the road as far west as Wallula, but made no mention of the route further toward the coast."

TREASURE ISLAND.

Company Has Been Formed In Seattle to Hunt for Hidden Riches.

Millions are involved in a treasure search to be instituted by a company which has just organized at Seattle.
The company is known as the Cocos Island Hydraulic and Treasure company and has been incorporated under the laws of the state of Washington.
The incorporators are Captain Fred Hackett, of Vancouver, B. C.; John W. Lamarr, James A. Steele and Samuel E. Squires. Their object is to recover the lost Peruvian millions.
A rich reward is offered to the man who invests in the stock of the company, according to the incorporators' statements. For every $100 invested the confiding "sucker" is to receive $32,000 in real money, according to them. The company expects to find just $32,000,000 altogether. They expect to find all this money along the coast of Central and South America on Cocos Island. The Cocos Island proposition was started in 1821, when a Spanish galleon started out in the Pacific Ocean, was overhauled by the British man-of-war Devonshire, which was then a pirate. After the treasure was taken off the ill fated Spanish vessel it was buried on Cocos Island, and there it is still supposed to be.

The company expects to uncover this treasure in a short time. The other part of the millions was the property of Peru, and during the Chilian war it was taken on board a vessel and later transferred to another vessel which stole it. The treasure was buried on Cocos Island, which is supposed to be a great place to bury treasure. Those who buried the stolen treasure were killed by the Peruvians, but one man by some miraculous manner got away. He was followed all over the world by Peruvians, who wanted his death blood. A man named Keating helped him out of a scrape and to him was told the secret of the island. This man made two trips to the island, according to the story, and brought back plenty of money. This money was left with Thomas Hackett, the brother of the man who is organizing the company.

Captain Hackett says he has been on the island but the exact place is buried under a landslide. This is where the hydraulic part of the company is to help them get the treasure.

Several expeditions have been sent to the island by interested people, but the treasure is as illusive as Captain Kidd's.

Begin Next Week.

After consulting with Judge W. B.
Gilbert of the United States circuit court at Portland, it was partially arranged that Judge Wolverton should begin his duties as United States district judge early next week, probably by Tuesday or Wednesday, as there is a heavy grist of business awaiting him. He has said that he will not appoint a new clerk of his court until after his confirmation by the senate, and perhaps not for some little time thereafter. He will probably join in handing down several decisions by the supreme court next Monday and partly clear up the pending cases.
