WIRELESS CARRIES VOICE 2500 MILES

Radio Phone Proven Success by U. S. Navy Department.

FIRST EXPERIMENT SPANS CONTINENT

Conversation Is Carried On Between Washington, D. C., and Naval Station at Mare Island.

Washington, D. C. — Wireless telephone communication across the continent was accomplished for the first time Thursday, when experiments extending over several months culminated in successful transmissions of the human voice by radio from the great naval plant at Arlington, Va., to the station at Mare Island, Cal., 2500 miles away.

The experiments were conducted under direction of Captain Bullard, chief of the navy's radio service, in cooperation with the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the Western Electric company.

Secretary Daniels, in announcing the report, predicted that further development of wireless telephony would make great changes in long distance communication both for military and navy service and commercial usage.

Successful operation of a device for automatically transferring to the radio telephone conversations originating on metallic circuits also was accomplished in the tests. President Vail and other officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph company at New York talked easily with the Mare Island station over an ordinary metallic line to Arlington and thence by radio across the continent.

"The fact that the voices can be started on a land wire and automatically transmitted to a voice radio-transmitter," said Secretary Daniels, "holds out hope that persons inland readily could be put in touch by telephone with others at sea through some central transmitting station."

The navy department's formal announcement in part follows:

"Secretary Daniels is pleased to announce the successful outcome of experiments which have been carried on for the last few months by the American Telephone & Telegraph company and Western Electric company in cooperation with the radio stations under the jurisdiction of the Navy department, by which long-distance wireless telephony has been made possible."

Lottery Game Dies Natural Death in San Francisco

San Francisco—Persons in all walks of life had their last chance Thursday to participate in the $20,000 capital prize in San Francisco lotteries. There was no formal order sent out by the police. It was tacitly understood by the seven lottery companies, as the result of an "order in council" issued by the Police commission, that "the game" was off—at least for a time.

The police judge fined a negro whom a patrolman arrested with lottery tickets in his possession. The prisoner said he would have to beg or steal now that his occupation of selling lottery tickets was taken from him. It was admitted that the ousting of the lotteries will cut off in fines accruing to the city treasury thousands of dollars a month.

It is also asserted that the death of the game would throw upon the city 4000 indigents, men and women who have been selling tickets. Some were sent to the lottery companies by charitable associations, it was said. One lottery representative said: "I can only say that we will not hold a drawing next week. I can't yet see beyond that."

Order Is in Difficulties.

San Francisco—The California Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen is experiencing financial difficulties, according to a report made under the direction of State Insurance Commissioner Phelps. The main difficulty seems to be a deficiency in the reserve funds. This was explained by A. H. McKeown, grand receiver, who said men more than 64 years old had not paid enough into the fund to carry them after that age. They will now have to make this good, he said, or it will be deducted from their benefits.

Sailor Rules Schooner.

San Francisco—S. P. Ware, one of the crew of the American schooner Sehome, which arrived here Thursday from Sydney, Australia, was turned over to the police by John Kiltz, the ship's captain, who alleged Ware laid out the captain and crew with a beating pin off Apia, American Samoa, and took command of the vessel for 24 hours. Captain Kiltz said he escaped, obtained a revolver and regained his command.

Hill Lends to Both Sides.

St. Paul—Besides participating in the credit to Great Britain and France, local banking interests controlled by James J. Hill will subscribe to the third German loan being offered in this country.

CROWN PRINCE HUMBERT

The eleven-year-old Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, while visiting the king at the faenza front, made his way along several miles of the Italian trenches and sent the following telegram to his grandmother Queen Margherita: "I am an Austrian territory. I assisted in an artillery engagement this afternoon."

"VEST POCKET" WIRELESS SET IS MADE PRACTICAL BY NEW YORKER

Bedford Hills, N. Y. — A compact and efficient wireless receiving and sending apparatus, invented recently by Dr. H. Barringer Cox, of this place, is to be lent to one of the foreign powers for use in the trenches, according to announcement of the inventor.

The device, which may be strapped around the waist and deftly hidden by the folds of a cloak so as to be invisible to an unsuspecting person, is in reality a "vest-pocket" wireless apparatus, as complete as any.

The sending apparatus consists of a box in which are five dry cells and a vibrator. The electric pulsations are started by tapping a telegraph key, and the current, which the doctor says is modified with a hidden transformer of his own invention, sends out its messages in waves, long and short. The equivalent to a half watt, or one-eighth as much as is required for the ordinary electric light bulb is the amount of electricity necessary. From the box projects a wire.

In warfare use this wire is carried down the leg of the soldier and connected with a metal plate or spur in the shoe. The receiving instrument consists of a drum about which is a coil of wire. On top of this is a fine deflector. It has a pair of ear-pieces such as is worn by telephone operators. Dr. Cox can send and receive messages by this instrument over a distance of 18 miles. When he desires to receive a message he raises his cane.

