We Trust Doctors

If you are suffering from impure blood, thin blood, debility, nervousness, exhaustion, you should begin at once with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the Sarsaparilla you have known all your life. Your doctor knows it, too. Ask him about it.

You must look well after the condition of your liver and bowels. Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia, and thus preventing the Sarsaparilla from doing its best work. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. Act gently, all vegetable. The dose is only one pill at bedtime.

HIS CAUSE FOR SUICIDE.

Chinese Servant Declared His Mistress' Slaying Was Too Much.

Queer is the story related of a Chinese man servant, who declares that he prefers death itself to the infliction of hearing his mistress, who is described as a lyric artist, practicing her songs, morning, noon and night. And, odd to relate, this particular heathen seems to be sincere, as he has really made several attempts on his life, and even, after his last vain endeavor, repeated his resolution to die rather than be condemned to listen to strains which he regards as anything but dulcet. Evidently the lyric art has no charms for him. This eccentric individual was brought to Europe by the lady's husband a year ago, but it is only recently that he developed this inveterate dislike to her music. Last month, it is said, he concocted a sort of poison and made himself sick with it, but the result went no further. Then he tried opium, but awoke apparently none the worse from a phenomenal spell of sleep.

As poisons and drugs were powerless in helping him to carry out his project of shuffling off the mortal coil, the Chinese man servant decided on trying more active measures. One morning he took up his position on the balcony of the house inhabited by the family which courts the muses and, after taking a last look, as he imagined, at the busy scene around him, he flung himself into space. It so chanced that a motor car was coming along. On the top of the automobile reposed a box containing a provision of tires and, as luck would have it, the Chinese tumbled in among them and they broke his fall so that he got off without a shock. But such an acrobatic exhibition, even from a representative of the Celestial Empire, was not relished by the occupants of the motor car, who protested so vigorously against this peculiar addition to their company that the whole party were soon on their way to the police station. The luckless Chinese failed to make himself understood, and something like a deadlock would have been the result if the lyric artist had not appeared to claim him.

This was the third time within a month that he had tried to put an end to his days, and she insisted on knowing the reason. Then the man servant found his tongue, and in broken French replied, before the officials and the automobile set, "All want to know. I die or hook it." Prompt measures are being taken for the restoration of this hopeless Chinese to his native land.—London Telegraph.

There Are Others.
Don't imagine, my boy, if you throw up your job
That the firm that employs you will fail.
That the whole office force in their anguish will sob
And the senior partner turn pale.
You are highly efficient and active and bright—
So you say. I'm unwilling to doubt you;
But the chance of all this is incredibly slight.
There are plenty of others without you.

Don't get mad with the girl, and to make her feel bad
Fall to go for your usual call.
It's the truth, though I know it sounds awfully sad,
That she never may miss you at all.
It's a mighty poor policy staying away,
Though I grant that at times she may frown you,
But I know that I'm in a position to say
There are plenty of others without you.

Don't get soured on the world and do anything rash.
Not to speak of the good of your soul,
If you jump in the lake you may make a small splash,
But you'll never leave much of a hole.
Don't expect folks to make such a terrible fuss
When they think very little about you,
And, to use common language, aren't caring a cuss.
There are plenty of others without you.—Chicago News.

Opposition to Trousers.
The modern custom of wearing trousers was taken from the military dress introduced into the army by the Duke of Wellington during the Peninsular war, says Chambers' Journal.

In early days these were known as "Wellington trousers" after the duke. When they were coming into general use at the commencement of the nineteenth century the religious world and the fashionable were most determined in their opposition. A clause in the original trust deed, dated 1820, of Sheffield Nonconformist chapel provided that "under no circumstances whatever shall any preacher be allowed to occupy the pulpit who wears trousers."

But this was not all. Some doubts were expressed in many quarters concerning the question whether a man could be religious and appear in trousers. One of the founders of the primitive Methodist body remarked to a colleague in the ministry "that trousers wearing, beer drinking, so-and-so will never get to heaven."
Father Reece, a famous Methodist minister, twice president of the conference (born in 1705, died in 1850), could not be induced to adopt trousers, and among the Methodists was the last to follow popular fashion in this respect.

Don't Mention It.
"Pop!"
"Yes, my son."
"What is a non-de-plume?"
"Why, it's a man's pen name, my boy."
"Well, pop, that's not the name you call your fountain pen when it won't work!"—Yonkers Statesman.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

NO LIMIT TO ITS POWERS FOR EVIL

Contagious Blood Poison has brought more suffering, misery and humiliation to the world than all other diseases combined; there is hardly any limit to its powers for evil. It is the blackest and vilest of all disorders, wrecking the lives of those unfortunate enough to contract it and often being transmitted to innocent offspring, a blighting legacy of suffering and shame. So highly contagious is the trouble that innocent persons may contract it by using the same table ware, toilet articles or clothing of one in whose blood the treacherous virus has taken root. Not only is it a powerful poison but a very deceptive one. Only those who have learned by bitter experience know by the little sore or ulcer, which usually makes its appearance first, of the suffering which is to follow. It comes in the form of ulcerated mouth and throat, unsightly copper colored spots, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, offensive sores and ulcers on the body, and in severe cases the finger nails drop off, the bones become diseased, the nervous system is shattered and the sufferer becomes an object of pity to his fellow man. Especially is the treacherous nature of Contagious Blood Poison, shown when the infected person endeavors to combat the poison with mercury and potash. These minerals will drive away all outward symptoms of the troubles for a while, and the victim is deceived into the belief that he is cured. When, however, the treatment is left off he finds that the poison has only been driven deeper into the blood and the disease reappears, and usually in worse form because these strong minerals have not only failed to remove the virus from the blood but have weakened the entire system because of their destructive action. S. S. S. is the only real and certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. It is made of a combination of healing blood-purifying roots, herbs and barks, the best in Nature's great laboratory of forest and field. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and by cleansing the blood of every particle of the virus and adding rich, healthful qualities to this vital fluid, forever cures this powerful disorder. So thoroughly does S. S. S. cleanse the circulation that no signs of the disease ever seen again, and offspring is protected.
