EDITORIAL STAFF..... SOPHOMORE CLASS

Scoring once in each half of the game the Whitman College second team defeated the Pendleton Academy boys on the Pendleton grounds Saturday afternoon. The score being 9 to 0 in favor of the boys from Walla Walla.

At the commercial club last Wednesday evening it was decided that the boys of Athena should have a track meet next spring in which is to be given a $75 cup to the winning school.

The basket ball boys of Athena have scheduled a game with Columbia college for the first of December and they expect a large number of the Athena people to attend the game and give them a big boost.

The gymnasium is now open to all boys and girls and is ready for their indoor recreation.

The program of the literary society Friday afternoon will consist of a debate, the question being:

"Resolved that the commission plan for city government insures increase of efficiency and decrease of corruption in city offices." With Mr. Case on the affirmative side and Mr. Mulkey on the negative we expect to have an interesting time during the coming season.

On the evening of November 24th the school will give a public entertainment and immediately afterwards the commercial club will give a banquet.

There is great interest taken in the talks given by the ministers of the town at the High school assembly.

Current Events.
It was reported Friday that the ex-president Roosevelt was killed in the jungles of Africa but has since been ascertained as a false report.

Too much attention to social duties and to little class work has resulted in the dropping of about 100 young men from the University of Chicago. Of these 75 were freshmen.

Mr. Rockefeller takes it easy when he plays golf, being pushed from shot to shot on a bicycle propelled by a servant. Needless to say the servant gets most of the exercise.

Wit and Humor.
We have been informed by responsible parties that by grafting a limb of a peach tree with that of a milk weed will give you peaches and cream.

Areta—Stop flattering me or I will put my hands over my ears.

Clarence—Your lovely hands are too small.

George—Say, does a rooster roost?
Teacher—Yes George.

George—And does a hen roost?
Teacher—Yes child, why?
George—Then hain't she a rooster too.

Laura—They say we are engaged.
Hugh—I have had worse things than that said about me.

Laura—I haven't.

SAT IN THE SENATE.

An Outsider Who Innocently Made Himself at Home.

The American people once elected a tailor to the presidency, and doubtless many manipulators of the shears and goose have sat in the seats of the mighty by election, but only once did a tailor make himself at home on the floor of the United States senate when he had no constituency to represent.

The tailor was Hermann Moritz Riedel of Philadelphia, who visited Washington in April, 1868, to attend the exciting scenes during the impeachment proceedings against Andrew Johnson, a fellow craftsman. And this is the account of how he witnessed these proceedings as published in the Washington Republican of that day:

"A good looking Teutonic friend of ours a day or two since made an earnest appeal to our Muggins for a ticket to the senate to listen to what was going forward at the impeachment trial. Muggins, as is his wont, in the kindness of his soul consented to furnish Teuton with the talismanic paste-board which effects the open sesame to the senate chamber and also assured our friend that he would accompany him to the gallery and find him an eligible seat. Muggins and Teuton started to work their way in, but Muggins was detained outside of the door for a few moments, and our German friend went on and passed the vigilant sentinels at the outer door and went directly to the entrance of the senate chamber and was admitted by the gentlemanly ushers under the belief probably that he was a member of congress and passed through the vestibule and took his seat in the first vacant chair and there remained during the entire session in the confident belief that he was entitled to the seat."

The descendants of Hermann Riedel are living in Washington now. The tailor, who was a "top notcher" at his trade, according to all accounts, died in 1877, having declined a pension after serving as a marine during the civil war.—Washington Post.

Back Numbers.
"William," said Mrs. Van Gelder to the man of all work. "I want you to clean out that large closet in the hall just outside the parlor. Burn all the old newspapers, waste paper and any other rubbish you may find there."

After a short time she met William in the hall carrying in his arms a huge pile of sheet music, the property of her eldest daughter.

"What are you going to do with Mabel's music?" she asked.

"Why, burn it, sure, as you told me to. It was in the closet there with the other rubbish."

"But I didn't mean the music. Put it back at once."

Noting his mistress' displeasure, William inquired in surprise:

"Why, hasn't she played it all?"

THE DEER'S HORNS.

They Present All the Phenomena of Animal and Vegetable Growth.

Why and how is the deer so peculiarly unlike any other of the bovine race, the horn differing so materially from all the horned cattle in its composition, growth, maturity and decline? It presents all the phenomena of animal and vegetable growth. It sprouts from the brain without any prolongation of the frontal bone. It rises and breaks through the sinews and takes root on the bone, growing the same as a vegetable. It is nourished by and secretes albumen upon the surface and disposes of the fibrin the same as an animal.

It is clothed with a skin and hairy coat very different from those on the rest of the body. This covering and hair possess a property unknown in other animal bodies—that of being a styptic to staunch its own blood when wounded. It carries marks of the age on the buck by putting out an extra branch each year, which shows an additional power each year to produce them. And this power does not exist in the female. So this difference is more distinctly marked than in any other class of animals. Again, the horn possesses properties unknown in any other animal matter. It is entirely odorless, capable of resisting putrefaction and almost impervious to the effects of the atmosphere.

And still water at 300 degrees F. will dissolve these horns readily, even though they are not soluble in alcohol and resist the action of acids and alkalis. It is the only vegetable animal substance that we know of that does not perpetuate itself by procreation.

The male and the female are sustained by the same nutrition and elements, and only the male produces horns. This phenomenon is quite as much of a curiosity as the absence of the horn in the buck after shedding.
