Turned Around and Walked Right out Again," a little bay horse owned by one of Louis Bergevin's employes, entered the Corner saloon Wednesday evening, surveyed the allurements of the bar-room and ambled back into the street. The horse was untied, standing at the rear of a back. His master came out and conversed with the occupant of the vehicle and refurned to the bar-room, the horse following him in.

MARRIAGE NOTICES.

They Go Into Particulars In High Life

In England. In this country, when the contracting parties to a marriage desire to inform the public of the event, you will see inserted in the proper column a little notice like this:

"Brown-Smith.-Married on Saturday, March 4, at St. Joseph's church, Mary Smith to William Brown."

It's simple and sufficient. But did you ever take up one of the English social weekiles and see how a marringe is recorded? It will read something like this: "Married at Ramsgate Rookery, near Oakley, Stafford, at noon on Thursday, 30th instant, by the Rev. Plantagenet Clutterbuck, LL. D., F. R. S., A. T. S., M. N. O., Q. R. ORGIES IN NEW GUINEA.

Wild and Bloody Scenes When the Na tives Get Intoxicated. Of the unpleasant drinking customs of certain nations in New Guinea Walter Goodfellow writes: "We did not find the people down by the coast nearly so tractable or companionable as those at the headwaters of the river. They were also much more quarrelsome among themselves. They tap a species of sugar palm up the river and make fermented drink out of it. On this they get fearfully intoxicated, and wild orgies take place all day. Parties of them would go off in canoes and sit under the palms from which the drink was obtained. In the morning they would return extremely drunk, and fights used to be the re-

"Sometimes these fights lasted for two days at a time. In our vicinity they more often than not took place at night. The natives then made such an indescribable din with their howling and their noises that we could not sleep at our base camp. Spears and showers of arrows were discharged in all directions, and one could hear the sound of their axes dealing blows on the bodies of the combatants.

"After a time the women would join in the fray, and their shrill voices added to the babel, making the noise greater than ever. When they became involved in the fights they seemed to be worse than the men. The cries were not like sounds emitted by human beings, but rather like the cries, of animals."-Chicago News.

Wanted to Make Sure. Under ordinary conditions he was a man of prominence, but as he ascended the steps of his residence very early in the morning it was very evident that he desired to be as much otherwise as possible. The cabby was lingering near by to see that his charge was safely disposed of for the night. The door opened before the man on the steps could get the key to work, and he was greeted with the question, "Henry, where have you been?" (Si-"Hen-ry, where have you lence.) (He turns to descend the steps.) "Are you going to answer my question?" "Yes, dearle heart, I sure am. From my personal knowledge, beloved o' my soul, I can't give th' desired inf mation. So you jest lay down again while I go back an' ask th' back driver!"-Argonaut.

It is held by more than one high authority that matter is neither continuous nor homogeneous. Thomson showed by an experiment that bydrogen can be passed into a vacuum tube through an incandescent platinum window. In a similar way sodium passes through glass, and this is a useful fact in the manufacture of vacuum tubes, because sodium can be passed into the tube to absorb the residual oxygen. Bellati, the Italian physicist, has shown that hydrogen can pass through cold iron. Matter may therefore be generally regarded as full of holes.
