HARVEST NOTES
 O. G. Reeves came up from Corvallis Saturday to begin his seventh consecutive year as separator man for M. W. Hansell's big threshing outfit. Mr. Hansell expects to begin harvesting next week.

Richard Thompson will start his machine in grain near Cayuse, where crops are reported to be fairly good.

A. H. McIntyre started threshing in one of his wheat fields, northwest in one of his wheat fields, northwest of Athena, Wednesday. By the time this field is finished he expects others to be ripe enough to continue work.

Watts Bros. will have their big outfit running true to form in good wheat, next week.

Frank Curl and Cecil Curl commenced threshing Wednesday on land south of Adams. The Curls find the hot weather damaged thick grain that had been sown late last fall.
