LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S STOCKINGS

We have built up a reputation for quality in our Hosiery department through our invariable insistence upon having only the best grades. First of all, we demand new goods—and never permit them to be carried over from one season to another. Hosiery three or four seasons old has had the life of the yarn "burnt" out by the dyes used; that's why freshness of stock is necessary.

Our stocks include the best makes in black, white and colored stockings, in all sizes, and fashioned in the making to insure a perfect fit.

Prices Correspond.

Childrens Hose, 10 cents and up. Child's half Hose 25 cents and 35 cents. Ladies' Hose, 10 cents and up.

Five of the most famous horse-women and cowgirls of the world will be seen in the bucking horse riding, fancy riding and fancy roping at the Round Up at Pendleton, September 11-12-13. They are Tillie Baldwin, Jane Bernoudy, Blanche McGaughey, Hazel Walker and Bertha Dukes.

Sunday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. D. M. Helmick will deliver an address on "Mormonism, As It Is." Mr. Helmick spent seven years in Utah, and is thoroughly competent to give information on the inside workings of the Mormon church. All are invited.

Dale wheat is ripening fast, and that variety of grain will be the first ready for the machines in this vicinity. J. N. Scott expects to begin on his crop of Dale next week. Henry Barrett took his combine out to the Pine creek ranch Wednesday, and expects to begin harvesting next week.

The program at the Drenlund for Friday and Saturday nights is as follows: 1—"A Question of Age," 2—"Six o'Clock," 3—"The Silent Signal," 4—"Lullaby Sunday," 5—"The Mantle of Red Evans," 6—"Selig," 7—"The Scorp," 8—"The New York Hat," 9—"Biograph."

J. E. Gorman, an old time implement dealer of Athena, was in the city Wednesday from Portland. He travels on the road for the Oliver Flow company, and was in Athena in the interest of that concern. His family reside in Portland, where his eldest daughter is employed as a teacher in the public schools.

Water Superintendent Dobson has completed two manholes at the intake of the city water system, which will greatly facilitate the task of relieving the pipes from root growth, which has given considerable trouble in the past. It is now possible for the roots to be removed without excavating along the line.

Paul Piarod of Adams, aged 18 years, died of tuberculosis in a hospital at Pendleton Monday after an illness of only three weeks. The funeral was held from the family residence yesterday at 9 a. m. and interment took place in the Athena cemetery. Rev. Stockton of Adams conducted the services.

Jack Reed after a couple of weeks lay off, during which time he made hay, plowed corn, hoed the garden, pulled weeds, pruned trees, gathered berries, chopped wood, mowed the lawn, built fence, fed the stock, milked the cow and did incidental chores at home over in Weston, is again behind the block at the City Meat Market.

Tharp Bros. have decided to put in an automobile repairing department at their shop on Fourth street. Mr. Alex. Bier, a competent mechanic, lately employed in Pendleton, has been secured to conduct this department. Alterations are being made at the shop now to make room for automobiles. A specialty of repair work will be made and extras of all kinds will be carried in stock.

N. A. Miller narrowly escaped a serious accident Monday, while riding one of his horses bareback and with only the halter to control it. The horse playfully bolted with its rider and smashed into a wire fence near the Wright livery stable. Mr. Miller's coat was literally shredded and torn from his back, but straggled to relate the bars did not even scratch him. The horse was out to some extent, and Mr. Miller received slight bruises on the head and one leg.

Harry Sayers was in town yesterday from his home on the Umatilla river, and endeavored to interest the business men in repairing the Thorn Hollow road. He says that the road leading to the river is in a deplorable condition, and should be repaired at once before men and teams begin work in the harvest fields. He advances the idea that the federal government, through the Indian department, should be acquainted with the fact that a permanent bridge is needed at the river crossing at Thorn Hollow. With a bridge there, Mr. Sayers is of the opinion the County and farmers who live in the vicinity of the road, with little expense and work could make a good thoroughfare for travel at all seasons of the year.

THREE EX-PRESIDENTS WHO DIED ON FOURTH OF JULY

One of the strangest coincidences of American history was the death of two ex-presidents, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, on the same day, July 4, 1826.

Adams and Jefferson were political enemies. When Jefferson was inaugurated his predecessor did not even wait to receive him. In 1825 Mr. Adams, feeling his growing infirmities, hoped that he might live to see the fiftieth anniversary of the nation. The hope was realized, and it seemed as though, being thus gratified, the great intellect of the Revolution cared not to live throughout the day. He expired before noon, almost his last words being: "And Thomas Jefferson still survives."

Jefferson did survive, but only for a few hours. He, too, had been desirous of living for the semicentennial anniversary of the nation. But he was so ill and fragile that it was not expected he would hold so long. The morning of the Fourth of July, 1826, came at last, however, and with a satisfied look upon his face the author of the Declaration soon passed away.

Neither Adams nor Jefferson knew of the death of the other on the same day, for communication was slow then.

Five years after the death of Adams and Jefferson another ex-president, James Monroe, passed away on the Fourth of July. He was a resident of New York, and like Jefferson, was almost in abject poverty at the time of his death. He had been living the life of a recluse, humiliated both by financial embarrassments and the misfortunes of his family. He died on the Fourth of July, 1831.
