DECLARES WAR ON INDUSTRIAL WASTE

Uncle Sam Strives to Secure Adequate Use of Resources of Nation.

MANY PROBLEMS ARE SOLVED

Experts of Department of Agriculture Have Taken Lead in Campaign That is Being Waged by Government.

"To admit the existence of waste in agricultural products," said Secretary of Agriculture Houston in a recent address, "is to admit either an economic decadence or a lack of inventive genius."

In this sentence the secretary of agriculture summed up the reasons lying behind the great campaign now being waged by Uncle Sam—the war on waste.

In this great struggle for a proper and adequate use of all the resources of the nation, the department of agriculture is in the front rank, for it is here that a considerable number of valuable discoveries and inventions have been made within the past two years which will do much to increase the commercial output of the United States and to enable every industry to make the most of products which, in the past, were considered worthless.

The great majority of persons are familiar with the statement of the Chicago meat packer who boasted that his factories utilized "every part of the pig but the squeal." Possibly the time will come when government scientists, putting their minds seriously to the problem, will be able to suggest some economic use of this waste material.

Cider Makes Profit.

Consider, for example, the results of experiments in connection with concentrated cider, one of the most important of the department's investigations within the past year.

At one stroke, the government scientists gained a sweeping victory over the waste in apples, the high cost of cider producing, the charges for shipping the product, the waste in the deterioration of the cider and the cost of the product itself. As a result of Uncle Sam's work several cider mills in Washington and Oregon have commenced to manufacture concentrated cider.

The elimination of seeds from the majority of oranges has deprived Uncle Sam of the opportunity of doing any research work along this line, but there recently arose a considerable difficulty in connection with the handling of this fruit which the department of agriculture was able to solve and thus prevent another considerable source of waste.

It was found that a proportion of the Florida oranges, upon arrival in New York or other comparatively distant points, were practically worthless on account of numerous "bad spots" and rotten places on the skin. The consumer naturally declined to purchase fruit so marked and the loss to the shippers and retailers threatened to amount to millions of dollars. The government took the matter in hand, however, and found that the blemishes were due to lack of care in picking the oranges and that wherever the skin was damaged by the shears or even the fingers of the careless picker the rotten spots would appear in a short time.

Make $5,000,000 Living.

As a result, an order went forth that all orange pickers were to wear gloves and use only blunt-pointed shears, thus reducing the chances of blemishes to a minimum. At once the condition of the fruit improved and there has been no recurrence of this difficulty.

But the education of the farmer in the avoiding of waste is not confined only to the finished product or to its handling. The government is continually working out new ideas for:

- A more economic use of farm lands. The better rotation of crops.
- The use of more useful fertilizers.
- The introduction of new plants or animals which will utilize the waste spaces in different parts of the country.
- The keeping of farm records which will show the farmer where his land is wasting and where his land ought to be making the labor of housekeeping easier and less wasteful.
- Educating children in the raising of pigs, corn, etc.
- In short every foot of space and every ounce of product should be utilized to its fullest extent and absolutely nothing allowed to go to waste.

Another place in which Uncle Sam's ingenuity in connection with waste products came into play was in the suggestion made by the government that paper manufacturers, who have been complaining of the high price of print paper for the past two years, make use of broom corn, cereal stalks, "zacaton," a wild grass that grows in New Mexico and is now of no use at all, and "hemp hurds," a by-product which remains after the hemp is harvested.

In order practically to demonstrate the value of the zacaton and the hemp hurds for paper-making, the government published bulletins about these two products and their possibilities, utilizing paper manufactured from these sources for the purpose.

The government has declared war on waste in a deadly earnest, and Uncle Sam will not be satisfied until every particle of wasted time, labor and material is used for the benefit of the nation and the nation's people.

National Forest Improvements.

During the past fiscal year there were constructed in the national forests 227 miles of new road, 1,975 miles of trails, 2,124 miles of telephone line, 89 miles of fire lines, 81 lookout structures, 40 bridges, 222 miles of fence, 545 dwellings, barns and other structures, 17 corrals, and 202 water improvements.

Forest Fire Losses Heavy.

It is estimated that in 1915 about 10,000 forest fires occurred in the United States, which burned over about 5,900,000 acres and caused a damage of approximately $7,000,000.

Millions Go Astray

Vast Sum in Missives Reaching Dead Letter Office.

Uncle Sam Keeps Little of This Wealth, However, as Most of It is Restored to the Owners.

Uncle Sam found more than $2,500,000 worth of checks, drafts, money orders and other valuable papers in undelivered letters which reached the dead letter office during the last year, but he didn't get to keep much of it. Most of this wandering wealth was restored to its owners.

First Assistant Postmaster General Daniel C. Roper in his annual report announces that the dead letter division handled 10,889,890 letters and parcels during the year, a slight increase over the previous year. One-third of these letters and parcels, or 3,877,194, was delivered; 101,488 contained things of value without clue to their senders and were held for claimants; 7,010,430 had to be destroyed, and 41,775 were still being investigated.

In addition to the valuable papers, with a face value of $2,808,110, found in undeliverable letters, many contained stamps, and some currency was found loose in the mails. The stamps and currency unclaimed, together with proceeds from the sale of articles of merchandise removed from undelivered letters aggregated $58,965, and $11,000 was realized from six months' operation of a new postal regulation requiring collection of one cent on advertised letters, making the total net revenue $64,965. Mr. Roper says that the revenue estimated under the present conditions for a year would be approximately $75,000, which would make the dead letter division self-sustaining.

