

Foss-Winship Hardware Company

Inspect Our Splendid Line of

FISHING TACKLE

None Better. A Complete Stock

BARRETT BUILDING, MAIN STREET, ATHENA

THE TUM-A-LUM LUMBER CO.

Lumber, Mill Work and all Kinds of

BUILDING MATERIAL

PAINTS, OILS AND VARNISHES
Posts and Blacksmith coal

A. M. Johnson, Manager
Athena, Oregon

THE ATHENA MEAT MARKET

We carry the best
MEATS
That Money Buys

Our Market is
Clean and Cool
Insuring Wholesome Meats.

D. H. MANSFIELD
Main Street, Athena, Oregon

Home of QUALITY
Groceries

Good Groceries go to the Right
Spot Every Time

This is the Right Spot

To go to Every Time for Groceries

TRY THESE--THEY'LL PLEASE!

ONE BEST
THE MONOPOLE

Monopole Vegetables
Monopole Fruits
Monopole Salmon
Monopole Oysters

DELL BROTHERS, Athena, Oregon
CATERERS TO THE PUBLIC IN GOOD THINGS TO EAT

MEAT AND FLOUR OFF FREE LIST

ALTERATION MADE IN SENATE
BY COMMITTEE.

Cattle, Sheep and Hogs May
Be Left As They Are—Cost of Living Not Reduced.

Meats and flour will not go on the free list in the democratic tariff law if the recommendation of the senate finance committee in charge of the agricultural schedule is accepted. This important alteration of the Underwood bill as it passed the house was determined upon by the subcommittee composed of Senators Williams, Shively and Gore. It was decided in carrying out the determination to perfect the Underwood bill by equalizing raw material and its products, that it would be wiser to levy nominal duties on meats and flour products than to put livestock and grain on the free list.

In accordance with this decision the subcommittee took from the free list in the house bill fresh meats—beef, mutton and pork—and made them dutiable at ten per cent ad valorem.

Wheat flour was restored to the dutiable list at the specific rate of forty-five cents a barrel with other wheat products at 10 per cent ad valorem, and the Underwood duty on oats was reduced from 10 cents per bushel to six cents per bushel with a compensatory duty on oatmeal said to be approximately five per cent ad valorem. This rate on oatmeal was not definitely determined, but it is assumed that the recommendation will take oatmeal from the free list. Cattle, sheep and hogs will be left as they are in the proposed bill, dutiable at 10 per cent ad valorem and the Underwood duty of 10 cents a bushel on wheat will stand.

Drowned in Chelan River.
From Chelan, Wash., comes the account of the drowning of Emsley Ridenour, 30-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ridenour of that place, and a nephew of Mrs. F. B. Boyd of this city. The tragedy occurred Tuesday night, May 27th and the body was found a week after the drowning, by cruising the river in a glass-bottomed boat. The body was lying in 12 feet of water, and the jawbone had been broken, showing that he had been struck when the boat went over.

The young man, in company with a friend, volunteered to go to the relief of a stranded motor boat in the Chelan river. They endeavored to reach the vessel in a rowboat, which capsized in the turbulent waters. Young Tuttle saved himself but his companion, though an expert swimmer, for some reason sank immediately after the boat upset. The young man recently took the civil engineering course in the University of Washington, spent last summer in Alaska with a surveying crew and at the time of his untimely death was assistant cashier of the Miners and Merchants Bank of Chelan. He has a large number of relatives in Weston and vicinity.

Band Concert June 13.
Professor Gordon announces the first concert of the summer series for Friday evening, June 13, at 7:30 o'clock weather permitting. By diligent and painstaking effort, he has brought his band up to a creditable state of proficiency. Regular rehearsals are held and the members are taking commendable interest, the result being that Athena, right now, has the best band in her history. The program announced for the evening of June 13th follows:
1. March, "The Rouser," Heed
2. March, "Citizen Soldier," Taylor
3. Overture, "The Elves," Kiefer
4. Polonaise, "On Mountain Heights," Kiesel
5. Waltzes, "Among the Lilies," Doble
6. "Circusdom," Jewell

Gas Coroner Dead.
After a lingering illness from stomach trouble, Gus Coroner, well known in this county, died at his home on the Umatilla river Sunday night. Dr. Plamondon, the attending physician, saw that the end was near Saturday when he visited the stricken man for the last time.

Gustavus Coroner died at the age of 47 years, 3 months and 26 days. He was born and raised in Umatilla county, and had been married 15 years the day he died. He leaves a wife and seven children. He also leaves a mother and four sisters: Mrs. E. J. Somerville of Pendleton; Mrs. Joseph Forrest, and Mrs. A. O. Kirk of Athena; and Mrs. D. C. Kirk of Sastakobewan, B. C.

Washington Wins.
The University of Washington won the third conference track and field meet on Ankeny Field, Walla Walla, Saturday afternoon in one of the most heroic athletic struggles in North-western athletic history, two coast and one conference record being broken in the races, while two more conference records were almost equalled. It was not until the 220 yard dash and broad jump were finished that Washington was sure of the meet. If Kinder had won the 220 and broad jump the relay would have decided first place, but even after losing these events, Whitman seemed assured of second honors. Here W. S. C. sprang the surprise of the meet by capturing the relay in one of the most beautiful events of its kind ever staged there, also breaking the coast record with the fast time of 3:25.

