The Spokane-Pendleton passenger train was derailed Tuesday evening on the curve north of Downing. The accident was caused by the engine striking a cow. The engine and express car went into the ditch, and the fact that the train was just gaining headway after climbing the Dry creek grade, is perhaps the reason that no one was injured. A wrecking crew cleared the road in time for the night train to pass.

Charles Brotherton has returned from Franklin county, Wash. He says it will be a difficult matter to save the wheat in some parts of the county, on account of the growth of Jim Hill mustard. That it will be impossible to harvest many sections of land, though the late rains insured a fairly good crop of wheat. The moisture had the effect of causing pigweed to grow prolifically and this growth is now green and flourishing among mustard and ripe wheat.

Dr. Bilyeu and wife left Saturday evening for Portland, where they will remain until about the first of October when the doctor will return to Athena and again take up the practice of dentistry. He goes to Portland to manage the dentistry business of his uncle who has gone to Europe. Dr. Bilyeu retains his office here and has left his furnishings and equipment in the care of Dr. Newsom.

The residence of O. C. Turner, mayor of Weston, was completely destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon. The fire originated in the kitchen where Mrs. Turner had been canning fruit. Completing her work, Mrs. Turner lay down and was asleep, when she was awakened by smoke, to find her home practically enveloped in flames, and had barely time to escape from the building. Not a thing was saved from the burning dwelling, every vestige of the contents being destroyed. Insurance amounting to $1700 was carried, which the loss will greatly exceed.

H. P. Osborne and D. M. Rice, of Vale, Malheur county, were in the city this week, visiting their old time friend, T. M. Taggart. These gentlemen are on their way to Walla Walla, to meet members of the Columbia Oil and Gas Developing Co. of Spokane, to discuss the further development of the Malheur oil fields, in which they are large holders, and in which Mr. Taggart of this place is interested. The Malheur oil fields have made a great showing of late and there are great prospects of large quantities of oil being shipped out of that section in the near future.

Experiments have shown that if a ball of solid iron be lowered into a mass of liquid iron by means of a metal fork the ball at first sinks to the bottom with the fork, but that in a few seconds it will leave the prongs and rise to the surface, where it continues to float until it melts. The rising is explained by the expansion of the ball, due to heating, whereby it becomes, bulk for bulk, less dense than the molten metal.—St. Louis Republic.

"Better take a hardwood table ma'am. It is the fashionable thing," the dealer said.

"No," said the young woman; "baby will soon be old enough to hammer, and he never could drive a nail into hard wood. I'll take a plain pine table."—New York Journal.

Housekeeper's Reason.

"What is your chief objection to moving pictures?"
"The dust that has accumulated behind them."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
