OUTSIDE THE FENCE.

Garden Makes Many Friends for the Gardener.

"The violet is a modest flower, ain't it?" The lady kneeling on the grass started and rose, and dividing the freshly gathered bunch of violets in her hand, offered half to the small girl, clinging like a limpet to the fence, whose longing eyes begged for them.

"And I hope teacher will be pleased," she said. "Why-ee!" marveled the child.

"How'd you know I wanted 'em for teacher?" "Oh, I just guessed," said the lady, laughing.

"But it was easy," she told a friend afterward; "It often is. Teacher's influence on the infant mind and vocabulary is specially in evidence since the day of nature study and school gardens came in; and then, there always have been the poets, and 'speaking pieces' in school. Only the other day a little freckle-nosed boy was fascinated by my long row of crimson tulipa. He hung on the gate a long while in fascinated silence, and then:

"'Gee! Them are flowers!' he broke out, adding pensively, 'Spring brings all things beautiful."

"Spring certainly does, and the violet really is a modest flower; but the ed in the same gay tulips from a different standpoint. "'All them grew up out'n a teenty seed,' he informed me, importantly, over the fence.

"'Most flowers do,' I agreed, 'but not these. These came out of a bulb.'

"'Nope. They got ter come out'n a seed. Teacher said so,' he insisted. There was one stray tulip out of line, and with a scoop of my trowel I lifted it, bulb and all,

"Take that to teacher, and she'll explain,' I told him. "He did, and she did; for next day he sang out as he passed: "'You was right, but teacher was only you don't.' "The children pass my garden in troops-there are two schools not far away. Keen eyes watch and praise my succession of bloom, and shy little visitors have learned that when they ask for flowers for nature study or the drawing class, I will not begrudge my best; and bunches of my simpler, more abundant blossoms go often, clutched in eager hands, carrying-I hope she knows-a double message of friendly greeting to 'teacher.' A garden is a great maker of friends-even outside the fence."-Youth's Companion.

THEN CAME THE SHARK.

Hard Luck of a Fisherman Who Had Caught Thirty-Three Weakfish. Weakfish have been plentiful of late in the waters hereabours and fishermen have had fine sport catching them, but hard luck came the other day to one ngler in Gravesend Bay after he had caught thirty-three, says the New York

He was fishing from a small boat, and as fast as he drew the weakfish in he would string them through the gills on a line which he kept hanging over the side of the boat down in about six feet of water, where the water was cool and the fish would keep well. It was certainly good fishing, but just after he had let the thirty-third weakfish slide down to the bunch and made the line fast inboard and started fishing again he felt the boat settle on that side over which the bunch was hang-

Something in the water was pulling on the bunch of weakfish down below. The fisherman grabbed the line and began hauling in promptly, but what with the weight of the fish and that strong added pull on the other end the line parted in his hands, and the next moment he got a glimpse of a five-foot shark making off with his bunch of weakfish.

The shark had selzed upon one of the lower fishes in the bunch and now. as it began, with the line broken, to move away, weakfish began to appear on the surface in the shark's wake, fishes that worked loose as the shark swam, and slipped up and off the free end of the line. As, with the bunch decreasing and so much less weight in it to haul, the shark made faster progress, the fishes came up farther and farther apart, but still you could trace the shark's course out to sea, with one of the fisherman's weakfish in its teeth, by that irregular line of weakfish slipping off the cord and coming to the surface as it fled.

Playthings of Ancient Children.

The most primitive toy is the doll. It dates back to prehistoric times and is found in every part of the world. This one would naturally expect to find. A child, seeing its mother nursing other younger children, would imitate the example with an improvised doll. Toy weapons, again, are older than history. Many of the other toys at present in use date from the earliest times of which we have any record. In the tombs of the ancient Egyptians, along with painted dolls having movable limbs, have been found marbles, leather covered bells, elastic balls and marionettes moved by strings, Ancient Greek tombs furnish clay dolls, toy horses and wooden carts and ships. In the Louvre there are some Greco-Roman dolls of terra cotta with movable joints fastened by wires. Greek babies had rattles. Greek boys played with whipping tops. So did the boys in ancient Rome,

When people are in trouble about all their friends do for them is to say "It's too bad!"

For the Children

To succeed these days you must have plenty of grit, courage, strength. How is it with the children? Are they thin, pale, delicate? Do not forget Aver's Sarsaparilla. You know it makes the blood pure and rich, and builds up the general health in every way. The children cannot possibly have good health unless the bowels are in proper condition. A sluggish liver gives a conted tongue, bad breath, constipated bowels. Correct all these by giving small laxative doses of Ayer's Pills. All vegetable, sugar-coated.

Brought to Terms. In the Drayton household it is said that the father of the family has a way of presenting alternatives to his children that never fails to bring them into line. "I wish you would speak to Bobby," said Mrs. Drayton one night. "I've told him to take his medicine and then jump into bed, and he won't do it. He just hops round, and says he doesn't want to take the medicine and he doesn't want to go to bed!"

Mr. Drayton stepped to the door of Bobby's room, and stood there, tall, grace and impressive.

"Bobby," he said, firmly, "if you don't take your medicine at once and then jump into bed, you will be put to bed, do you hear me, put to bed, without having your medicine at all!" Upon which Bobby, alarmed and confused, swallowed his alloted portion and meekly retired for the night.

Why Safety Matches Strike on Glass. There are two reasons why ordinary safety matches can be struck on smooth glass. The head of the safety match is composed of a mixture of sulphide of antimony, chlorate of potassium and powdered glass. A comparatively small increase of temperature will cause this to ignite. Now, giass is a bad conductor of heat, and the rapid passage of the substance over it raises the temperature of that substance sufficiently for that purpose When the glass is rough the friction crumbles away the loosely combined mixture before the temperature rises to the point of ignition; hence, given the composition of the match head, the two circumstances which answer the question are the comparative smoothness of the glass and its imperfect conductivity of heat,

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

It is perfectly natural to rub the spot that hurts, and when the muscles nerves, joints and bones are throbbing and twitching with the pains of Rheumatism the sufferer is apt to turn to the liniment bottle, or some other external application, in an effort to get relief from the disease, by producing counter-irritation on the flesh. Such treatment will quiet the pain temporarily, but can have no direct curative effect on the real disease because it does not reach the blood, where the cause is located. Rheumatism is more than skin deep—it is rooted and grounded in the blood and can only be reached by constitutional treatment-IT CANNOT BE RUBBED AWAY. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural avenues of bodily waste, the Bowels and Kidneys, have failed to carry off. This refuse matter, coming in contact with the different acids of the body, forms uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. The aches and pains are only symptoms, and though they may be scattered or relieved for a time by surface treatment, they will reappear at the first exposure v. cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or other irregularity. Rheumatism can never be permanently cured while the circulation remains saturated with irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. The disease will shift from muscle to muscle or joint to joint, settling on the nerves, causing inflammation and swelling and such terrible pains that the nervous system is often shattered, the health undermined, and perhaps the patient becomes deformed and crippled for life. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. It warms and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly deposit-ing acrid and corrosive matter in the museles, nerves, joints and bones, the body is fed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of both purifying and tonic properties—just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. It contains no potash, alkali or other mineral ingredient, but is made entirely of purifying, healing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks. If you are suffering from Rheumatism do not waste valuable time trying to rub a blood disease away, but begin the use of S. S. S. and write us about your case and our physicians will give you any information or advice desired free of charge and will send our special treatise on Rheumatism.
