Uncertainty of Life.
"Young man," said the clerical-looking passenger, addressing the beardless individual across the aisle, "do you ever consider when you lie down at night that you may never see the sun rise again?"

"No," replied the party at whom the query had been fired, "can't say that I do; but every morning when I wake up I realize that I may not live to see another sunset."

"You do?" queried the surprised c. l. p.

"I do," answered the young man. "You see, I'm a baseball umpire."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

TERRIBLE TO RECALL.

Five Weeks in Bed With Intensely Painful Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Mary Wagner, of 1367 Kossuth Ave., Bridgeport, Conn., says: "I was so weakened and generally run down with kidney disease that for a long time I could not do my work and was five weeks in bed. There was continual bearing down pain, terrible backaches, headaches and at times dizzy spells when everything was a blur before me. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and painful, and there was considerable sediment and odor. I don't know what I would have done but for Doan's Kidney Pills. I could see an improvement from the first box, and five boxes brought a final cure."

TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unredeemed.

RELIGION never wears out by work. Fair-weather flowers find no firmness. He who fears God does not sneer at men. The cramped heart cannot contain the Christ. The craven is the first to cry "Coward!" Programs of work must wait for power. To withhold from God is to cheat yourself. Lasting glory is wrought out in dull grinding. Better steal a man's goods than his highest hopes. Public generosity cannot wipe out private greed. Many pitchers have little ears and large mouths. He who does right to-day is ready for to-morrow. God takes nothing from us save for our enriching. To have faith in men is to help them to be faithful. He who opens his heart to the best always finds it. God coming to man means man becoming like God. No man can serve in public who will not toll in secret. The tinge of sorrow gives edge to the sweetness of joy. Do your work and your worth will take care of itself. Satan fears nothing more than a cheerful consecration. It takes more than sense of superiority to make a saint. To help men to see God you must see them through Him. Those who know Him as Jesus will not fear Him as Judge. Be a whole man—not legs or arms, or stomach or shoulders, or even a head—but be a whole man.

AS TO ANIMAL SUICIDES.

Scientists Say the Common Belief is Not Founded on Truth.

The supposed suicide of animals raises a subtle problem, and to deny it is to fly in the face of deep-rooted popular belief. It is just as much a natural history myth, however, as the hoary-headed belief in the adder swallowing its young in time of peril, the toad living in a stone and producing thousands of years of the germinating powers of mummy wheat. The most ancient fable de se verdict of the mythmongers relates to the habit of scorpions digging their stings into their heads when unable to escape from fire. Experiments have proved the fallacy of the scorpion's suicide, notably those carried out some years ago by Dr. E. Ray Lankester, director of the natural history department of the British Museum, and Professor Bourne of Madras. Scorpions were confined in an extremely hot place from which escape was impossible and their frantic gymnastics were carefully studied with serene and philosophic complacency. As in the case of the tortured rattlesnake biting its own body, the action of the scorpion in an apparent attempt to put an end to its sufferings by stinging its head was purely muscular, and Dr. Lankester himself compared the action to the biting of the dust attributed to men who die in hand-to-hand struggles or to the biting of their own hand or arm by unhealthy children in a paroxysm of anger. That animals bring about their own deaths by violent and abnormal actions is certain, but if all the contributory causes could be ascertained it would probably be found that they did so under the pressure of some torturing pain producing hysterical madness.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Resourceful.

"That's a pretty big squash," remarked Senator Clark, while gazing on an Indian Territory specimen. "It reminds me of a big squash that was to have been exhibited at one of the county fairs back home. The man that raised it was an enterprising fellow, and he had found out in some way that by feeding milk to a squash vine tremendous squashes could be raised. So he raised this one, and it was a whopper. He had to drive a long way to town over rough roads, and unfortunately in unloading the squash, it dropped to the ground and burst. What was the owner's surprise to find that the milk which had accumulated in the squash had been churned into butter. He was a resourceful man, so he entered the butter among the dairy exhibits and took a prize with that. You can't keep some men down."

Needless Expense.

In a certain town in the north of England recently, an old couple were driving down a steep hill in their cart. Somehow the horse was started, and it set off at full gallop down the hill. This terrified the old lady, who said to her husband: "Oh, John, I'd give a sovereign to be out of this!" "Keep your money in your pocket; that'll be out for nothing in a minute," replied her husband—and she was—Pearson's Weekly.

More than Likely.

John Kendrick Bangs was discussing in a New York club a case of plagiarism, says the New York Tribune. "The man admitted that plagiarism was suspected of him," said Mr. Bangs smiling. "He almost admitted it was proved. He reminded me of a Youkers boy I used to know. "This boy said to his chum one morning: "I hid under the parlor sofa last night to hear what young Softleigh would say to my sister." "Well, what did he say?" the other boy asked. "He only talked religion and politics, and he kicked me about thirty times on the head." "He knew you were there, I guess," said the second boy. "I'm afraid he suspected it!"

Delicacy of Frenchmen

Undoubtedly Frenchmen have the most delicate way of expressing themselves," said a New York woman to a group of friends at tea. "I have just had the oddest little encounter with a man who looked as if he had just arrived here, his clothes were so unmistakably Parisian. I was walking in Broadway when I saw him coming. To my surprise, as he was a stranger to me, he stopped, put his heels together and, taking off his hat, made a low bow. "Pardon, mademoiselle," said he, "your breath skirt descends." Making again the same elaborate bow, he passed on. I looked down and saw that my silk petticoat was showing just a little below the outside skirt. Had an American man noticed it, he would have felt embarrassment about mentioning it; or, if he had the courage, he never would have been able to think of such a delicate way of making that bit of a misfit known to me."—New York Press.

