Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tharp returned Saturday from Portland, where Mr. Tharp attended grand lodge, K. of P. During the week they visited with various old-time Athenians, and also made a visit to their building lots near Reed College, which are increasing very satisfactorily in value, owing to their proximity to that institution.

Gay Denny and sons and Emery Achilles returned this week from a hunting trip to Camas Prairie. The party had rare sport in grouse shooting, and a cougar fell before Mr. Denny's rifle. A common farm dog put the big cat up a tree, where it was quickly dispatched by Mr. Denny. The pet netted him $23 in Pendleton, where he disposed of it on his way home.

Last week the Press overlooked the visit of Mrs. N. A. Jacobs, who was a guest for the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cass Cannon in this city. Besides being an old-time resident of Athena, where she has a host of warm personal friends, Mrs. Jacobs is a figure of historic interest as one of the two survivors of the Whitman massacre now living. Mrs. Jacobs came from Walla Walla, where she was an honored guest at the Frontier Days exhibition. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. Kate Dickie in Portland.

Hunting parties from Athena have been fairly successful in securing game this season. Sunday morning, Fay Le Grow, W. S. Ferguson, H. I. Watts and Sam Pambrun returned from Montana where they killed an elk and a deer. They were in the Willow River country, where game was plentiful, but they encountered very disagreeable weather. The party had an exciting experience with a grizzly bear which they will not soon forget. They encountered brain unweariness when they went to carry in the elk meat. He was the first, but one gun in the crowd, the tension was relieved when the bear decided to vacate, and shambled off.

Byron Hawks returned home last evening from his hunting trip to Glacier Park, Montana. Caught in a severe snow storm on the Continental divide, where they were snowbound for nine days the party was forced to come out through three and a-half foot of snow, three of the hunters being practically exhausted when lower altitudes were reached. All hunting parties in that portion of the Rockies came out in a rush owing to the unprecedented early snow fall, which shut off horse feed and made hunting impossible. Mr. Hawks, while snowshoeing out, and when all hope of securing game was gone, by mere chance killed a fine bull elk, and brought the antlers and pelt out with him. In the hunting party of eight, he was the only one fortunate enough to secure a trophy. Blankets and camp equipment were left at the camp on the divide, the horses having been taken to lower ground by the guide, in time to save them from perishing.

A WABBLY COMPLIMENT.

It Came While the Comedian Was Working the Dignity Act.

Francis Wilson, the actor, always a collector of Napoleonic relics, had played at a town in northern New York state, and on the morning following his performance, while on the way to his train, he passed an antique shop and saw in the show window a cameo with the head of the great Corsican upon it. He went in to decipher for it.

The deal was about closed when the shopkeeper, a nearsighted, elderly man, squinted at Wilson and said: "Look here, ain't you an actor?"

Wilson drew himself up. "I am a clergyman," he said in an offended tone.

"I beg your pardon," said the dealer. "You see, I thought you looked something like that singing fellow, Francis Wilson."

"I hope," said Wilson with great dignity, "that you would not liken me to a mere comic opera comedian."

"Well," said the shopkeeper with a superior air, "I seen him at the opera house last night, and to tell you the truth he wasn't so awful rotten."—Saturday Evening Post.

What English Means.

Mrs. Smith—What are you reading, John? Mr. Smith—I am reading Herbert Spencer's "Principles of Biology." Mrs. Smith—Why—what—what's that, John? Mr. Smith—Herbert Spencer's "Biology." Let me read you an "extract"—his definition of life. Listen: "It consists of the definite combinations of heterogeneous changes, but simultaneous and successive, in combination with external coexistences and sequences."

"Why, John, what in the world is the man talking about?"

"I am astonished at you, Jane. Why, this is the work of the great English scientist."

"Yes, I know, but what is he writing about?"

"He is defining life, I told you. What did you suppose he was writing about?"

"Good gracious! I thought he was trying to get a patent on a clothes-horse."—London Tit-Bits.

Birds Shot With Water.

Shooting a hunting bird with the smallest bird shot made is out of the question for the finest seeds of lead would destroy his coat. The only way in which the bird can be captured for commercial purposes is to shoot him with a drop of water from a blowgun or a fine jet from a small syringe. Skillfully directed, the water stuns him. He falls into a silken net and before he recovers consciousness is suspended over a cyanide jar. This must be done quickly, for if he comes to his senses before the cyanide whiff snuffs out his life he is sure to ruin his plumage in his struggles to escape. Humming birds vary in size from specimens perhaps half as large as a sparrow to those scarcely bigger than a bee.

We Are Selling Out

Walla Walla's Biggest Music House is to close immediately every Piano, Piano Player and Grand Piano as well as all other Musical Merchandise.

BIGGEST OPPORTUNITY EVER PRESENTED TO PURCHASE AT STARTLING REDUCTIONS

Plans are under way to consolidate all the Eilers Music House interests in Eastern Washington and Oregon into one company. To facilitate this plan, made necessary by the recent death of our President, the present stock of merchandise on hand is to be sold out. It was found that a definite basis on which to effect the transfer and sale of Assets of the Eilers Music House to the New Company could not be arrived at without converting it into cash or interest bearing customers' contracts.

Just as quickly as it can possibly be done everything belonging to Eilers Piano House, is to be disposed of. Such well known pianos as the glorious Chickering, New York's pride; the Sohmer, the great American favorite; the Kimball, as well as the homotone Haddorff; the Smith & Barnes, the Decker, the Steger, etc., will be offered at such low prices as to find buyers for them at once. We say without fear of contradiction that the low prices at which these instruments can now be had have never been equalled before the country over, East or West, North or South.

$65,000 Stock to go at $40,000

If your home is without a Piano, or musicless, complete it now. Here is your opportunity. Sale begins Wednesday morning. All day Tuesday being devoted to marking down prices. Cash buyers will have a bonanza. We shall sell for cash wherever we can and give as long time as we must. Write for full information and prices.
