Wines are the staples in family liquors. Bert Cartano carries a large and varied stock of select vintages, $1.50 per gallon, you can get choice Tokay, Muscat, Angelica, Sweet Catawba or Port. These are California's best product and give satisfaction wherever used. Call at the "Goat" for the best and purest liquors.

Charles Gerkling was in from his ranch west of town yesterday. He is in the midst of his alfalfa hay harvest, and estimates that his neighborhood will produce 600 tons of alfalfa hay this season. Some of the hay was cut before the rains of last week and had to be banded with extra work, that it might dry out before being placed in the stacks.

East Oregonian: Dr. I. U. Temple and Dr. J. D. Plamondon are rival candidates for the position of superintendent of the Eastern Oregon state hospital according to a news story from Salem. The story is to the effect that the two men named are the only applicants thus far and that the board is liable to elect a superintendent the first of next month.

There appears to be a scarcity of men for the hay harvest in this vicinity. While the hay season lasts only a few days, when the hay is ready for the stack it is essential that it should be put there without delay on account of uncertain weather conditions. Several farmers have been in town engaging men for the hay fields and in some instances found it a difficult task.