Stock Exchange Clerks Overworked.

New York—So tremendous has been the volume of trading on the stock exchange this week that several prominent brokerage houses announced that they were considering the advisability of asking the board of governors of the exchange to declare Monday a full holiday, in order to give their overworked clerks a rest. Many firms have been obliged to work their forces day and night. In one house two clerks were taken away in an ambulance in an exhausted condition.

The exchange governors, when approached on the subject of closing the exchange, maintained that they had no right to cut off the security business of the country on such short notice. The promise was held out, however, that should the great volume of trading continue next week, the declaration of a special stock exchange holiday would be considered.

Chicago Under Sunday Lid.

Chicago—Mayor Thompson, in a message to the city council, announced that the owners of all saloons in Chicago hereafter would be forced to obey the state law, which provides that they remain closed on Sunday. The mayor ordered the city collector to notify in writing all persons holding licenses for saloons that they must comply with the requirements of the state law. For many years owners of saloons in Chicago have defied the state law governing their operation on Sunday.

Allies' Loan Ready to Sign.

New York—The contract for the $500,000,000 credit loan to Great Britain and France probably will be signed Wednesday by the members of the Anglo-French commission and J. P. Morgan & Co., agents in the United States. Lord Reading is expected to sign for Great Britain and Ernest Mallet probably will sign for the French government. Preparations also will be made to close the underwriters' books, which will probably be done soon.

OREGON STATE NEWS

New Coal Era Is Seen.

Eugene—The completion of the Willamette-Pacific railroad from Coos Bay to Eugene will change the character of fuel burned in the Willamette valley, is the opinion of Judge John S. Coke, of Marshfield, who arrived here to preside in Circuit court cases in which Judge G. F. Skipworth is disqualified by reason of previous association or personal interest.

It will be possible to ship coal to Eugene to be sold cheaper than wood when mining development now under way is completed and the new branch line of the Southern Pacific is in operation between the coal fields and this city, he said.

Judge Coke declares that the Southern Pacific and other interests are preparing to open mines on a large scale. At the Beaver Hill mine, owned by the railroad, a depth of 32,000 feet on a 32-degree slope has been reached, he announced.

Judge Coke sees a wonderful future for his home county.

"With only water transportation, excepting the recently constructed timber road, a community of 10,000 people has grown up around Marshfield," he stated. "We have the harbor, timber, coal and dairying, an unusual combination of resources. "Harbor improvement, at Coos Bay, representing the investment of $700,000, has just been completed. The district raised $600,000 by bonding, and about $100,000 was contributed by private subscription. We now have 31 feet of water inside the harbor at ordinary high tide and 36 feet of water on the bar at ordinary high tide."

Banks Report Gains.

Salem—Rapid growth of business during the past two months and an early return to normal conditions are indicated in the report of Superintendent of Banks Sargent, showing the condition of banks in Oregon at the close of business September 2 last. In the combined statement of the 175 state banks and 88 national banks in the state comparisons with corresponding figures of a year ago point to a general financial improvement.

Although the total demand deposits of all banks in the state, including balances due to other banks, show a decrease of $6,212,476.65 for the year, there has been a steady increase during the last three months. The statement just issued shows a gain of $1,813,538.12, since the statement of June 23 last.

Time and savings deposits continue to grow and now reach a grand total of $37,520,873.17, an increase of $2,379,672.88 since the statement of September a year ago.

Redeemments with the Federal reserve bank amount to $140,315.20, having increased only $36,525.57 since the June call. Other redeemments and bills payable are unusually high at this time of the year, amounting to $2,583,490.30. According to Superintendent Sargent, this is because farmers apparently are holding their crops for higher prices.

The national banks of the state now have an investment of $461,783.34 in the stock of the Federal Reserve bank, and are carrying reserve balances with that institution amounting to $1,454,509.41.

Governors Are to Attend.

Salem—Governor Withycombe will be present at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at the North Portland Union Stockyards, probably several days, but certainly December 9, for that date has been set aside as "Governor's Day," and in addition to the Oregon executive it is expected that the governors of at least three other Western states will be in attendance.

According to advices received by Governor Withycombe from O. M. Plummer, general manager of the exposition, Governor Lister, of Washington, and Governor Alexander, of Idaho, have accepted invitations. It is also expected that Governor Stewart, of Montana, will attend. Governor Kendrick, of Wyoming, also may be on hand, and perhaps Governor Hunt, of Arizona.

Phone Company Replies.

