Dr. Spongie, Experienced Dentist.

A team belonging to J. V. Mitchell put up a spectacular runaway yesterday afternoon. Starting on the hill east of town, the horses tore down Main street, to the intersection of Fourth where they collided with a tree. The hack was left there somewhat damaged, and the horses came back to it, where they were caught. Mr. Mitchell was out of the hack when the horses started.

The Salt Lake Tribune says that Billy Fortier has signed with Salt Lake to play in the outfield this season. Billy did not go through the season last year, being suspended for taking a swipe at an umpire, but the matter has been smoothed over and Billy has his berth again. He hit over 400 for Salt Lake last year. Buck Weaver will manage the Mor mons and do most of the catching.

A. M. Gillis came down from his home at Watsburg, Wash., and transacted business in Athena the first of the week. Mr. Gillis reports crop prospects in Adams county to be excellent this season of the year. There has been considerable winter moisture and the soil was in proper condition to receive great benefit. Mrs. Gillis' health is fairly good, a fact her many friends here will be glad to learn.

Mrs. A. H. Luna, who underwent a surgical operation at the hospital in Pendleton last week, is getting along as well as could be expected. While her case is a precarious one, it having developed that there is a cancerous growth on the liver, she has rallied nicely from the operation and is gaining strength daily. Her son Clayton has been with her continuously and other members of the family have also been at her bedside at intervals.

Pressure of business at his Portland office makes it necessary for S. F. Wilson to leave for the metropolis and to make his headquarters there, temporarily at least. Mr. Wilson will still remain identified with the firm of Peterson & Wilson and will maintain the office in this city. Mr. Wilson will leave for Portland about the first of the month. He informs the Press that he will be in Athena from time to time as his business and law practice demands his attention.

Lee Hiteman writes the Press that he has found another commercial use for Gilaonite, with which he has been carrying on extensive experiments. He has manufactured a clay pigeon, such as used in traps at shooting tournaments, and his product has proven to be a success. From reliable sources, Mr. Hiteman learns that $10,000 worth of these trap pigeons are sold yearly west of Denver, at from $5 to $7.50 per thousand and that freight from the east is around $6.50 f. o. t. He figures that the saving of freight alone would be a nice margin of profit.

Weston Leader: Arrangements are being made this week to place Miss Lillie Walden, the daughter of Ben Walden, the Dry creek pioneer, in the home for defective youth at Salem. The motherless girl is suffering from a nervous affliction and her father is unable to provide the proper treatment, which may be had at the Salem institution. Mr. Walden himself is just recovering from a three weeks illness with pneumonia and is much cast down over his daughter's condition.

During the windstorm Wednesday night, a number of poles carrying high voltage wires of the Weston circuit went down and as a result the current is off until the poles can be reset. When the new road was constructed last fall excavation on the hill east of the city was made close to where the poles set which weakened their position materially, so when the high wind came the embankment at the base of the poles gave way, with the result that poles and wire fell to the ground. Traffic between Athena and Weston went over the lower road yesterday on account of the long poles obstructing the macadamized highway.

Belle Kearney, the woman lecturer who comes to Athena on the evening of February 14, to fill an engagement on the Lyceum course, is spoken of in high praise by the press of the country. The Muscatine, Iowa, Journal says: "Miss Belle Kearney's lecture which was delivered before the Chautauque Assembly yesterday afternoon on 'Russia as I Saw It' was a grand success. When she talked here Sunday afternoon she won her way into the hearts of her hearers who were all anxious to hear her again. Miss Kearney proved herself the possessor of that true ability which charms as it instructs. Such richness of voice, gentleness of manner and remarkable flow of language cannot be described."

Don't Neglect Your Eyes.

Dr. F. A. Clise the well known eye specialist who has fitted so many people with glasses in and around Athena, is stopping at the St. Nichols Hotel. He possesses a knowledge of the eye that comes only to those who have given years of thought and study to a single specialty. He will tell you the true condition of your eyes. Those who are troubled with their eyes or glasses will have an opportunity to consult with a well known eye specialist who has had over thirty years practice fitting glasses. He is associated with his son who is an expert lens grinder. They have machinery for grinding their own lenses. Eyes examined free.

Calderhead Improving.

S. B. Calderhead, general passenger and freight agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, who was operated upon in St. Mary's hospital Saturday, is reported to be rallying from the effects of the operation in good shape. He was cheerful yesterday and his attendants are optimistic over prospects of speedy recovery.—Walla Walla Union.

More Smallpox in County.

Smallpox in mild form seems to prevail throughout the county, new cases being reported from Milton, and Kamela and Pilot Rock each report a case of the disease. At Pilot Rock the school and public gatherings have been closed for ten days to avoid further spread of the disease.

CURIOUS ESKIMO LIVING.

The Pallet Rooms in Homes Entirely Devoid of Furniture.

"Furniture is quite unknown in a common Eskimo home," writes the wife of the Danish governor of Greenland, Anna Blstrup, in an article on "Eskimo Women in Greenland" in the Century.

"The houses of the Eskimos are all built of sive and turf, with the windows opening toward the sun, the one entrance always being on the side that is least exposed to the wind. Along the back wall runs a platform, a pallet of boards, raised eighteen inches above the floor. It is from six to eight feet deep, and through its whole length it is divided into rooms or spaces of eight or ten feet. Each room is separated from the neighboring room by a partition of board or skin. An open passage runs the whole length of the house along the pallet rooms and serves for the traffic of all the inmates, but each pallet room claims for its own the bit of passageway adjoining."

"Each pallet room is occupied by one family, and there they stay night and day. The best pallet room is the innermost and is always occupied by the owner of the house or the oldest if the house has more than one owner."

Worthy of the Highest.

The talk turned to the orphan children of Henry Doane of Cherryville. The former resident asked the stage driver how they had prospered.

"They've done first rate," was the hearty response. "Both of them have done first rate."

"Joe Eddie, he learned the carpenter's trade and has worked right along, and as for Emma Susan—well, I'll tell you what somebody from over the Center said to me only last week about her in conversation regarding her husband."

"Emma Susan married Frank Baxter, one of the James Baxters. Well, that man from the Center, he said to me: 'I hear Frank Baxter's been chosen selectman. Well, I don't know but what he'll do all right for you,' he said; 'but, whether he's the man for the place or not, there's one thing certain—if ever a woman looked suitable to the position of selectman's wife and would do it credit Emma Susan Baxter's that woman!'"—Youth's Companion.

Double Work in the Choir.

Village Tenor hearing complaints of the singing in the choir on Sunday—Well, I do all I can, ma'am, but it's them boys, you know; I always 'as to 'urry with my tenor and go back and 'elp 'em with their treble.—London Punch.

Her Ambition.

Mrs. Rich—Tell me, please, Miss Beautydoctor, how soon will you make me handsome enough to wear colors that aren't becoming to me?—Smart Set.
