Merely an Accident

Hearing a noise in his henhouse at 3 a. m., Mr. Kajones hastily dressed himself and went out to investigate. He found a visitor there.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded.

"Walkin' de chickens, to give 'em breakfast," answered an apologetic voice. "I allus do it 'bout dis time, suh. But, golly, I done made a mistake an' got in somebody else's henhouse!"

Then the owner of the voice made a hasty exit through the hole in the roof, and all was still.—Chicago Tribune.

How to Make a Windmill.

The odd looking air engine is not a flying machine, it is a windmill, and when properly constructed, has been known to develop from 2 to 3 horse power, with a 6 foot wheel. A smaller wheel, say with 2 foot blades, will easily run a churn, small grinder, corn sheller, wood saw, etc. The height of the frame work, size of timbers, etc., will depend on the location, and size of mill. It should have a clear space with no buildings, or nearby trees to obstruct the wind. The structure may set in any position, as it will run with the wind in any direction. The two blades of the wheel are half circles, as shown, and may be made of any wood handy, they are set in the wood pieces that are bolted around the iron shaft, and braced and held in place by the iron rods, A. A. and the straps, E. E.; the blades are set at an angle of 45 degrees from the shaft, as shown in the right hand figure of the illustration. Small wheels may be built of three-quarter inch lumber, and larger wheels, of corresponding thickness. The frame work should be 4x4 inch lumber, for a small wheel, and larger stuff used for larger wheels.

The four guy wires shown at C. C. C. serve to hold the frame upright, and it is not necessary to set the two outer posts over 2 or 3 feet in the ground. The iron shaft will usually be found in almost any old scrap pile,

HOME-MADE WINDMILL.

and should have several holes through it for bolting the two wood timbers. In place, the shaft is shown at B, and the pump or working rod at D. This rod may of course be connected to any machine. If the two gear wheels from an old mowing machine, be connected at point B you will then have a back geared mill, that will run with much less wind, but will of course not do the work quite so fast; however, it is to be preferred to the direct stroke, that you would have without the gearing, and you will do away with the thumping, and pounding. If necessary, in building a large wheel, two straight trees could be used for the two outer posts of frame work. The boxing, in the uprights, in which the iron shaft revolves, should be kept well lubricated.—J. E. Bridgman, in Farm and Home.

Live Stock and Fertility.

As a rule, the best farming is done where some form of live stock growing and feeding is being practiced; however, it is not correct to say that fertility can not be maintained without live stock. The matter of maintaining soil fertility by the use of legume crops, aided by mineral fertilizers used to increase the growth of these crops, is possible, although as a general proposition it is not profitable.

It is not the fertility alone which live stock brings to the farm, but the organic matter which their presence brings to the soil. In addition to the humus and plant food contained in stable manure there are present certain bacteria that assist in the work of making the plant food contained in the manure available to the growing plants. After completing their work of making the plant food in the manure available to the plants, they seize and continue their work of nitrification as long as conditions are favorable.

This explains why a small application of manure to certain soils will produce results far beyond the actual fertilizing value of the manure that is used. Another point in favor of live stock growing and feeding is the fact that all rational plans of maintaining soil fertility depend upon growing crops in the rotation that are adapted for animal feeding.

There are many live stock growers and feeders who are not keeping the productive qualities of their soils with all of the manure they are making, as well as the crop growers. By proper cultivation and care a small amount of manure goes a long way.—Agricultural Epitomist.

California Eggs.

It is said that Petaluma County, Cal., produced 10,000,000 dozen eggs last year. This is the greatest egg-producing country in the United States, if not in the world. One man near Petaluma has 15,000 laying hens, another 10,000, another 7,000. One man with only 1,500 hens made a net profit of $2,150.

Keeping Eggs in Winter.

From the many methods advocated for keeping eggs the water glass test is undoubtedly the most satisfactory—one part water glass added to nine parts soft water, previously boiled and cooled.

Place in a clean jar and add eggs that you are confident are strictly fresh and not chipped or cracked.

I could tell you a whole chapter about one spoiled egg in a jar containing thirty dozen good eggs.

Don't crowd them and leave at least three inches of liquid at the top of the vessel.

We have found, to pack only a limited number, that if placed in oats, small end down, a layer of oats and a layer of eggs, and when the box is full a lid placed on and the box turned every day, the eggs keep well.

They are not fresh eggs, of course, nor should they be sold as such.

Notes on Orchard Culture.

Clover is the apple tree's best friend. A few days after pruning paint the stubs with white lead.

Profit from a fruit orchard is not theory, but a demonstrated fact.

Suspicious.

"A suspicious question," said De Lancy Nicoll, the eminent New York lawyer, discussing a celebrated case. "In fact, one of those suspicious questions which carry their own conviction with them. It is just such a question as a glided youth asked the head waiter in a Broadway restaurant the other morning.

"Was Blank here last night?" he began.

"Yes, sir," the waiter answered.

"And," said the youth, nervously, "was I with him?"

His Confusion.

"Are you working to-day?" asked a visitor of the poet. "That is, are you going to work?" for it was quite evident that he was not working at that moment.

The poet ran his fingers distractedly through his hair.

"I have so many ideas," he sighed.

"So many, many ideas; but they are all so confused that I really haven't worked for a year or two."

PE-RU-NA TONIC FOR COUGHS, COLDS, CATARRH.

Joseph H. Chase, 804 Tenth St., Washington, D. C.

Peruna Drug Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen: I have used Peruna and find that it cannot be equaled as a tonic, as well as a cure for coughs, colds and catarrh.

You are authorized to use my photo with testimonial in any publication.

Joseph H. Chase, 804 Tenth St., Washington, D. C.

Cold and La Grippe.

Mr. C. Happy, Hardin, Ray Co., Mo., writes: "I can safely recommend Peruna as a remedy that will cure all catarrhal troubles.

"It was of great benefit to me, as it cured me of catarrh of the throat, and I took a very bad cold and had la grippe last February. It settled in my throat and lungs. I took three bottles of Peruna and it cured me.

"I highly recommend it to all who are sick, and I am glad to add my endorsement to that of others."

Pe-ru-na for Colds.

Mr. L. Clifford Figg, Jr., 2929 East Marshall St., Richmond, Va., writes that when he gets a cold he takes Peruna, and it soon drives it out of his system. For several years he was not entirely well, but Peruna completely cured him.

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.

For a free illustrated booklet entitled "The Truth About Peruna," address The Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. Mailed postpaid.

Act Criticisms.

"I don't like marble statues," said the snuffy young thing. "They always look as if they had a cataract or something of that kind the matter with their eyes."
