CALL THE OSTEOPATH

The Treatment is Very Successful In the Most Severe Cases and Forms of LaGrippe.

S;aking of osteopathic treatment it is a frequent thing to hear some one say: "Well, I can see how Osteopathy gets such splendid results in rheumatism, paralysis, constipation and other chronic troubles; that is all logical enough; but to see how it can affect a fever is beyond me."

Now, the best argument in favor of Osteopathy in acute cases, is a practical demonstration, as that seldom fails to satisfy and convince; but any thinking person can readily see, if he will discuss the matter, the justification of our claim in acute forms of sickness.

Few will read this who have not experienced perhaps the disagreeable symptoms of la grippe—the wretched headache, the backache, the aching all over the body, the utter inability to assume any one position for more than three minutes without having to change to see if some other position will better relieve that constant aching—that miserable "grippy" feeling. Then there is the flushing of the face, and the chilly feeling running all through the system, even while you are hugging the stove or register, or "having mother heap on more covers."

But it is useless to recall the symptoms, we cannot forget them—so let us see the cause of all this misery, passing by what may have brought on the sickness to note the conditions of the body.

Every muscle in the neck and back is contracted; drawn tense every muscle is congested; the blood has ceased adequately to perform its function of carrying off the detritus, or waste material, of the muscle tissue; this all remains in the sluggish, congested area as poison.

No wonder, then, that the nerves which ramify these muscles like net work should ache and refer their troubles to the spinal cord and head, for they are cramped and pinched by the muscle fibers drawn tight like fiddle strings, and they have ceased to get their regular quota of provisions from the blood, which is no longer pure, but being impeded also is overcharged with waste matter; for, not only the muscles are out of order, but the whole system has become sluggish.

The excess of blood in the body surface means lessened blood to the internal organs, and the bowels have become constipated, the kidneys refuse to act properly, the skin is parched and dry, the pores closed, and the lungs are the only excretive organs left to carry on the work of throwing off the body waste. And of course it is impossible for the lungs to carry on the work of bowels, kidneys and skin as well as their own work.

No wonder I, say, then, that the poor congested muscles and the poisoned nerves give no rest, ease or comfort.

Now we have the conditions of a case of la grippe. Be honest with yourself—what do you think will better these conditions? Medicine? Quinine? Castor oil? An electric belt? Mind treatment or what not? Yes, I concede each of these things may have a certain influence for good, but let us just see what Osteopathy accomplishes in these cases.

First, if the Osteopath takes hold of you in anything but the gentlest way, you feel like calling for him to stop, as your muscles feel a good deal like a lot of boils, but in a few minutes the muscles commence to give under the physician's skillful touch; they become pliable; the blood flows on again; the proper amount goes back to the internal organs; and, as he stretches your muscles and frees up the pressure on nerves, you experience not only relief, but positively delightful sensations all along your back. Then he goes for your kidneys and bowels—stimulates them—starts them to functioning actively again. Twenty minutes or a half hour and he has left you easy again.

You commence to remember your headache is not in evidence; you wonder why you don't have to seek a bearable position as before, and are content to lie just as you are in comfort; in five minutes more every pore in the skin is open and you are sweating profusely, you go to sleep, you rest, you wake up refreshed and—you bless the Osteopath!

Now this is not simply a theory, but is—thanks to Osteopathy—actually experienced in all such cases; and, while the conditions are just the same in all fever, there is a certain similarity in these conditions in the system which we cannot now go into, which are all each equally amenable to osteopathic treatment.

If you want to experience the feeling of being grateful to anyone at any time just call in the Osteopath when you have those unmistakable "grippy" symptoms. J. C. Rule, D. O.

The Badge of Honesty

Is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of the ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherrybark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and through them, the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing to apply to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard."