A Patient Snake.

One does not often attribute the virtue of patience to a snake. "Letters from a Surgeon," however, contains an anecdote in which its existence is evident. Doctor Perry, surgeon of the Twentieth Massachusetts, awakened in camp one morning to find himself tightly held in the clutch of Doctor Hayward, his senior officer. "Don't move, John, till I say three!" ordered the senior, sharply. "Then seize my hands and spring to your feet. One, two, three!"

A Literary Prize.

The largest amount ever offered as a prize for a literary contribution is 1,500,000 rubles, which is still open for competition and will be awarded at St. Petersburg on Dec. 1, 1925, to the writer of the best history of Alexander I. of Russia. Arakcheyev, founder of the military colonies of Novgorod, left a fortune of 50,000 gold rubles to provide for this unique prize. The prize giving day is the centenary of the czar Alexander's death, by which time the money will, it is estimated, have increased to 2,000,000 rubles. One-fourth of it will be used to defray the cost of publishing the work which wins the prize.

Barbers Ages Ago.

The first barbers of whom there is any record plied their trade in Greece in the fifth century B. C. In Rome the first barbers operated in the third century B. C. In olden times in England the barber and the physician were identical. Thus, a king's barber was also his chief medical adviser. In the time of Henry VIII, of England, laws were made concerning barbers, of which the following is an extract: "No person occupying a shaving or barbery in London shall use any surgery, letting of blood or other matter, except the drawing of teeth."

Always to be Depended Upon.

When a person gets up in the morning with a dull headache and a tired, stretchy feeling, it is an almost certain indication that the liver, or bowels or both are decidedly out of order. At such times Nature, the wisest and best of all doctors, takes this means to give warning that she needs the help and gentle assistance which can best be obtained from that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills, which has been in use for over a century. They are the same fine laxative tonic pills your grand aunts used, when doctors were few and far between and when people had to have a remedy that could absolutely be depended upon. Brandreth's Pills can be depended upon and are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.

Salt as a Dust Layer.

Salt is the latest device for laying dust on roads in the country. The author of the new departure is M. Trintzsch, city surveyor of Rouen, who has published it as the result of a long series of experiments. The list of these, while bringing out the weak side of the new system, possesses considerable interest as showing it to possess real possibilities of utility. A long stretch of road was first watered and then sprinkled with salt. The next day the surface of the road was covered with a thin glazed crust. Rain removed this in parts, but where the glaze remained there was no dust for five days.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

Whenever a sore refuses to heal it is because the blood is not pure and healthy, as it should be, but is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which has corrupted and polluted the circulation. Those most usually afflicted with old sores are persons who have reached or passed middle life. The vitality of the blood and strength of the system have naturally begun to decline, and the poisonous germs which have accumulated because of a sluggish and inactive condition of the system, or some hereditary taint which has hitherto been held in check, now force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body. The place grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding tissue until it becomes a chronic and stubborn ulcer, fed and kept open by the impurities with which the blood is saturated. Nothing is more trying and disagreeable than a stubborn, non-healing sore. The very fact that it resists ordinary remedies and treatments is good reason for suspicion; the same germ-producing cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble is an inherited one. Washes, salves, nor indeed anything else, applied directly to the sore, can do any permanent good; neither will removing the sore with caustic plasters or the surgeon's knife make a lasting cure. If every particle of the diseased flesh were taken away another sore would come, because the trouble is in the blood, and the BLOOD CANNOT BE CUT AWAY. The cure must come by a thorough cleansing of the blood. In S. S. S. will be found a remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It is an unequalled blood purifier—one that goes directly into the circulation and promptly cleanses it of all poisons and taints. It gets down to the very bottom of the trouble and forces out every trace of impurity and makes a complete and lasting cure. S. S. S. changes the quality of the blood so that instead of feeding the diseased parts with impurities, it nourishes the irritated, inflamed flesh with healthy blood. Then the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, all pain and inflammation leaves, the place scabs over, and when S. S. S. has purified the blood the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores. Write for our special book on sores and ulcers and any other medical advice you desire. We make no charge for the book or advice.

I was afflicted with a sore on my face of four years' standing. It was a small pimple at first but it gradually grew larger and worse in every way until I became alarmed about it and consulted several physicians. They all treated me but the sore continued to grow worse. I saw S. S. S. advertised and commenced its use and after taking it a while I was completely cured. My blood is now pure and healthy from the effect of S. S. S., and there has not been any sign of the sore since S. S. S. cured it.

Ancient Coffins.

The coffins of the ancient Egyptians were made of marble and stone. The Romans used similar receptacles for their dead, and Alexander the Great is said to have been buried in a coffin of solid gold. In parts of England glass coffins have been found. The Athenian heroes were buried in coffins made of cedar, owing to its aromatic and incorruptible qualities, while the first record of wooden coffins in England dates back to the days of King Arthur. This monarch was supposed to have been buried in the hollowed trunk of a gigantic oak. Patent coffins were invented in 1796, and metallic airtight coffins were advertised at Birmingham in 1801.
