ATHENA, ORE., MAY 10, 1912

Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, who died the other day in New York, in life never lost an opportunity to speak a good word for his native state, Oregon. His home town, Silverton, was put on the map through many caricatures and lectures by the great artist. Davenport counted his friends by the legions in all walks of life. He was a commoner but his calling and artistic temperament brought him in contact with the rich and titled, who esteemed his acquaintance and friendship to the same degree as did the masses. No editorial pen had more weight than did the crayon in the hands of Davenport. His was the faculty of portraying with instantaneous force and comprehension with mark and line any fact his publisher might want placed before his readers. So forcible were his cartoons that they ceased to be supplementary to editorials, to the degree that eventually the cartoon was sought first for enlightenment on the topic at issue and the editorial pursued afterward for details. The world, including Oregon and Silverton, is the better for Davenport having lived.

Seven governors of northwest states have joined in issuing a proclamation calling a Northwestern Development Congress to meet at Seattle June 5 to 8. The states of Oregon, Washington, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Idaho are represented in the call and these will all have representatives at the congress. The chief purpose of the conference is to plan a campaign for the more rapid development of the states interested and suggest ways and means to stem the tide of emigration from the American northwest to Canada. An elaborate program for the gathering has been prepared and in addition to Governor West, C. C. Chapman, secretary of the Oregon Development league, Carl R. Gray, president of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway, and "Bill" Harley are Oregonians who will deliver addresses.

Fifteen million dollars is the total amount to be paid by the various life accident and marine insurance companies as a result of the loss of the Titanic according to estimates made by adjusters. The marine companies will have to pay two thirds of this. Several American concerns doing all classes of insurance business are said to be hard hit. All the marine insurance was carried abroad but the American companies are affected through reinsurance. Insurance Field, a trade journal says that the Titanic losses are unparalleled in the annals of marine insurance.

One of our exchanges finds that it cost Taft $4339 to run for office in Oregon. If it cost him this much in every state, he is now in over $200,000 and provided he got the nomination he would just be starting on the campaign which at this rate would cost at least $250,000, making him a half million dollars to get the office. We did not know he had so much money and it is evident there will never be a country editor known as president of the United States.

Bankers of Bend following a somewhat similar plan used last year to develop the hog industry in that section have bought and shipped to Bend a carload of thoroughbred Holstein milch cows from the famous dairy district of Elgin Ill. The bankers will dispose of the cows to farmers taking their notes in payment if desired. The farmers will dispose of their cream to a new creamery just started.

Roosevelt's success in Oregon has turned the tone of several Taft sheets. We note the Pilot Rock Record comes down from its pedestal with a grain of approval for Roosevelt's attitude toward the Payne law, discriminating in his favor as against the stand taken by LaFollette and Cummins in regard to the measure. Beats the douse how it changes thing to be a winner. "Nothing succeeds like success."

The answer from "Maryland, O My Maryland" is Roosevelt and Clark, with the state delegates bound to choose a delegation to the national convention favorable to the presidential candidate for whom the people expressed their preference.

With the price of wheat looking up, the few farmers of a speculative turn of mind who are holding last season's crop—and in some instances crops of two or three seasons—must be enjoying a thrill now and then when perusing the market page. However the cereal has not yet touched the dollar mark so the holding process may be continued indefinitely.

Lafferty says he will be elected congressman. No one doubts it in the least. With his record, and the record known to the voters of his district, it would seem that his nomination would be equivalent to his election. Indeed there seems to be nothing to prevent his election unless disgusted republicans rally to the support of his democratic opponent.

Considerable road improvement is under way in the country tributary to Athena. While not of a permanent nature, the roads are being "fixed," nevertheless which is better than no fixing at all.

The first pink lemonade of the season—cirrus day in Athena—was a little off color as a result of using "riled" city water in the makin' thereof.

Warm days with bright sunshine and a cirrus sandwiched in for good measure, would indicate that the good old summer time is about due.

Well, at any rate, Athena people can have a mud bath without the expense of going to Hot Lake.

Have you repaired your sidewalks? Many of your neighbors have.

THE ADOPTION DANCE.
Curious Ceremonial of Taking a Child into a Shawnee Tribe.

The adoption dance is one of the ceremonial dances of the Shawnees. This is quite different from any one of the festive dances. They come many miles around and camp. Their faces are painted and their persons decorated with beads.

They dance all day and night without eating. A bonfire is built in the center of the camp, and they dance around this. The fire is kept burning about the same all the time. This serves also as their light.

The adoption dance is rather quiet, more so than the other dances. The women do most of the singing, says a writer in the Red Man, and sing very low. They dance around the circle in twos. The men dance together in front and the women together in the rear.

The two leaders in front are usually the ones who are adopting the child. They carry tin palls. In these are rubber balls, which bounce and keep time with the drummer. This is all the music they have to dance by. If a large crowd is assembled they may have two or three drums.

At these dances good order is kept. No drunkenness is allowed. The dance is in a grove, and if any one does not behave decently they tie him to a tree for the rest of the dance. After the dance they have a great feast, which lasts all day, and visitors and all others who attend the dance are invited to partake of the feast.

MUCH OF LITTLE.
A London Sign That Seems Queer, but is Entirely Correct.

The stranger in any city half a hundred years old, if he knew nothing of the city's history, would learn from many of the business signs that the second and third generations had succeeded to the business of father and grandfather.

A Londoner who had strolled about the streets of Gotham with a New Yorker, who called his attention to some of the signs of sons, agreed that in this respect New York was very like London, but in neither city was there any such sign as he saw in one of the old English towns a few hours' run from the British capital. The sign reads:

JOHN LITTLEJOHN'S SONS AND LITTLE (LITTLE LITTLEJOHN, DOOLITTLE LITTLEJOHN AND JOHN LITTLE).

According to the Londoner, the first Littlejohn and Little were partners. The former gave his first son his partner's Christian name. Littlejohn's second son was named for his mother's family, Doolittle. The three sons succeeded to their father's business; hence the sign is entirely correct, and the Londoner was right in saying that the successors had no intention of being "funny" when they had their sign written as it appears.—New York Press.
