Last evening in the Baptist church, a lecture on missions in China was given by Miss Wayturn, a young lady traveling in the interests of the Baptist women's missionary society. The lecturer charmed all with her native way in presenting her subject, being dressed in Chinese costume and impersonating a girl of the orient.

Donald McFayden, the chicken raiser, made a trip to Weston Monday, and purchased a Cyphers incubator of G. W. Proebstel, hardware dealer. Mr. McFayden received two fine White Orpingtons this week from the Aldrich farms in the East. G. H. Bishop has advanced in the profession of law since coming to Athena, a year ago. He first associated himself with the firm of Peterson & Wilson. Recently he purchased Mr. Wilson's interest in the firm, which is now known as Peterson & Bishop. Emphatic complaint has been registered from time to time over the impassable condition of the Athena-Weston macadam road, on account of snow drifts. Since the snow came, this road had to be abandoned, travel going through fields and over the lower road. Wednesday evening Mr. Meldrum lectured in the Christian church on Japan, giving a most comprehensive insight into the various aspects of that most interesting country. These lectures will be discontinued indefinitely on account of the impending revival meetings. Everything is in readiness to entertain the large crowd of young people at the annual Knights of Pythias ball tonight at I. O. O. F. K. of P. hall in this city. The hall has been decorated in lodge colors, good music will be a feature and supper will be served in the ball dining room. Miss Partridge entertained the members of her German class with a Valentine party in Masonic hall Friday evening. Invitations were extended to forty, including the class membership. Games and social intercourse served to while the evening hours, and refreshments were served. Judge Richards handed down a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the case of O. S. Barnes vs. E. C. Barnes, which was tried before him last week. The decision involves some fine points of law relative to tenant and landlord ownership of property annexed and made a part of the freehold. James Ashworth a well known contractor and builder of Weston, was in the city yesterday, consulting with Cass Cannon relative to plans and specifications for a modern tungalow, which Mr. Cannon may decide to build on his acreage property across the street from the city park. Postoffice Inspector Linebaugh was in the city Monday on official business. After inspecting the local office, the inspector complimented Postmaster Worthington on the splendid condition in which he found the office, saying that it was one of the best of its class he had encountered anywhere. The Weston Leader dissertates on the splendid showing made by Chris Thoney on his 14 acre farm. Thoney has had 12 acres in cultivation. He practices diversified farming, and estimates his gross income returns to be at least $2000 per year. He has a family of six and each year lays by a tidy sum for a "rainy day." G. W. Proebstel, the Weston hardware dealer, has a full stock of the famous Cyphers incubators on hand, which he is disposing of at reasonable prices. These incubators are guaranteed to do the work expected of them satisfactorily, and Athena poultry raisers would do well to see Mr. Proebstel before purchasing elsewhere. Friends here have received news of the death of Mrs. Jane Watts, which occurred at the home of her sister, at Kingsville, Mo., on January 24, 1913. The cause of death was due to neuralgia and the lady was ill just eleven days, though she had been delicate for years. Mrs. Watts lived in this and Weston vicinity for many years, being a pioneer of the county. She was past 70 years of age. A couple of men from Pendleton were in town this week soliciting money to assist in paying freight on a carload of elk which is to be shipped by the government from Gardiner, Wyoming. The elk are to be turned loose in the reserve on the headwaters of the Umatilla. Walla Walla county has secured a carload. The animals will be taken to the Reeser farm and fed until turned out on the Wenaha reserve.

