B. F. Swaggart passed through town Monday with a number of jacks which he exhibited at the Walla Walla fair, and won all the premiums in sight. He was taking his stock to Pendleton for exhibition.

A wire being dragged along the street by employes of the telephone company, Wednesday, caused the dray team of Burke & Son to break loose from their hitching post, and a runaway was narrowly averted.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry are in the city from Othello, Wash., visiting at the home of Mr. Henry's parents. Frank is in the employ of the Chicago & Milwaukee railroad, and is now taking his annual vacation.

Mrs. Wm. McBride has been furnishing her friends in town this week with bouquets of beautiful astors from her garden on the farm. Such exquisite coloring and abundance of growth ought to have taken premiums at the fair.

Mrs. Jocelyn Roberts, who has been visiting relatives here, left this morning for her home in Dayton, Wash., accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Koontz. Rev. Roberts is newly assigned to the pastorate of the M. E. church there.

The excursion train was not very well patronized from Athena yesterday, the people preferring to go down on the local. A double-header with plenty of coaches on the local would take care of the fair crowds from this way about right.

Everett Paris and Miss Lottis Gay were married September 14 at North Yakima. The bride is a daughter of Charles Gay, and is well known here. The groom is said to be a popular young business man of Toppenish, where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Isley of Tacoma, formerly residents of Weston, lost their four-year-old daughter, Erma, by death on the 21st inst. Death was due to tonsillitis. This is the second child Mr. and Mrs. Isley have lost in the past three years.

"Black Diamond," J. M. Swaggart's celebrated horse took second premium at the Walla Walla fair last week, when showed in competition with a large entry of single drivers and saddlers. This week Diamond is being exhibited at the Pendleton fair.

Turner Callender was recently married to a young lady of Seattle. Turner will be remembered in Athena as a bright young man who, leaving here, went to Portland, where he entered the employ of Fleishner & Meier. Later the firm opened a branch house in Seattle, and Turner has been there since.

Mr. and Mrs. Otha Reeder visited in Walla Walla the first of the week. Mr. Reeder arrived last week from Tacoma, with his wife, but was not so announced by the Press, owing to a misunderstanding. We are always glad to welcome Otha back, and would appreciate him as a permanent citizen.

Miss Adda Bristow, a former teacher in the Athena public schools, and a music teacher, will be married soon to C. S. Graves, a prominent sugar cane and cotton planter of Barbadoes, West Indies. Miss Bristow has been a resident of Spokane for several years, where she has been teaching in the schools.

F. E. Jones, representing H. M. Todd & Co. of Portland, has been in the city the past week selling fruit trees, and has taken several orders. Mr. Jones sold trees to farmers on Mountain ranches east of town, that will cover about 500 acres. He anticipates making a large number of sales here.

G. C. Osburn was an over night visitor in the city Tuesday. He was looking hale and hearty, and if indications count for much, he will soon have his friend, "Bill" Young, beaten out for avoidance. Mr. Osburn has a good berth with the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company, being superintendent of the accounting department.

It is said that "Shanky" Hall gave a practical exhibition of what use a shillalah can be put to when in the hands of one who knows how to use it. He is said to have cracked three heads in a row down at the Commercial livery stable, Sunday evening, when three obstreperous gentlemen undertook to run the stable and all it contained, including Mr. Hall.

Miss Katie Maloney, formerly an Athena girl but now residing in Milton, was married Sunday evening at Walla Walla, to Mr. Fred Swale. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. R. L. Maloney, and grew to womanhood in this city, where she has a large circle of friends. The groom is the proprietor of the cleaning and dye works in Milton, and is also well and favorably known here.

The ladies of Athena will be pleased to know that D. B. Jarman will be in this city next Wednesday, October 5th and 6th, with a large line of ladies' tailor made suits and ready to wear goods. Mr. Jarman will make every effort to please. His stock is new and fresh and embraces the very latest styles and it will pay the ladies of Athena and vicinity to wait and inspect his superb stock before purchasing their suits for the fall and winter.

Next Wednesday and Thursday will be Jarman Day in Athena. On these days Mr. Jarman will have on display in this city a stock of ladies' tailor-made suits and ready to wear apparel that will compare with the stocks carried in the suit houses of the large cities. His prices will be consistent with the high class goods he offers. Remember the dates, October 5th and 6th. Read his big advertisement on the editorial page of this issue. It will pay you to wait and buy your suit from him.

The mill boys are having great sport over attempts of J. V. Mitchell, the bookkeeper, to resuscitate a drowned fly. Mr. Mitchell bet his head off in the declaration that he could bring the insect "to," after it had been drowned for a period of 13 hours. Of course he was "called" for the cigars and the fly put into water over night. One of the boys removed the fly and substituted one that had passed in its checks on the poisoned side of a sheet of fly paper. "Mitch" couldn't revive the flylet and the boys are waiting for the cheroots.

A Solomon-like Decision.
A Rhode Island justice was called upon to determine the ownership of a brood of turkeys. The flock, consisting of fifteen young ones, was mothered by two hens, a white one and a bronze, and had been running for quite a time over two adjoining farms. The owner of the white hen declared that the turkeys were his, while the man who owned the bronze hen asserted just as positively that they belonged to him. The justice was puzzled. At last a witness came forward who swore that he had seen a dog chase the flock; that at the dog's approach the young birds flew up into a tree and the bronze hen took to the woods, but the white hen turned and gave battle to the dog. The justice thereupon decided that the owner of the white hen was also the rightful owner of the brood of young turkeys—New York Press.
