Demon of the Niger. The natives inhabiting the country near the source of the Niger believe that a devil lives in the rock whence the river springs. They are very superstitious and greatly fear this devil, who is supposed to kill any person who dares to look at the source. Whenever the natives are showing a stranger the spot, they cover up their faces and walk backward in the direction of the spring, pointing toward it with outstretched hand behind the

All Settled. Here is a rather neat story of the way in which a very shy (or proud) man made a "proposal." He bought a wedding-ring, sent it to the lady (whose finger he knew by heart), and with it enclosed a sheet of notepaper with the brief question: "Does it fit?" By return post he received the more laconic, though syllabically longer, reply: "Beautifully."

CHINESE ARE POOR SOLDIERS

Aversion to Being Ordered is One o the Most Prominent Traits of an Oriental.

The Chinese is a poor soldier. Not that he is lacking in courage, for on occasions he cheerfully sells himself as substitute and goes willingly to the executioner's ax in order to provide his parents with the small sum necessary to suport them through life, writes H. H. Windsor in Popular Mechanics. The strength of an army is in teamwork, and here is where he fails on account of his aversion to being ordered. This is found in his domestic and industrial work. A general line of policy or desired results can be laid down and he will faithfully work in accordance therewith, but he dislikes to be followed up through the details of the work with frequent orders. He will produce excellent results-but they must be accomplished in his own way. Hence the essence of good militarism-prompt and un questioned obedience-comes in direct conflict with his nature, and makes him a poor soldier. However, this trait is not entirely wanting in other nationalities, as every business man knows to his sorrow, and the difficulty of getting employes to do a thing in the prescribed way is one of the constant anxieties.

Force of Habit.

An attache at the statehouse has a nose which slightly turns to the left, and when asked why, replies it turns that way from force of habit,

"Habit?" some one asked one day, how can a nose have a habit?" "The nose didn't," was the reply, but I did. When I was a boy my nose naturally turned to the right. It embarrassed me and I was guyed about it so much that I decided I would pull it straight. So I began to draw my left hand across it in the hope I could straighten it. The motion became a habit. I did it when in school, in church, and my mother said I did it when asleep. Before I could stop the habit I had the end of my nose pulled over to the other side, and I decided to let it stay that way."-Indianapolis
