Their inroads upon food products occur in freight departments of railroads and steamboat lines, stor-age places of grain and food dealers, wholesale drug nmission houses, houses, candy shops, bakeries, flour mills, cold-storage houses, city and country dwellings, granaries, fields and poultry yards. The loss of food and other products in the United States from this source amounts to not less than $200,000,000 annually, which amount does not include indirect losses occasioned by human disease disseminated by rats and the necessary expenditures in combating them.

and progressing finely. Had a grand ride Saturday morning. It rained hard and the muddy for landing very much, so my instructor and I went up for a joy ride. We started climbing right up and were soon up 1500 feet. It was starting to cloud up and at 1700 feet l drove through a few clouds and at 2000 feet two or three more. That put us in between two layers of clouds and soon the lower layer gathered thick enough so that we couldn't see the ground at all. We climbed on up the ground at all. We childed on up to 5000 feet, and I got a sight that was absolutely wonderful. Below and above us were clouds and the ones be-low were beautiful. They were those fleecy white clouds you see so often. As the wind whipped them back and forth, they resembled the ocean. The ship ran so smoothly that I turned loose of the controls and let the ship fly alone. For ten minutes it went just as true as could be and never quivered. I looked at it and wondered what was keeping us up there and climbing steadily. "I was thankful for the opportunity to enjoy such a privilege. I wish you folks could have such an opportunity yourselves, as you would not wonder that I am in this branch. "Cadet M. B. Hill, Payne Field, Miss." Stampede Visitors Return. Recovering from pneumonis in the hospital at Camp Lewis, Ray Zerba has suffered an attack of measles. A telegram received by relatives here last Friday stated that the boy was in a critical condition and Miss Edna Zerba, his sister, left at once for the military camp. Since her arrival there the young man has improved and is now reported to be out of danger,

Honey of the Bible.

It is interesting to note that the wild honey named in the Bible may not have been altogether the stores packed away by the bee in the hollows of trees and between the rocks, There is a clear, sweet liquid called honey dew found frequently on leaves and comes from the aphids, the tiny "cows" cared for and "milked" by the ants for their saccharine substance. There was so much of it on the leaves of the trees in oriental climes that it dripped down in considerable quantities to the ground. This must have been the kind named in the book of Samuel where it says: "And all they of the land came to a wood and there was honey upon the ground. And when the people were come into the wood behold the honey dropped."

History of the Sword.

The sword came from ancient Egypt and was used through Palestine, Syria and Asia Minor, India and throughout the western world. It was in Egypt that the three shapes of the sword blade originated, these being the straight, the curved and the half curved. The Roman sword was larger than that of the Greeks and in the days of the empire many of the sheaths were so covered with precious stones as to be veritable art treasures. Among the Moslems the highest title given to a warrier of renown is "the sword of Allah." The Chinese made swords of iron as early as 1879 B. C.