Fish on Reservation.
Though there is an old federal law prohibiting any but Indians from fishing on the Umatilla reservation, this law will not be enforced providing the white anglers conduct themselves in an orderly manner, says the East Oregonian. This is the substance of a statement made by Agent E. L. Swartzlander to the local game officers. In the recognition of the fact that the local game association has been very instrumental in stocking the river with fish Major Swartzlander intervened to prevent a strict enforcement of the old law but it will be enforced against those rowdy fishermen who show no respect for the Indian or for his property.

STAGE ILLUSIONS.

Not the Least of These Are the Banquets on the Boards.

Nothing is so deceptive as the stage meal, although the art of the property man makes such repasts appear deliciously appetizing.

A favorite stage substitute for meat is sponge cake, which cut into the shape of cutlets or steaks and judiciously browned with sauce, presents a most genuine appearance. The advantage of such material is that it is easy for the actors to consume and does not present any difficulties to the carver.

Cutlets composed of soft toast are also popular in stage culinary circles, and when decorated with dainty paper frills and parsley look quite the real thing.

Do not let your mouth water at the sight of those dainty slices of ham reposing on lettuce leaves on the baron's festive board. Ham is invariably represented on the stage by strips of linoleum, the reddish under side of which makes a convincing substitute for the real article. As to the surrounding lettuce that is generally represented by white leaves from the humble cabbage.

The larger and more impressive the stage edibles, the greater the fake. Huge plates which when cut produce a cloud of realistic steam are absolutely unobtainable. The crust is merely colored paper mache, which incloses a dish of hot water and sometimes a few boiled potatoes, which supply the necessary steam. The big sirloin of beef, which apparently weighs pounds, has about six ounces of edible meat about it. The joint is a wooden affair, over which a few thin slices of genuine beef are placed, giving the impression of a really fine piece of meat.

Were you to obtain a peep behind the scenes just before a banquet scene was to be staged you would find a number of stage hands busily slicing up tomatoes and bananas. You would see those slices being laid out on plates surrounded with parsley or white cabbage leaves. Under the glare of the limelight this dish assumes an astonishing resemblance to lobster salad, and in similar fashion sliced banana is a general substitute for fish, entrees and hors d'oeuvre.

One of the most astonishing illusions with regard to stage food, however, is where soup is concerned. This is invariably sawdust, which when ladled out of a tureen has all the appearance of a thick liquid.

No banquet would be complete without a turkey. A loaf of bread delicately browned and decorated with pegs covered with white frosting, saves the management the expense of running up a poultry bill. Moreover, the comedians can with comparative safety sling this asset to the feast about the stage without damage to life or property.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Government Printer.
When it comes to printing your Uncle Samuel takes first rank among the nations. He has a $15,000,000 printing office that is the best equipped in the world. Although certain private publishing houses in this country exceed the 1,000,000 copies of printed matter sent out weekly from the United States government printing office, no plant approaches the multitude of different publications that it prints and mails. Over a thousand publications are issued from the presses in the course of a year, appearing daily, weekly, monthly, annually or at irregular intervals. For the purpose of mailing them more than a thousand different mailing lists must be kept in the file room.—New York Sun.

Who Would 'a' Benn 'Er!
Some hundred years ago a small boy, one of four brothers, heard a visitor say to his mother, "What a pity one of your boys had not been a girl." Dropping his game, so the story runs in Woman's Work in America, he called out: "Well, I'd like to know who'd 'a' benn 'er! I wouldn't 'a' benn 'er; Ed wouldn't 'a' benn 'er; Joe wouldn't 'a' benn 'er; Jim wouldn't 'a' benn 'er, and I'd like to know who would 'a' benn 'er."

Campaign Material.
Political Boss—Well, did you discover anything in Stump's past life that we can use against him? Detective—Not a thing. All he ever did before he came here was to sell awnings. Political Boss—Why, that's just what we want! We'll say that he has been mixed up in some decidedly shady transactions.—Judge.

"RED WINGS" IS TAKEN BY OFFICER

GIRL BUCKAROO CAUGHT AND PUT IN COUNTY JAIL.

Julia Walker Must Answer
to a Horse Stealing Charge
Preferred Recently.

Julia Walker, more commonly known as "Red Wings," a small brown-eyed girl of 19, is in the county jail after a desperate pursuit by officers through a wild stretch of country between Hepper and the town of Dale on the north fork of the John Day river.

The "girl buckaroo" is a daughter of the late William Walker, pioneer resident of Umatilla county and is one of the heirs of her father's estate. The crime with which she is charged is horse-stealing, having purloined two horses and made a getaway with a male companion, Bill Jordan, her brother-in-law, who is also held on a similar charge. Jordan was captured several days ago but the girl had a better horse and was successful in escaping from her pursuers. She sought refuge at the old home ranch near Dale, where she was apprehended by a deputy sheriff.

