FOR PREPARING FAIR EXHIBITS

The following directions and formula for preparing exhibits for the County and State Fairs is furnished by E. E. Cleaver, who visited in Athens last week. Any samples can be left with the C. A. Barrett Hardware Co. of this city:
All samples of wheat, oats, barley and rye should have the roots left on. Bundles should not be less than nine inches in diameter when tied, except where an extra large stool can be shown. These extra large stools are particularly desired.
All grasses should be in bundles not less than six inches in diameter when tied and all varieties, both native and meadow grasses, even to the despised foxtail, are desired.
The best of the leading varieties of fruits and vegetables are desired. Below is a formula for preserving fruit. The country is willing to furnish display jars for this purpose. These jars will be distributed by the following gentlemen and associations: The Milton Fruitgrowers' association at Milton; James Kyle at Stanfield; Joseph Hinkle at Hermiston; D. C. Brownell at Umatilla; E. E. Cleaver at Pendleton; George A. Robbins at Pilot Rock.
Following is the formula for preserving fruits: Plums, grapes, cherries currants and gooseberries; formalin, five parts, saturated solution of common table salt, ten parts, water boiled and cooled, enough to make a hundred parts. This may be made by measure as follows: formalin, one pint, salt solution two pints, water seventeen pints. When made up the solution will keep indefinitely. Another solution weaker in formalin has been used satisfactorily, the proportions are: Formalin three parts, salt solution ten parts, water enough to make one hundred parts.
For raspberries: Formalin one part, glycerine ten parts, water 59 parts. Strawberries may be preserved fairly well in a saturated solution of common salt and, better still, in a fluid composed of formalin one ounce, alum one dram, glycerine five ounces, water three pints.
Red currants keep best in a solution of corrosive sublimate (poison) one part, glycerine ten parts, water 90 parts. The corrosive sublimate must be dissolved in hot water and the solution and fruit preserved in it should be labeled poison as it is deadly if swallowed.
The glass stoppers of bottles and jars may be made perfectly tight by smearing the ground surface with a small amount of light colored vasoline. This will also prevent in a great measure the sticking of stoppers when it is desired to remove them.

Advertisement for Watts & Rogers, Weston. Text: 'Supposing that you went to Watts & Rogers, Weston (Three miles over the hill.) and bought ten lbs of nails, ten boards of lumber and perhaps ten sacks of blacksmith coal. On arriving home you find you have only 9 pounds of nails, and in measuring the lumber you are short a whole board and when unloading the coal there were only 9 sacks. GEE! Wouldn't you come back with a holler? A firm about our size would be "robbers"—eh? Now we are doing that very thing with our cash customers, bottom-side up. We take pay for 9 lbs of nails and give you 10. We deliver to you twenty boards of lumber and take pay for 18. You get 10 sacks of coal and we take pay for 9. We smile and ask you to come again— NO HOLLER THERE, EH? Come and see that bargain in a gasoline thresher, a 60-bushel per hr. bundle machine; first class work, 3 men, 4 horses move the whole thing on its own trucks anywhere. $825.00.
