sects of one group have jaws and bite | follows: They are known as the biting insects. The members of the second group have a bill or sucking tube which they insert into the tissues of plants and suck out the juices. These are the sucking insects. The grasshopper is a familiar example of the first class of insects, for it has biting mouth parts, composed of two pairs of jaws, one of which is hard and black and easily seen with the eye. With these jaws the grasshopper bites off pieces of leaves, stems, etc., and swallows them much as a cow or horse would do. Very many insect pests have biting mouth parts like the grasshopper and eat parts of plants. For example, the caterpillars, or "worms," on cotton, tomatoes, cabbage, etc., the June bugs, fig-eaters, potato bugs, etc. All such insects are known as the biting in-

It is plain that an insect that bites off pieces of leaves and swallows them stands a relatively high chance of being killed by putting some poisonous substance upon the leaves be fore they are eaten. It is absolutely necessary to know what kind of an insect is causing the injury-whether it is a biting or sucking insect. This is the first point to determine.

Probably Paris green is one of the est known poisons for biting insects. It is rather expensive, difficult to buy unadulterated and is quite liable to burn the foliage of plants if applied

It can be applied dry as follows: I pound of Paris green, 25 pounds of slaked lime or flour. The two should be thoroughly

CAREFUL TRAINING FOR COLT

Gentleness is Most Useful in Handling Young Animals-Little Fellows Soon Become Friendly.

The old expression, "breaking colt," has gone out of fashion.

A good colt is worth careful training, which should commence before it is a month old, some say a year after the colt is foaled. By handling young colts in a kindly manner they soon learn to become friendly and they seem anxious to do what you want them to do.

The best breeders are very careful not to frighten a colt. The memforget abuse. If a colt has a good disposition it can be coaxed to do almost anything wanted of it. Even "WE SELL ANYTHING UNDER THE SUN" fancy tricks may be taught to young animals, and they seem to enjoy the learning.

When they grow large enough to wear-harness, they are all ready for business, and are all the better for afforded by shoes and stockings, walkdoing a little light work when they ed into a pharmacy and nervously are two years old. Right here, how- stood about until one of the clerks acever, is where a great many colts are costed her. injured. Two-year-old colts lack the hardness of bone necessary to stand much of a strain, but they can pull the long end of a double-tree hitched to a light harrow for an hour or so with positive benefit and they seem to like it. When taken in from the field and given a little grain by way of reward they eat it with great relish.

The most valuable horses are taken in hand early in life, and carefully trained in this way. Even horses intended for the road are better for having a little experience in farm work when young.

Gentleness is the principal argument to use in training a colt. You cannot gain their confidence with rate of 4 to 6 pounds of the arsenate rough treatment or boisterous language. Establish a bond of sympathy White arsenic is cheap, easy to get, between yourself and the colt and he and is not often adulterated. There- will try to do your bidding.

It is never best to put bits in the or sal soda to prevent burning of the mouth of a colt until he is ten months oliage, it is a most satisfactory in- or a year old, as his mouth is very tender and is liable to be injured. In training the colt to lead a halter should be used, and care should be taken to see that the halter does not fit too tightly about the head.

OLD HENS' CHICKS ARE BEST

Several Tests Prove That Offspring of Mature Stock More Thrifty and Vigorous.

Don't sell all your old hens. If you intend using eggs from your flock for stock solution which may be kept in hatching, you should keep a few old a sealed jug for a long time. When hens to furnish them. The resulting ready to spray, slake two pounds of chicks will be stronger and heartier quick lime, take one pint of the stock than if incubated from eggs laid by solution and mix them both with 40 your spring pullets. The offspring of the more mature stock will also prove more thrifty and vigorous.

Wherever possible the silo should several tests made at Morgantown, be located in a sheltered place, as it | W. Va. Eggs from hens one, two and has a great bearing on the extent to three years old were used. In every which the silage will freeze. And the chicks did not lose air spaces, will freeze more than one this advantage in weight, for they built of solid concrere if it is shelter were materially heavier at the end of forty days when the tests ended.

It was also determined that it is a matter of prime importance to have the hens not only mature but unexhausted by previous heavy laying, during the breeding season. Then the very best results will be obtained in respect to number, size and vigor of the chickens.

Composition of An Egg.

More than 65 per cent, of every egg is water. Water also makes up 55 per cent, of the hen's body. Unless a hen has water she cannot make eggs, nor can she properly digest her food. True, all foods contain some water. Vegetables contain a great deal, but all these sources will not be cured at the packing houses and used sufficient to more than supply the for setting the colors of printed fabbodily wants. Quality of Sows. There is a great difference in the motherly qualities of sows, and when a breeder finds one which produces uniformly large litters and all fine, strong, healthy pigs, while she has a constant and large flow of milk for When the Tamworth is crossed on her offspring, he should keep her for breeds of more fattening tendencies, breeding purposes, as long as she will breed well, and she will be found to be the most profitable animal on the Next Year's Ducks. Pick out the young ducks and drakes that grow and develop fastest, and that attain good size, for next season's breeders. Some ducks will be heavier at eight weeks than others are at ten, and are therefore more profitable.

Feeding for Eggs.

Winter feeding for egg production should above all things be varied. The simplest way to get at the right ready for use. It is claimed that the food to produce eggs in winter, under timber submitted to this treatment, no your special conditions and with the foods you have at command, is to experiment on your chickens when they are laying naturally in the summer You will find that corn generally makes a fine winter staple, but it is Inquiries have come from the United | likely to make the hens too fat and States asking for poultry statistics for stop them from laying if it is fed in Whitewash Formula.

A good whitewash formula is as follows: Quicklime, 30 pounds; tallow, 4 pounds; salt, 5 pounds; water, enough to make mixture flow well. This makes a tenacious whitewash not easily washed off by rains or re moved by other methods.

Grinding the Grain. A great many dairymen think it i all nonsense to grind grain, but their opinion is probably influenced by the and is therefore somewhat expensive.