To prevent the unnecessary accumulation of letters containing valuable inclosures, a provision was contained in the last postal appropriation law reducing the limit of time that such letters shall be held awaiting reclamation from four years to two years.

On account of the large growth in the parcel post business, experience has demonstrated that the accumulation of this matter at the points designated for handling dead parcels has become so large as to make it difficult to find space for its accommodation. Regulations provide, in the case of insured parcels, that claims for indemnity must be filed within six months, and it has been found there is very little call for lost parcels after the lapse of that time. Accordingly, an order was issued amending the regulations so as to reduce the time for holding such parcels prior to sale from 12 months to 6 months. Last year, 985,121 parcels were found undeliverable.

Dead mail received by the division of dead letters, during the year contained 677,000 misdirected letters, 115,700 unaddressed letters, 228,700 letters held for postage, 440,200 letters written on hotel letter paper by persons unknown to the hotels and 104,700 letters bearing fictitious signatures.

"ANURIC!"

THE NEWEST DISCOVERY IN CHEMISTRY

This is a recent discovery of Doctor Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Experiments at Doctor Pierce's Hospital for several years proved that this can be compared to it. For those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation—as backache, scalding urine and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, it is simply wonderful how surely "Anuric" acts. The best results are always obtained in cases of acute rheumatism in the joints, in gravel and gout, and invariably the pains and stiffness which so frequently and persistently accompany the disease rapidly disappear.

Go to your nearest drug store and simply ask for a 50-cent package of "Anuric," manufactured by Dr. Pierce, or send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for a large trial package. If you suspect kidney or bladder trouble, send him a sample of your water and describe symptoms. Doctor Pierce's chemist will examine it, then Dr. Pierce will report to you, without fee or charge.

NOTE—French scientists affirm that "Anuric" is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid, and is a harmless but reliable chemical compound that may be safely given to children, but should be used only by grown-ups who actually wish to restore their kidneys to perfect health, by conscientiously using one box—or more in extreme cases—as "Anuric" (thanks to Doctor Pierce's achievement) is by far the most perfect kidney and bladder corrector obtainable.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the original Little Liver Pills. One little Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic.

STINGING NETTLE FOR CLOTH

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Making cloth out of the stinging nettle, as a substitute for cotton, is one of the latest achievements of the Germans, according to Uncle Sam's consul at Stuttgart.

Doctor Richter of Vienna, who was responsible for the efforts to utilize this fiber, is quoted as stating in the course of a lecture on the progress of his research that all the conditions for profitable production have been found, and that Germany and Austria, by means of a methodical cultivation of the nettle, could make themselves entirely independent of the cotton producers.

During 1915 and in the spring of 1916 experiments were made in the cultivation of the nettle in numerous districts along the Danube in Austria and Hungary, and all with splendid results. As a result of these experiments the question was taken up whether there was in Austria and Hungary a sufficient area of suitable soil which does not come into question for the cultivation of other crops.

Prof. Marchet has through thorough investigation established the fact that in the Niederwald in Austria there are 10,000,000 acres, splendidly adapted to the cultivation of the nettle, and which up to the present have not been utilized for any purpose.

According to Doctor Richter's estimates this is twice the area needed to produce sufficient nettle fiber to replace the cotton imports of both Germany and Austria-Hungary. Samples of cloth which were shown are considered by him as proof that fabrics can be produced from nettle fiber without any admixture of cotton, and that they can be used for any purpose for which pure cotton fabrics have heretofore been used.

DOMINICANS HAVE ADOPTED AMERICAN PASTIMES.

Pitching horseshoes bids fair to rival baseball among the natives of Santo Domingo, who have taken to this oldtime sport with wild enthusiasm, according to Uncle Sam's marines just returned from the island republic.

Horseshoe pitching is a daily habit, and the keenest rivalry exists among the leaders, who following the custom of Uncle Sam's proteges everywhere, take readily to all American games, introduced by the "soldiers of the sea."

Since the American occupation the Dominicans have developed many promising devotees to the national game, but the majority of the natives prefer the more leisurely pastime of making "dead fingers" beneath the palms to rounding the bases under a tropical sun.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR COMPOUND

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value their even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only the old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; and what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

"Mamma," said small Harry, "I'll bet my pony can beat you?"
"Why, what do you mean, dear?" asked the astonished mother.
"I mean in a race," replied the youngster. "I heard papa say that you could talk faster than a horse could trot."—Chicago News.

The Woman of It.
Mrs. Newedd—What do you find in that stupid old paper to interest you?
Newedd—I was just glancing at the money market.
Mrs. N.—Oh, do they have a money market? Are there ever any bargains?

WOMAN SAVED FROM A SERIOUS SURGICAL OPERATION.

Louisville, Ky.—"For four years I suffered from female troubles, headaches, and nervousness. I could not sleep, had no appetite and it hurt me to walk. If I tried to do any work, I would have to lie down before it was finished. The doctors said I would have to be operated on and I simply broke down. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the result is I feel like a new woman. I am well and strong, do all my own house work and have an eight pound baby girl. I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which every woman dreads."—Mrs. NELLIE FISHBACK, 1821 Christy Ave., Louisville, Ky.

Everyone naturally dreads the surgeon's knife. Sometimes nothing else will do, but many times Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved the patient and made an operation unnecessary.
