"Over The Hill"

Yesterday was Weston's turn for entertainment at the hands of the Pendleton Commercial club, and E. M. Smith, Nelson H. Jones, S. A. Barnes, L. B. Davis and F. G. Lucas went down to enjoy a fine luncheon and a truly enjoyable and fruitful occasion. Brief addresses were made by Messrs. Barnes, Jones and Smith. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stanfield returned Monday evening from a month's stay at Oregon City, where Mrs. Stanfield has been under treatment for cancer. Her condition is said to encourage the hope of an early and permanent recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton O'Harra, Mrs. Albert O'Harra and M. W. Pedersen represented Weston on a motoring tour of the poultry farms of the Walla Walla valley, organized and headed by the Walla Walla county agent. They report a most enjoyable and interesting trip.

A long string of cars will go from Umatilla county to Eugene for the occasion of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows May 22-26. These will be joined by other cars from other counties along the route, making a modern caravan. Weston will be represented by the automobiles of S.

A. Barnes and J. A. King, who will be accompanied by Jack Calder, the third delegate from the local lodge. The Rebekah delegates-elect are Mrs. J. A. King and Mrs. J. E. Stanfield.

Weston defeated Umapine last Sunday on the Umapine grounds in a free-hitting baseball game by the score of 11 to 8. Captain Fuson's bunch won out in a ninth-inning rally which wound up an interesting contest. McPherrin caught for Weston. Two-base hits were made for Weston by Kretzer, Beamer, Fuson and O'Harra and three-base hits by Lieualen and Hall. Simpson and Payant twirled for Weston. The locals play Pilot Rock on the home grounds next Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

J. L. York, young Dry creek farmer, finished his plowing Friday and thinks he did a fairly swift job. He plowed 175 acres in 19 days with a three-bottom gang and 12 horses. Levi O'Harra was brought home Saturday from the Walla Walla hospital, and is reported to be gaining in strength.

EAST END FRUIT LOSS HEAVY

Estimates of damage to fruits and vegetables in the Walla Walla valley caused by frost last night vary widely. John W. Langdon, manager of the Baker-Langdon orchard at Walla Walla, a big commercial plant, estimated that 20 per cent of the apples were killed Monday night. Langdon said that from statements made by other growers he believed prunes and cherries are nearly a total loss. C. B. Aukr, head of the Walla Walla Gardeners' association, said that the early vegetables are hard hit. This includes asparagus and tomatoes. Strawberries are also badly damaged. Harold Lamb of the Lamb Fruit company at Milton said that prunes are 50 per cent killed. John Wiley, district horticulturist, said that in some sections the frost was a benefit, thinning the fruit on the trees. The frost seemed to operate in streaks, some trees totally escaping damage, while others were badly hit.

Many orchardists resorted to smudging, the fires being kept going all night. It was estimated 7000 gallons of crude oil were burned. In some orchards where smudging was used, tops of trees were hit, while the blossoms nearest the ground were saved. It will be several weeks before the total damage is known, orchardists said. Temperature ranged from 19 at State Line to 32 at the weather bureau.

WOOL EXTREME PRICE

Sales of wool continue in small lots at interior points at extreme prices. More business is available, but the stocks of fleece now offering are rather limited, with most of the big lots already cleaned up. Sales continue in the main from 30 to 33c a pound with occasional business at 34 to 35c a pound for the finer clips.

Thirty cents appears to be the low point at this time for anything in the fleece market that is of average quality. Little selling of Walla Walla valley fleece has been shown to date this season because buyers have been so busily engaged in grabbing east of the mountain stuff that they have neglected the market. Then again the bulk of the Walla Walla valley stock appears to be tied up by organizations which are not yet offering generally.

Judge R. J. Kitchen Lays Political Facts Bare.

Municipal Judge R. J. Kitchen, of La Grande, Oregon, has entered the race for Joint Senator on the Republican ticket, of Union, Umatilla and Morrow Counties. Gives facts regarding "Faithful Fourteen"—Asks farmers and business men for nomination at May 19th primaries.

His opponent in Union county, Senator C. R. Eberhard, is a member of the Senate from said district and in the last regular session was a member of the Ways and Means Committee. Judge Kitchen differs with Senator Eberhard relative to state and public affairs and he desires it to be understood that all statements herein made are relative to Mr. Eberhard's official career and in no wise are meant or intended in a personal manner. Some of the numerous and exorbitant appropriations of that session are as follows:

Armories in certain cities	$115,500.00
Artisan well investigation	10,000.00
Blind institutions	59,550.00
Board of control	57,050.00

University of Oregon millage tax, estimated	1,695,080.74
Roads and Highways, millage tax, estimated	2,081,679.00

Making a total with millage tax of over $15,175,931.78

NOTICE — $7,260,890.00 appropriations, $368,663.00 more than budget, $2,188,856.00 more than 1919-20.

SENATOR EBERHARD voted for the raise of more than 120 salaries of State and County Officers at the regular session of the Legislature, 1921, of which Judge Kitchen does not approve.

SEE SENATE BILLS AS FOLLOWS: 94, 107, 112, 134, 141, 153, 154, 156, 157, 158, 179, 281, 283, 311, 330, 339, 342, 343, 366, 368, 377, 378, 379.
SEE HOUSE BILLS AS FOLLOWS: 68, 115, 117, 124, 195, 196, 198, 201, 217, 218, 220, 231, 262, 268, 286, 288, 322.

FAITHFUL FOURTEEN

The Senator is proclaiming the fact over this Senatorial District that he was one of the "Faithful Fourteen" in the special session called by the Governor just before last Christmas. The facts are as follows: At the special session there were three companion measures to pass regarding the support of the World's Fair to be held at Portland in 1925, one to pass a law regarding gasoline tax; one to bond the state, and the third to call a special election to vote on the question as to whether or not we would have the fair. Mr. Eberhard voted "Yes" to call the special election to have the fair and every other member of the fourteen senators voted no. Was he one of the "Faithful Fourteen," or was he not? We don't think so.

See Journal of Senate and House of the 31st Legislative Assembly, special session, page 66—H. B. 31—Korell—PROVIDING FOR SPECIAL ELECTION (Portland fair). On passage, vote was:
Yes, 16—Banks, EBERHARD, Eddy, Edwards, Farrell, Gill, Hare, Joseph, Moser, Nicklessen, Norblad, Patterson Porter, Ryan, Staples, Vinton.
Nays, 13—Bell, Dennis, Ellis, Hall, Jones, Lachmund La Follett, Robertson, Smith, Strayer, Thomas, Upton, Mr. President.

Demands Reduction in Taxes.
If nominated and elected Mr. Kitchen will favor the reduction of taxes by all taxing bodies, no more bonds issued until a method is devised for paying those already authorized. Cut over-lapping commissions, apply strict economy in expenditure of all public funds same as in private affairs, not affecting our efficiency.

Fewer Offices Advocated.
Mr. Kitchen advocates fewer offices and the raise of no salaries and placing Governor's salary back where it was before the 50 per cent raise. He stands for the organized farmer and laborer and the cutting out of all frills in education and the giving of preference to ex-service men on public work.

Cut Out Extravagance.
He advocates change in auto tax law so owner will pay on value and not weight of machine; let holder of note secured by mortgage on real estate pay taxes on it and not mortgagee pay double taxation; cut out all unnecessary appropriations and stand for poll or income tax so taxation on real property will be more fair and uniform. "Cut out extravagance. Reduce taxes—no; just talk about it."

Kitchen is Out to Win.
He is not in this race to divide the votes between any other candidates but to be nominated himself and the voters of the 19th Senatorial District should support him.
