REVIVING THE EXAMINER.

Hearst Rushes a Trainload of Supplies Across the Continent.

In order to re-establish the San Francisco Examiner at the earliest possible moment, William Randolph Hearst is rushing a trainload of material across the continent to the Pacific coast. His cars are being run on express train time and the material, consisting of the necessary equipment to install a complete, modern plant, cost over $500,000.

On the Overland Limited last night W. P. Leach, one of the business managers of the Chicago American, passed through Cheyenne with a party of electricians and expert machinists, says Sunday's Cheyenne Tribune. Part of the equipment of the train was one car filled with linotypes and electrical and stereotyping machinery. On another train are three additional cars loaded with perfecting presses and machinery, accompanied by 10 experts. In speaking of the feat being attempted by Hearst to publish a newspaper in a new plant in the destroyed city before the fire now raging has been extinguished, Mr. Leach said:

"Wednesday morning as soon as we heard of the magnitude of the San Francisco fire and that the plant of the Examiner was doomed, acting under orders from Mr. Hearst, we commenced preparations for the republication of the paper in San Francisco. We spent a day in buying new machinery and material that will be required in the publication of a paper.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

621 1/2 Congress St. Portland, Maine, Oct. 17, 1902. I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any medicine I ever used and I have never spoken of myself as cured for six months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Wilhelmina Somers
Treasurer, Portland Economic League

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

WINE OF GARDUI
