

To the Voters of Umatilla County

Pendleton, Oregon, Oct. 31, 1916.
To the Voters of Umatilla County:
In the persons of Lon Hodgen of Umatilla, and W. T. Reeves of Stanfield, the democratic party of the county has made a wise selection of candidates for the legislative ticket. Both men are as truly representative citizens as could be found in the length and breadth of the county to whom to delegate the duty and responsibility of representing Umatilla county in the state legislature.

Both are lifelong residents of the county, Mr. Hodgen having been born here and Mr. Reeves having lived here since infancy. Both have from boyhood followed the industry which is the backbone of the county. They are farmers and each has made a conspicuous success in this branch of life. Neither is classed as wealthy but both enjoy the prosperity that comes from improving the opportunities presented to them with hard-working mind and bodies. They are heavy taxpayers and as such appreciate the need of economy in the conduct of public business, and yet they are progressive and broad minded enough to realize that a big-gardly policy in government management is neither good sense nor good business. Their personal character is above reproach. In their home communities they enjoy the reputation of being clean, moral, honest citizens.

Mr. Hodgen is a pioneer of the east end of the county and for the past 22 years has been farming his own land there. For many years he has been closely identified with the school life of that section, having served as school director of the Umatilla district, and the high standard of that school is testimony of his progressive-ness. He has also served as a member of the Umatilla county fair board. Mr. Hodgen is a democrat but is making the race as an independent because he was not prevailed upon to become a candidate until too late to his as a party nominee.

Mr. Reeves is a member of one of the first families to settle in the west end of the county and has done his part to convert that section from a land of sagebrush into a garden spot. He was recently a delegate to the national assembly of the Presbyterian church, and, as evidence of progressive spirit and initiative, it might be said that he enjoys the distinction of being the man who conceived the movement which led thousands of school children of the state petitioning the government authorities to permit the old battleship Oregon to lead the first fleet through the Panama canal.

Messrs. Hodgen and Reeves have every qualification for safe, sane, conscientious legislators. Their life-long residence, their occupation, their success as business men, their knowledge of the conditions and needs of the state and county, their independence and their high moral personal character commend them to the voters of the county.

$1,000.00 Reward.
[In answer to the wild stories about my fortune, I will give a reward of one thousand dollars to anyone who will find me a buyer within sixty days at twenty thousand dollars ($20,000.00) cash for all the property, real and personal, that the whole Strain family owns above our debts excepting household effects. G. M. Rice, banker, of Pendleton, is authorized to receive the purchase price.

Further, the property which I had prior to my first election fourteen years ago, and the income derived therefrom and the investments of the same, I think constitute more than half of what I own now.

Further, that I have been instrumental in securing for the county, without violating any rule of justice, twenty dollars additional taxes from big corporations for each dollar ever paid me in salary; and the state at large has benefited in proportion to the county.

Further it has been my ambition for many years to devote my time to a just solution of the great economic problems of the times without money and without price, and will do so if I ever reach a position of sufficient financial independence.

MONEY STONES OF YAP.

Natives of the Island Do Not Carry Change in Their Pockets.

Propped up against the house of the native chief of Yap, which is one of the Caroline islands lying southeast of the Philippines, may be seen a row of "money stones," the current coin of the island. In shape these stones are like millstones, but they do no grinding. They serve simply as a parade of the wealth of the village. Their value lies solely in the difficulty with which they are obtained.

The yellowish granite of which they are made is found only in the island of Palao, 200 miles away, and when the monsoon favors forty or fifty natives voyage there in their canoes. After pacifying the king of Palao with presents of the work of hewing the wala-ka, or money stones, begins, lasting for months until the monsoon changes, when the toilers start homeward with their "coin."

The smallest of these stones is about a foot in diameter and three inches thick, with a round hole through its center. It will buy food for a family for a month. The large stones, about three feet in diameter and eight inches thick, have relatively much greater value, since it is more difficult to transport them in cranky canoes over such a long stretch of sea. Indemnities can be paid with such a stone or the aid of neutrals purchased in time of war.—William L. Cathart in St. Nicholas.

THE NUMBER NINE.

Easy to Multiply by It If You Will Remember This Rule.

Examine any one of the statements of equality in the multiplication table of nine, up to and including nine times ten. Select, for example, 9x7=63; or 9x2=18.

Observe that in each case the first digit in the product is one less than the number by which nine is multiplied, and the second digit in the product is such that when added to the first digit, the sum of the two is nine.

You may make practical use of this peculiarity of nine and its multiples by applying it in the following way:

If nine is to be multiplied by eight, for example, think at once of seven (which is one less than eight, the multiplier); then think of two, which must be added to seven to make nine, and you have seventy two, the product of nine and eight.

Or, if nine is to be multiplied by five think of four, which is one less than five; then think of five, which must be added to four to make nine, and you have forty-five, the product of nine and five.

By using this method the nines, usually among the hardest of the tables to fix in the memory, may, in a short time, be fairly classed with the fives and tens and elevens, which are said to "remember themselves."—Youth's Companion.

A High Priced Fricassee.

Lord Alvanley, a noted wit and high liver in England a hundred years or so ago, insisted on having an apple tart on his dinner table every day throughout the year. On one occasion he paid a caterer $1,000 for a luncheon put up in a basket that sufficed a small boating party going up the Thames. Being one of a dozen men dining together at a London club where each was required to produce his own dish, Alvanley's, as the most expensive, won him the advantage of being entertained free of cost. This benefit was gained at an expense of $540, that being the price of a simple fricassee composed entirely of the "nois," or small pieces at each side of the back, taken from thirteen kinds of birds, among them being 100 snipe, 40 woodcocks and 20 pheasants—all about 200 birds.

Official National Anthem.

Do you know the official national anthem, which is supposed to bring the patriot to his feet?
No doubt you think you do, even, as has been proved again and again, when more than two or three Americans are gathered together, that he one begins