To a reporter "Red Wings" related her first experience with handling horses. When but 15 years of age she started breaking bad horses and has ridden the range with cowboys at intervals ever since.

"Red Wings" mother is a quarter blood Umatilla Indian, but never associated with her people, not even claiming an allotment on the reservation. There are seven girls and one boy in the Walker family, "Red Wings" being the fifth child. A shock of short dark hair, skin of tan and eager black eyes bear witness to her Indian blood. She for three years attended the Chemawa school at Salem, the rest of her eighth grade education being received at district schools.

Off to the Pow Wow.
Mr. and Mrs. Dean Willaby left Saturday morning for Spokane, driving through in their new car. They will be present at the big Pow-wow, and will probably be away about a month.

STORY OF A FAMOUS SONG.

A Dismal, Rainy Day Moved Dan Emmet to Write "Dixie."

"Dixie" was written by Dan Emmet, and words and music. It was sung for the first time Monday, Sept. 19, 1859, on the stage of Bryant's minstrels at 472 Broadway, New York. There has been much controversy over the question of authorship and over the music. The known history of the song has been carefully compiled by Gustav Kobbé in his "Famous American Songs," as follows:

"On Saturday night, Sept. 17, 1859, after the performance one of the Bryants told Emmet that a new walk around was wanted in time for rehearsal on Monday. The minstrel replied that, while the time was very short, he would do his best. That night after he reached home he tried to hit upon some tune, but the music wouldn't come. His wife cheerfully told him to wait until morning. He should have the room to himself so that he could work undisturbed, and when he had finished the walk around he could play it for her as a sole audience. If she liked it the Bryants would and so would the average listener.

"Next day was rainy and dismal. Some years before Emmet had traveled with a circus as a drummer. In winter the warm southern circuit was a popular route with circus people, and those who were obliged to show north would say when the cold weather would make them shiver, 'I wish I was in Dixie.' The phrase was, in fact, a current circus expression. On that dismal September day, probably the beginning of the equinoctial, when Emmet stepped to the window and looked out the old longing for the pleasant south came over him, and involuntarily he thought to himself, 'I wish I was in Dixie.'

"Like a flash the thought suggested the first line for a walk around, and a little later the minstrel, fiddle in hand, was working out the melody which, coupled with the words, made 'Dixie' a genuine song of the people almost from the instant it was first sung."

Nothing to Worry Over.

"I heard something the other day that greatly surprised me, and I have been worried about it ever since."

"What was it?"

"I don't know whether I ought to mention it to you or not, but I was told that your daughter's husband was a free thinker. She's such a lovely girl! I hope it isn't true."

"Of course it isn't, or if it is it won't make any difference. Laura takes after me, and my husband was a free thinker, too, when I married him. Now he never thinks."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Appear to know only this—never to fail nor fall.—Epictetus.

DEPOTS ARE IN DRY TERRITORY

SALOONMEN RECEIVE STOCKS
WHEN PROPERLY LABELED.

Pendleton Live Wire Gets Tangled on "Little Oz's New Law," Now In Effect.

The Pendleton Live Wire finds that according to the terms of S. B. No. 64 and H. B. No. 40, passed by the last legislature, it is now unlawful for any transportation company to ship liquor of any kind into dry territory in Oregon, and in this connection, the attorney for the O. W. R. & N. company has been looking into the matter of the dry precincts in Umatilla county and the search has revealed some very peculiar conditions, not to say exorbitantly funny situations.

In the first place it is a well known fact that all Indian reservations are dry. Gibbon precinct, which is partly included within the limits of the Umatilla reservation at the election of 1910 voted wet, according to the terms of the local option law, which provides that any precinct voting wet when the district and county are both wet, shall be counted in the "wet" column.

Another funny mixup comes in the case of Athena, where the saloons are all on the north side of Main street, that street being the dividing line between North and South Athena. At the general election named, South Athena voted "dry," while North Athena voted "wet." In Weston, the precinct voted "dry" and it happens that in both cases the O. W. R. & N. depots are in the "dry" territory and do not touch the "wet" territory.

Now, the question naturally comes up, how are the saloons in these "wet" precincts to receive their supplies?

Unveiling Ceremonies.
Extensive preparations are being made by the local camp Woodmen of the World, for their monument unveiling ceremonies which will be held Sunday, the 15th inst. The program will appear in next week's Press.

Great Remodeling Sale and a June White Sale Combined

Saturday morning, June 7th, our June Sale of White Goods begins. Our great Remodeling Sale is in full swing and will continue for a few more days.

You all know our sales. You recollect that they have in the past afforded the shrewd buyers of Pendleton and Umatilla county unparalleled opportunities for value getting. This Sale is just the kind of a fair and square, open and above board offering that you would naturally expect from a firm with such a reputation as ours. The prices tell their own story. We haven't room to print them all. Special unadvertised lots will be found by these who will spare the time to look.

Mail Orders

will be filled in order as received. Those here first get the first choice and the best selections.

DON'T MISS THIS GREAT COMBINED SALE.
YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO.

The Peoples Warehouse

Where it pays to Trade. PENDLETON, OREGON. Save your TPW Stamps.