Famous Old Inn Gone.
The city of Augsburg has seen the last of that famous inn, "Drei Mohren," or preferably, in sonorous French, "Hotel des Trois Maires." The Bavarian revolution has demolished it with the famous room and fireplace in which the financier Puggier, to save his life, lit a fire with all those "I. O. U.'s," awkward reminders of a monarch's indebtedness. It was in this hostelry, too, that Marie Antoinette put up on her way to France to become the wife of the dauphin. Over the lintel of the "Trois Maires" were carved the lilies of France in commemoration of the event. Now the inn and the lilies have disappeared in another such cataclysm as swept Marie Antoinette to the guillotine, some hundred and twenty-odd years ago.
