ATHENA, OREGON, JUNE 30 1922

It is seldom that our hard-headed—not to say hard-boiled—farmers will admit that a college education is of much value on a farm. And yet these remarks from Dean Coffee of the University of Minnesota Agricultural College are worth while for them to mull over: "Where a few years ago agriculture was largely an affair of pioneering, of clearing the land and taming the wilderness, it is now a matter of crop rotation, soil conservation and extended marketing. Men of high-school education on these farms earned about five hundred dollars yearly; those with some college training made about six hundred dollars annually; but those with a complete college training had an average yearly income of more than three thousand dollars."

We understand there'll now be a United States of China patterned after the United States of America. Before the Chinese take our congress as a model, we hasten to warn them that it isn't a model congress.

Senator Walsh charges that the new tariff will add nearly four hundred millions to the nation's annual food bill by its duties on meats alone. "God bless the Grand Old Party!" is one thing the woman voter will never say when she buys a piece of steak.

"William Wrigley Jr. made net profits of over four million dollars in gum last year and says it was all due to advertising. That's something for the non-advertiser to chew awhile," remarks the Eugene Guard.

Republican tariff makers will do well to protect the shingle industry, since they are likely to need a roof over their heads to protect themselves from the threatened storm of popular disapproval.

Polk county is running true to form in gumming up the state road program. Crabbed old Polk usually supplies the stickers that block the path of progress.

Thus saith the Chicago Daily Journal: "All the tambourine-playing spooks are doubtless from heaven. The other kind would play a saxophone."

It's too much for our well known board to expect that it can make as much money in the liquor business as it loses in the shipping business.

Cheer up! What some of us here in the United States are disposed to regard as adversity Europe would be glad to share.

It would seem superfluous for the Irish rebels to take the offensive, when they are so much that way anyhow.

With the king's reign in Ireland succeeded by a rain of bullets, the dove of peace has sought a safer refuge.

As the Asheville Times sees it, "the price of wheat is down, but they are not saying it with flour."

As to the "sea change," it evidently comes in handy at the bar of a United States liner.

With fierce fighting again in progress, the Irish situation is normal.

Speaking of miracles, Portland has finally won a ball game.

News reports with regard to the marital plans of Magnate McCormick, who lately underwent a glandular operation, would indicate that his nerve needs no fixin'.

There is a much stronger probability that Hearst wants to be governor of New York than that New York wants Hearst to be its governor.

In a recent sensible bit of moralizing The Oregonian reprints the following scriptural lore: "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that ruleth a city." This is so true, and so often has such a striking application, that it should be reproduced again and again in the public press, that it may be drilled into the consciousness of the people.

Trouble with compulsory voting is that voters so "compulsed" would never be of the sort that makes for enlightened citizenship.

Does congress expect some other power to "scrap" our navy, in proposing to grant it nearly three hundred million dollars?

We suppose the 120-pound groom who married a 500-pound bride at Bellingham found a happy weigh out of bachelordom.

We are not going to be so brutal as to say that the founder of the republican party died of remorse.

For one, we are willing to give Bolshevik Russia credit for not deserting any.

Just now we're wondering why Germany ever wanted a place in the sun.

OREGON NEWS NOTES

The general upward trend in the lumber business of the Pacific Coast has already resulted in the boosting of the price of box shooks from 13 to 15 cents each.

Crater Lake hotel has changed hands. A. L. Parkhurst has sold his interest in the concession without reservation, to the Crater Lake National Park company.

George A. White, adjutant general of Oregon, was promoted from colonel to brigadier general in the national guard at Camp Lewis, according to advices received from camp.

Two hundred members of the Knight of Pythias lodges of Central Oregon attended the degree work staged on the top of Pilot Butte in Bend, the first outdoor initiation held in Central Oregon.

Forty-six work horses were burned to death in the stables of James Lyons, a Portland contractor, 222 Union avenue, Friday night in a blaze that did comparatively little damage otherwise.

Alleged failure to enforce prohibition laws, and general inefficiency on the part of Ole Nelson, sheriff of Clatsop county, are said to be the basis of petitions asking a special election to recall the sheriff.

Tom Christensen, 38, prominent farmer and stockman, was instantly killed at Haines when a hay derrick he was moving came in contact with a high voltage line of the Western Oregon Light & Power company.

Otis Patterson has resigned as one of the board of appraisers for Grant county, representing the world war veterans' state aid commission for Oregon. E. B. Moore of John Day has been recommended as his successor.

J. C. Stevens, engineer for the Klamath Drainage district, filed with the state engineer tentative plans by which the district expects to issue bonds in the sum of $20,000 and to develop approximately 27,000 acres of land.
