H. W. KEMP LAID TO REST

Pioneer of This County Passed at His Home in St. Johns, May 30.

Henry W. Kemp, old-time resident of Athena in its early days, passed away Sunday, May 30, at his home in St. Johns, Oregon, at the advanced age of 83 years. Two months and 28 days, after an illness that extended over several years. He was attended to the last by his daughters Mrs. K. L. Barnett and Miss Flora Kemp, and his son, Harry.

The body was brought to Athena Wednesday morning, and laid to rest by the side of his faithful wife, who preceded him just nine months and nine days, having died last August 21st. Funeral services were conducted at the grave by J. H. Harmon, pastor of the Christian church.

WHAT IS FEAR?

A Feeling Based on the Instinct of Self Preservation.
That well known investigator of psychological abstractions, M. Fernandez Mazade, has attracted much attention by a discussion of the query, "What is fear?" The famous psychological playwright, Alfred Capus, who has dealt with the human emotion with such fidelity in his masterpieces, writes:

"In general, I think that when there is an accident or an illness one has not a sufficient perception of the peril to have the feeling of fear. Fear implies a consciousness of danger and the refusal or moral impossibility to face it. Fear consists in capitulating to the instinct of self preservation."

M. Victor Marguerite says: "Fear is a physical trouble much more than a feeling" and can ultimately be overcome by force of will. M. Alfred Meier of the French academy considers that fear is caused by some unexpected danger. M. Pouchet of the Academy of Medicine doubts whether any man has ever been quite free of fear for himself or for others.

M. Suard, who is a professor at the Faculty of Medicine, considers fear or courage to be the result of temperament, training and thought. Fear can be partially eradicated by reasoning and education, but it will never be overcome in its most acute form—namely, the instinct of self preservation. The conclusion is that it is far from being unanimously admitted that fear is a ridiculous malady.—Philadelphia North American.

OUR FIRST NEWSPAPER.

It Was Published in 1890 and Lasted Just One Issue.
The first newspaper printed in North America was Publick Occurrences, which issued its first and only number in 1703 in Boston. The publisher, Benjamin Harris, proposed to get it out monthly, but the authorities came down on the project "like a ton of brick," and Harris had to abandon the scheme.

Publick Occurrences was printed on three pages of a folded sheet, the pages being 7 by 11 inches in size. It was "Printed by R. Pierce for Benjamin Harris at the London Coffee House" in Boston. The authorities alleged that it contained "reflections of a very high nature," and within twenty-four hours of the appearance of the first number the editor and publisher was solemnly warned that a repetition of the offense would merit severe punishment.

"That Memorable Occurrence of Di-vine Providence not to be neglected or forgotten, as they too often are," and "That people everywhere may better understand the Circumstances of Publick Affairs, both abroad and at home," Harris founded his journal, and it was a pity that he should have been thwarted in his design "that the Country shall be furnished once a month (or if any Glut of Occurrences happen oftener, with an Account of such considerable things as have arrived unto our Notice."—New York World.

ANCIENT TOOTHPICKS.

They Used to Be Made of Silver and Were Worn in the Hat.

The employment of toothpicks is very ancient. In Grote's "History of Greece" we find that Agathocles, "among the worst of Greeks," was poisoned by a medicated quill handed to him for cleaning his teeth after dinner.

Toothpicks were in common use in the time of the Caesars. Martial tells us those made of a chip of mastix wood (guttiferous) are the best, but that if you run short of such timber a quill will serve your purpose, and he ridicules an old fellow who was in the habit of digging away at his gums with his polished lentils, though he had not a tooth left in his head.

Toothpicks occur early of silver, but pieces of wood or of feathers with a red end as quills in our day were most usual. The toothpick is the Anglo-Saxon toothgare. The old name was pick-tooth. It was imported by travelers from Italy and France, and the use of it was long deemed an affected mark of gentility. It was worn as a trophy in the hat, and Sir Thomas Overbury describes a courtier, the pink of fashion, "with a picktooth in his hat."

Bishop Earle says of an idle gallant, "His picktooth bears a great part in his discourse."—London Telegraph.

We are slow to believe anything that, if believed, would hurt our feelings.—Ovid.

Stockman Kills Fiancee.

A Walla Walla dispatch states that Mrs. Harriet Cameron Stahl and Charles F. Thomas, both widely known residents of Walla Walla, were the victims of a murder and suicide there Saturday night, at the home of Mrs. Stahl. Thomas had been paying Mrs. Stahl attentions, and it was reported that they were to be married. Thomas entered her home Saturday night and after a quarrel shot and killed her and then turned the weapon on himself, dying in about half an hour. Mrs. Stahl was preparing to go to California. She was receiving an income of about $125 a month from her father's estate, which would cease on her marriage. She leaves prominent relatives at Walla Walla. Thomas was a stockman who had lived there five years.