Salem—Alleging that section 8 of the public utilities act, referring to common-user facilities, procedure and interchange of business, is in violation of the state and Federal constitutions, the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company has filed with the Public Service commission its answer to the complaint of the Public Service League and others of Portland. With the Home Telephone & Telegraph company, the Pacific is defendant in a complaint to force an interchange of telephone service in Portland.

Horse Kicks Child in Face.

Pendleton—With her face and skull crushed in by the hoof of a horse she had attempted to pet, little 4-year-old Bessie Madden was brought to St. Anthony's hospital here from Hermiston Wednesday by her parents. An operation was performed and although the child's condition is dangerous hopes are held for her recovery. After trying vainly to have the horse lower its head the child walked around and pulled its tail.

Commercial Club to Reorganize.

Corvallis—The Corvallis Commercial club has started a campaign to reorganize under the plan adopted by the Portland Chamber of Commerce and Salem Commercial club. H. V. Chase, who reorganized the Portland and Salem clubs, is here to take charge.

NEVER AGAIN FOR HIM

MR. BURLISON DECLARES HIMSELF IN STRONG TERMS.

Good Reasons Why He Should Make Resolution Not to Bring the Sunday Dinner From the City— "Why, Henry!"

There was the look of a man with a troubled soul in the face of Mr. Henry Burlison when he reached his home one Saturday evening. The smiling face of his wife did not lessen the look of grim determination in the face of Burlison. A wife with far less intuition than Mrs. Burlison had would have discovered that something had gone wrong, and Mrs. Burlison asked, "Why, Henry, what has happened?"

Burlison stepped into the vestibule of his home and dropped the suit case he carried to the floor with a dull thud. His voice had an edge like a blade as he said:

"Something has happened that will never happen again if I live to be so old that Methuselah will seem like a kid when compared with me. This is the last time I save 15 cents by taking that suit case downtown with me on Saturday and bring home our Sunday dinner in it to save express charges—the very last time!"

"Why, Henry, what happened?" "Enough happened to make me tell you that I'll eat my Sunday dinner from an armchair restaurant with glittering white letters on the window announcing frankfurters and mashed potatoes for 10 cents before I'll do any Saturday marketing with a suit case."

"But you haven't told me what happened." "You would have seen what happened if you had been with me just as I reached the subway stairs. I s'pose I had forgot to push down the clasps that help to hold the suit case together, and the thing was so crammed full that it was too much for the self-locking arrangement, and the thing opened right at the top of the stairs."

"Why, Henry!" "You'd say 'Why, Henry!' if you had seen a six-pound Philadelphia capon traveling down those stairs, followed by three big yellow grapefruit and half a dozen apples!"

"A bunch of celery rolled down two or three steps, and a man racing down the stairs stepped on it and slipped, and he threatened to sue me for damages! You will find the print of a woman's boot heel on that pound of butter, and I left the dozen eggs I had bought on the subway stairs, for I would have needed a shovel to have scraped them up after they had rolled down six iron steps! One of the grapefruit rolled between the feet of an old lady going down the stairs, and she gave a yell like a maniac and called for the police! A grinning idiot caught up one of the grapefruit and flung it up toward me, and two other men pelted me with the apples!"

"Oh, Henry!" "I left half of my stuff in the subway, and the other half will taste bitter to me when I think of that gapping, grinning, giggling, uttering mob that saw me standing there with my empty and open suit case in my hand and all that stuff traveling down the subway stairs!"

"Why, Henry!"—Judge. "The bottle of maple syrup spread over six of the steps, and the people carried it home on the soles of their shoes; and the paper came off the soup bone I had bought, and I left it lying at the foot of the subway stairs. All is, this is the very last time you ever hear of me saving 15 cents in that way! My lacerated feelings are worth at least a quarter, and—"

"Oh, Henry!"

Men's Wrist Watch a Flivver. The wrist watch for men, at least, has been officially, if negatively, declared to be a "flivver." Even if the classiest looking men you've ever seen wear the time on his pulse, he hasn't the official sanction of the American National Retail Jewelers' association.

They closed their convention with the refusal to have anything to do with the bracelet timepiece. It was a fearful blow for the man who introduced the fad who has been extolling the virtues of the wrist watch, especially for the male sex. Neither the advocate of the whim nor anyone else proposed that with the sport shirt men might wear watches draped about their necks on a string or a chain. Neither was it intimated that men might carry their subway tickets and cigarettes in vanity cases.

Snake Successful Angler. That some snakes can catch fish as well as old anglers was demonstrated Sunday on the ranch of E. D. Osborne, near here.

A small spring creek runs through the pasture on the Osborne ranch, large enough for fish to play in. Here a large water snake was seen to grab a rainbow trout by the head and make for the tall grass.

Osborne killed the snake and threw the live fish back into the pool. The fish was about 12 inches in length. From the Humum (Washington) Dis patch.