The local Rebekah lodge has been doing splendid work during the winter months. Hardly a meeting night occurs without new members being initiated. Many of the meetings have been made enjoyable with social features. Tuesday evening of last week, over thirty members of the Athena lodge went to Adams by private conveyance and assisted in initiatory work. A most pleasant evening was spent. Judge Samuel C. Williams of Johnson City, Tennessee, has recently been appointed Supreme Court Judge by Governor Hooper of that state to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chief Justice Shields, who was recently elected United States Senator. Judge Williams was a member of the law firm of Kirkpatrick, Williams & Bowman, in whose offices Will M. Peterson was a student for nearly two years. Mr. Peterson says Judge Williams is one of the best lawyers in America. East Oregonian: Dave Roberts reports that the pheasants which were liberated upon the reservation game preserve last fall have come through the winter in fine shape and are now mating. Let alone, he believes they will increase and thrive so that in a few years they will be plentiful enough to hunt. However, he declares, several men have been seen recently on the reserve with guns and, while he does not know that they have shot at the pheasants, he believes their presence threatening. The snow went off Saturday and Sunday. Wild Horse creek raised almost to flood stage but no damage resulted. A considerable flow of water from the flat threatened to rampage as of old, but a cold night intervened and the flood subsided without creating damage. The O. W. R. & N. culvert proved to be of sufficient proportions to carry off the waters, and the lower end of Main street escaped inundation. The weather during the past week has been spring-like in spots. Other spots were inoculated with frost, snow and lowering clouds. Henry Booher and "Casey" Jones are back from Seattle, where they spent the winter. Henry looks none the worse for the gunshot wound he received sometime ago. A "30.30" plowed his way through the fleshy part of his thigh and his one night, while he and Jones lay asleep in their bunk, investigation showed three bullets had been fired into the bunkhouse by unknown parties. The boys were employed by a traction company at the time, and the company made an investigation, but so far the identity of the man who fired the shots remains unrevealed. Weston Leader: A few nights ago Hugh Walker was "lost in the snow" at his father's farm north of town. He had been visiting the tenant, Andy Douglas, and started horseback for the McIntyre place about 9:30 o'clock. Bewildered by the fog, he traveled in a circle through a 140-acre field, and the story is that he three times halted the Walker farm house with the call, "Who lives here?" Appreciating the joke, its occupants kept silent, and Hugh could ride away. It is related that he did not reach his destination, about a mile distant across the field until midnight. As Hugh "grew up" in the locality where he had his misadventure, the story was considered as too good to keep. Revival at Christian Church. A. Mackenzie Meldrum gives the following church announcement: Gospel revival begins tonight at the Christian church, led by A. L. Crim, one of the greatest evangelists in America. He is free from clap-netrap sensationalism of all kinds. Believing that "the gospel is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believes," he drives home to the heart the word of God with convicting power. He is a Bible scholar of the first rank, and it is a treat to hear him present the claims of Jesus. He is gifted with a strong, well balanced analytical mind, coupled with great reasoning power, and by these he is able to take even the most difficult theme and place it in the limelight of simplicity. He is at all times a fluent speaker, but when he is pleading with wayward souls to come to Jesus the pathos of his eloquence is soul-stirring, often melting the hearts of the most hardened of his hearers. C. H. Altheide is the musical director and soloist. Before his conversion he was in great demand by the leading concert companies of the middle west. Mr. Crim Jr. assists the choir with the organ. Everybody welcome. Come and enjoy a feast of good things. SCHOOL NOTES. The beautiful spring days are coming again and the time to clean up the yard is here. As soon as the ground is thoroughly dry there will be a clean-up day at the public school. Supt. L. E. Young of Pendleton has called a meeting of the superintendents and principals of schools of the county for March first. The matter of the County Track meet and Oratorical contest will be carefully considered and the date settled. Several medals have been offered and we expect to make the contest larger and better than it has ever been. A new stove was placed in Miss Wilkinson's room this week and the one in Miss Wilson's room replaced by a safe one. These were sheet iron stoves that had turned out on the sides and bottom, making them dangerous. Base ball has many enthusiastic followers this first good week. We shall try to erect some backstops to protect the school windows. Measles are still common but so very mild that there is no fear from the disease except through relapse. Fishing? Yes, that is what we feel in the air. Sets Logic at Defiance. "There is no effect without a cause," quoted the wise guy. "How about when a woman changes her mind?" asked the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record. True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you love to be treated yourself.

EUROPEAN NOVELTIES

Novelties in Laces and Embroideries are here, and never has a season presented so many striking conceptions, a condition brought about through the largely increased demand for these goods. It is to be a lace year, that's sure, for fashion has never shown such continued favor for trimmings of this character before. Ours are from St. Gaul—the home of the best
