It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous 8. S. S. may now be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it ac-complishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, lodides, arsenic, and other de-structive mineral drugs, and yet it is ab-solutely a purely vegetable product. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 160 Swift Bidg., Atlanta, Ga. The Broken Spell.

Among the White House correspondents is one young man who wears long hair and a continual poetic temperament. The other day the White House squad were putting Secretary Joseph Patrick Tumulty through the third degree. He was exceedingly coy, and they had just gotten him to the point where news seemed likely forthcoming, when the young man with the poetic temperament drew from his pocket a small leather-bound volume and cried out, ecstatically: "Oh, Mr. Secretary, have you read this perfectly delightful little thing?" The spell was broken. Secretary Tumulty retired into his shell and the disappointed news seekers went outsafety zone Gus Karger turned ferociously on the poetic young man.

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. Moral Sense and Almanac. Apropos of another scandal in the New York bar, Bishop Winston C. HAS ITS DARK SIDE seem to be about like the morals of Life of Opera Singer Not Always Colonel Byrne, no better and no a Rose-Strewn Path.

> Some Earn Small Fortunes, But the Financial Demands Made Upon Them Are Many and Little Can Be Laid Away.

What becomes of the big salaries paid grand opera singers? Surely the fortunate warblers must find it difficult to dispose of even a small fraction of their enormous incomes. At least that's the way it looks to ordinary folks. But it is perfectly the night in question there had been clear to the star himself, or herself, just where, how and why the money goes. One big singer's explanation is particularly illuminative: "You hear," she says, "of this great tenor or that superb soprano receiving a thousand dollars a night, but you are not told how few performances a star gives at this rate. Take a season at the Metropolitan, for example: if a star sings at 40 performances, which is the usual number, that completed the contract, unless the herr director is disposed to give one additional work. The gross result with 40 performances at $1,000 each is $40,000 for an American season. This covers a period of five months. Deduct from this living expenses which will average $300 per week (for an opera star must keep up appearances) and you have $6,000. Another $2,000 goes to coaches and accompanists. The throat specialist gets another thousand. Still another thousand is distributed around the theater to the working staff and attaches. Society women with their pet charities must be placated and away goes a couple of thousand more. Another thousand goes to the musical journals and magazines for advertising. "Ten per cent, of the star's salary goes to the musical agency or agents who placed her and that means $4, 000. With steamship fares and other expenses back to Europe, away goes another thousand. Madame must have a press agent-for no opera star would dare to get along without one and he contrives to separate her from $2,000 a year. Her maid and her secretary in five months get anside. When they had reached the other thousand and so on until when madame strikes a balance she finds that for her entire American season she has the net sum of less than $400 a week for her work. She then are all through we'll drop in and see goes to Europe where operatic salif we can earn our salaries."—Wash- aries are less than 60 per cent, of what they are in America. From Paris to Rome, to Milan, to Berlin, St. Petersburg, London, Amsterdam and a few more of 'he music centers, if a singer can pick up $10,000 gross for her European tour, she is doing well. And even at this amount she Gladstone, when a boy, was visiting finds that her European appearances

The opera star spends her last years trying to eke out an existence teaching vocal culture or playing accompaniments for abmitious young sisters. Sometimes in some obscure seminary she receives a pittance teaching French and Italian. Some of the most successful boarding houses in Paris are conducted by famous singers of long ago."

HONEST TREES AT

(By J. G. SANDERS.)

Past and gone are those days when large crops of perfect fruit, uninjured by curculio codling moth or scab. could be harvested without thought of sprays and spray pumps, of lead arsenate or paris green, of lime-sulfur and bordeaux mixture, and of other treatments for the troubles which contest the modern fruit grower's виссевв.

In the early days young orchards required but little care after planting other than occasional cultivation, until in due time the perfect unblemnow spray apparatus and materials insurance." are absolutely necessary.

These changing conditions have taught us a strong lesson of the possibility of even more disastrous introductions of pests. There are still many serious pests in foreign lands which have not become established in our country, but doubtless will be sooner or later if systems of rigid inspection of imported plant material are not soon inaugurated.

Dead White Birch Trees. These were killed on the Campus of the University of Wisconsin by the Bronze Birch-Borer.

The awakening of the entomologists and the public in general to the danger of introducing serious insect pests and fungus diseases, was caused more largely by the introduction of hte San Jose scale than any other one factor. No other insect has caused so much state and national legislation as the San Jose scale (a harmless insect in its native country in central China), which infests a wide range of fruit trees as well as many ornamentals. The damage caused by this tiny in sect was early recognized by entomologists and means were sought to prevent its spread. But before adequate means of control were discovered, it had gained a foot-hold in many sections of some of our eastern states, and in spite of all precautions has gradually spread.

What is true of fruit trees is also true of shade trees. Take, for instance, the injury to our beautiful birch trees "Shall I marry Mr. Wombat, who is by insects. Such a general destruction 40, or Mr. Wopp, who is 20? They of birch trees in ornamental plantings has occurred in the past four or five "Marry the young man. tacked. On the younger branches these winding galleries are revealed by the corresponding ridges on the exterior of the limb.

No adequate remedy has been found to combat this pest. It is always advisable to cut out and burn all infested limbs very early each year before the adults emerge.

Until this serious infestation passes over, it is not advisable to plant any birches, for loss of the tree is almost sure to result.

Hogs for Breeding.

For breeding purposes avoid hogs with long legs and snouts, shallow bodies, narrow heads, contracted heart girths and long pastern combined with a small bone. Also avoid hogs that are too plump and chubby in appearance. The breeding animal should have plenty of size and a massive appearance. A very fat hog is a bad risk, for there is danger of his breeding faculties being impaired.

Improving Hog Industry. When farmers realize the possibilities of exclusive pork growing as a specialized branch of the animal industry, and evolve systems of farm management adapted to the business. it will become attractive to business farmers, and herds of well-bred hogs
