BAKER BOYS HAZE TEACHER IN DARK

PIQUED BY ACTS OF PROFESSOR THEY PENCIL MARK BODY.

Youths Assert Mullin Has Been Partial to the Girls in Study Rooms.

Becoming angered over what they termed "undue favoritism toward the girl students in the high school," five young men students in his class formed a "kangaroo court" and hazed Professor Mullin of the Baker City schools. According to one of those who took part in the affair, Mullin was discriminative in the class room, the boys claiming that in geometry classes he would not only decline to assist the boys, but would give them a low rating in their studies in case they were slack in their recitals, while on the other hand he would devote considerable time to assisting the girls with their studies.

Another objectionable feature in their minds was, they claim, that he sought and was in the company of the schoolgirls part of his spare time, and that they had misinterpreted with him at a recent concert of the school glee club, the night of which the boys claim he gave a dance to draw the attendance.

Monday night, the boys declare, Mullin, with a young woman whose name cannot be learned, and the mother of the girl whom he was seeing home, stepped in the house and remained there too long to suit the young men waiting for him. When he came out they say they seized him, took off part of his clothing and administered a severe spanking, afterwards using an indelible pencil to print the letters "K. C." (kangaroo court) on his body.

Mullin has retained the services of an attorney.

The names of the boys involved are: Loring Hyde, Leslie Finch, Herbert Luttig, who are members of the junior class and George McCord, who was captain of last year's football team, a senior.

Poisoned By Canned Salmon.

Weston Leader: The two little sons of Charles Stamper, two and six years old, are just recovering from a severe attack of ptomaine poisoning, which caused them both a night of suffering. Tuesday evening the family had for supper a freshly-opened can of salmon. It did not affect Mr. Stamper, although his wife entered a slight illness. Upon the afternoon of the next day the younger boy was seized with a spasm, and his brother also devel-

HORSE RUSTLERS ARE ACTIVE HERE

TWENTY-EIGHT HEAD OF INDIAN CAYUSES ARE RECOVERED.

Ralph McBain and Bert Pixler Were Arrested At Walla Walla By Jinks Taylor.

Deputy Sheriff W. R. Taylor went to Walla Walla, Thursday and arrested Ralph McBain and Bert Pixler, taking the two men to Pendleton and placing them in the county jail.

It is alleged the men were trying to sell 28 head of cayuses for $350 and Walla Walla officials became suspicious and notified the Sheriff's office at Pendleton. McBain had given his true name, but Pixler claimed to be Earl Smith. The horses, he said, were his, and he had brought them from Arlington. Taylor went over on the morning train and rode out to the State Line where the boys had left the horses at a ranch and purchased hay for feeding, while they were trying to dispose of the stock in Walla Walla.

The deputy saw the horses were Indian cayuses and was familiar with every brand on them. He rode back to the sheriff's office in Walla Walla and placed the men under arrest at once. The horses had been ranging in the Squaw creek country and were rounded up and driven to the state line ranch. Had the men been successful in selling them it is doubtful if the horses would have been missed by the Indian owners until the annual roundup of Indian stock had been made on the reservation next summer.

Pixler and McBain have both been convicted of rustling stock before and served time. McBain was paroled and it is understood that Pixler was pardoned from the penitentiary.

MILTON RESIDENT ARRESTED

Alleged to Have Embezzled $50,000 in Chicago.

According to information from Milton, Henry Werner, a resident of the Milton vicinity since last fall, was arrested by Constable Propoyk yesterday afternoon on a charge of embezzling $4,000 in Chicago.

It is learned that Werner arrived in Milton last fall and bought a small fruit farm for $3500, paying cash. He claimed he had made the money in the saloon business. Nothing crooked was suspected of him until the police department of Milton received a circular giving a picture and description of an embezzler wanted in that city. The face was familiar to the Milton authorities, and finally they recognized Werner as the man. When confronted with the circular, Werner is said to have admitted he was the man wanted, but made no statement as to whether he was guilty or not. While in Milton, Werner has been receiving mail under the name of Werner, it is said, and at Freewater under another name.

FIRST AERIAL POST.

It Was Used in China, and a Wild Goose Was the Carrier.

The ancient records of China reveal the fact that our aerial post was forestalled some thousands of years ago, aptly enough by Celestial. It is true that the first postal air man was an aquatic fowl, and to this day the post in China is referred to as "the convenience of the wild goose," and pictures of that bird still appear on certain stamps.

The legend tells us that a Tartar chief was offensive to the Chinese emperor, who sent a special envoy to warn him. But the chief took the emperor's servant prisoner and made him shepherd to his flocks. In this condition of social degradation the unfortunate envoy languished for some years until one day he captured a wild goose and his mind was illumined by the bright idea of using it to carry news of his whereabouts to his friends.

With a letter secured to its leg, the Samaritan goose flew southward until, virtue meeting its customary reward, it was killed in the grounds of the palace by no less a personage than the emperor himself. The letter was read, and a punitive expedition rescued the captive and punished the rebel chief.—Pearson's Weekly.

RUSK OPENED THE CAMPAIGN HERE

PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE SEES VICTORY FOR ROOSEVELT.

Congressional Aspirant Has Platform That Pinches Corns of Standpatter Group.

Jerry Rusk of LaGrande, republican candidate for Congress from this district, delivered the first speech of the campaign in Athena Monday night. It was a progressive speech from a to issue and in more than one instance Mr. Rusk's discourse pinched the corns of the standpatters.

The speaker lauded Col. Roosevelt and all the ex-president stands for, with order, grouping Taft and his political advisors on the side for the slogan "for Roosevelt, and Progress, against Taft and Standpaterism" as being the definition of the issue that is before the republican party this campaign and election.

Mr. Rusk expects to see Roosevelt take the field and lead the fight. The congressional candidate is quoted as saying: "I find a most vigorous and militant sentiment among the rank and file of the republican party in favor of the re-nomination of the fighting ex-president. The people realize that they need a fighter, not a judge, umpire or referee to promote and protect their rights at Washington.

"The voters of eastern Oregon will not be misled. They insist that it takes something more definite than the mere assumption of the title 'progressive' to make a candidate a real progressive. The old guard will be for Taft, the mass of the people will be for Roosevelt.

Rusk is making a vigorous campaign and says he is the man behind the gun for:

More money for National good roads, less for battleships.

National and State graduated income tax.

Tariff question out of politics and a permanent non-partisan tariff commission.

More power to Interstate Commerce Commission and abolition of new Commerce Court.

National Parcels Post.

Direct election of President, Vice President and United States Senators.

Reformation of money system with Government, no Wall Street control.

Criminal punishment of trust magnates for violation of anti-trust law—strict Federal control of all trusts.

Free tolls for American ships through Panama Canal and Government owned line of steamers, if needed, to get benefits of our money invested in the canal.
